French Government Sends Them to Aid Benefit Bazar.

New York, May 11.—Word has been received from the French government that it will send to this city for exhibition more than a thousand relics of the battlefields of Verdun, especially of the Dead Man's hill fights. The exhibit will be shown at the bazar for the benefit of the entente allies to be held here June 3 to 14. The Marquis de Polignac will bring over the exhibit as a representative of the French government. In the display will be the aeroplane in which Peugeot, the famous French aviator, was shot down by German fliers.

Clarence Anderson, 328 East Lewis street, has been accepted for service in the United States navy at the local recruiting station.

Had Been Working Town on a Punch-Board Lottery Enterprise.

Dan Lane, William Verges and William Rieger, three well-dressed young men who have been operating a punch-board lottery enterprise in Fort Wayne for two or three weeks and stopping at first-class hotels, were found guilty in the city court, Thursday morning, on charges of loitering and each was fined $10 and costs. They were arrested in a downtown morning picture show, Wednesday night, by Detective Sergeants Walter Inman, M. A. Russell and Joseph P. Brennan. The men state they have been working the punch-board game here to dispose of safety razors, which are the prizes in the lottery and represent the Gillette Safety Razor Distributing company, of 2222 Wabash avenue, Chicago. Lane admitted in court that the "company" consisted of himself and that he merely had desk-room at the Chicago address. It was stated by the men that they had disposed of but two razors in Fort Wayne and that they were just on the point of settling their accounts in Fort Wayne preparatory to leaving when they were arrested. Several short-change jobs have been pulled at movie theaters within the past few days and there has been some shop-lifting in the ten-cent stores. In all cases the appearance of well-dressed young men has been noted about the places where these jobs were committed. The arrest of Lane, Verges and Rieger was the inauguration of a purpose of Chief of Police Charles Lenz to keep a close tab on all suspicious characters until after the centennial celebration next month, an influx of pickpockets, burglars and short-change men being looked for.

BALFOUR'S PLAN
AROUSES CRITICS

Proposal to Redistribute
British Fleet Stirs
Naval Experts.

London, May 11.—The naval correspondent of the Times in an article in today's issue criticizes the recent announcement of First Lord Admiralty Arthur J. Balfour that the British fleet was to be redistributed to prevent coast raids by the Germans.

"Mr. Balfour's statement," the correspondent says, "is disquieting to students of naval warfare because the first lord appears to foreshadow a reversal of that policy of offensive defense which we have successfully followed since the fourteenth century."

"The object of the Germans in making these raids is to bring about a redistribution of our naval forces to their own advantage. After the attack on Hartlepool the admiralty stated that such raids must not be allowed to modify the general naval policy. This was sound sense. But now Mr. Balfour suddenly announces that alterations are being made in the distribution of our naval forces."

"The alterations are as follows: First, important naval forces are being brought southward; second, submarines and monitors are to be used for coast defense. The forces brought southward will presumably be based on some port not hitherto used for that purpose, but the Germans will soon ascertain both the composition of the forces and the harbor where they are stationed. Then, as the Germans use only vessels of the highest speed for these raids, any force set aside to deal therewith must have a similar quality as well as a preponderance in gun power."

"The weakness of this strategic change lies in the substitution of squadrons in fixed positions on our own coast for periodical sweeps which we have been told the battlefleet is in the habit of making through the length and breadth of the North sea."

"As for submarines these have never proved their ability to torpedo boats going at full speed and raiders are likely to have little difficulty in avoiding their attacks. The proposal to use monitors is the most disturbing feature of the whole scheme. These slow and unwieldy machines, may, as fixed floating forts, act as a bait to the enemy, but it can hardly be proposed to station them in such numbers as to afford complete coast protection. To employ them for defense instead of offense is directly contrary to all approved notions of British strategy."

Newton D. Baker, the new secretary of war, was once a student under President Wilson when the latter was an instructor at Johns Hopkins university.

STAGE LADY TAKES POISON.

There is believed to be no doubt of the recovery of Doris Dorgan, a pretty young actress, who came here a few days ago from Chicago to take an engagement, and swallowed a part of a bi-chloride of mercury tablet at her hotel about 9:30 Wednesday evening, in an attempt to die. She was taken to St. Joseph hospital in an ambulance and was there attended by Dr. J. H. Hoster. The girl, who is but 19 years old, had become despondent. She made vigorous resistance when attempts were made at the hotel to administer relief.

NO TRACE OF PICKPOCKETS.

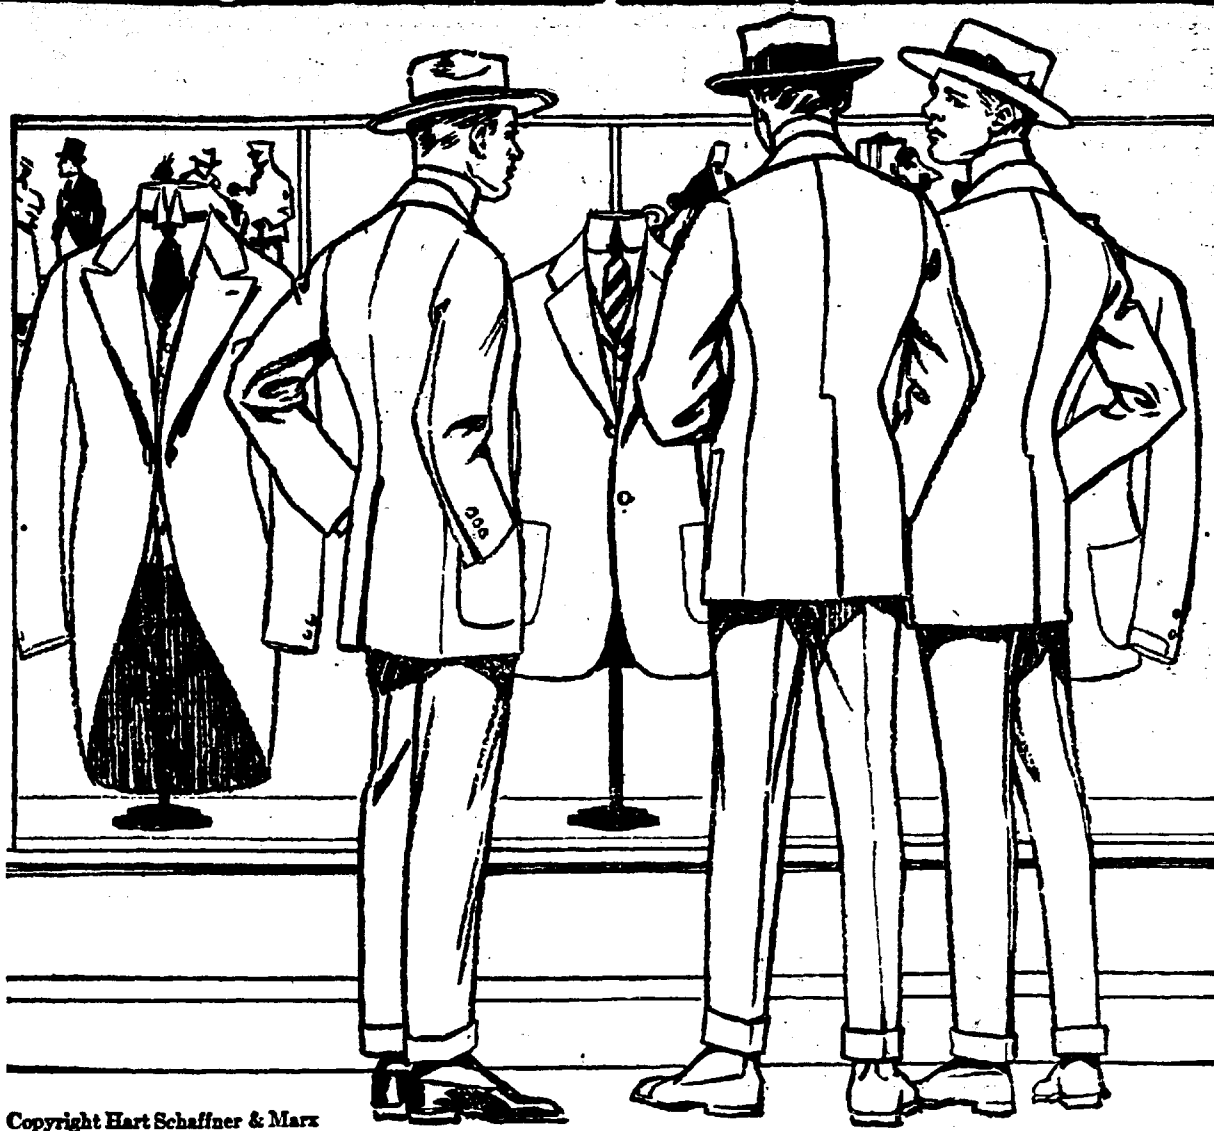

The police have obtained no trace of the pickpockets who rushed G. Max Hoffmann, at the Wabash railway station Tuesday and stole from him a pocketbook containing $30 cash and some checks and other papers. Payment on the checks has been stopped. Descriptions of the men believed to have performed the job have been given the police. The men were well dressed, flashy-looking young fellows.

Co-Operation for Improved
Industrial Conditions
Urged in Report.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., May 11.—Co-operation by Methodists in efforts designed to obtain improved industrial conditions was recommended in a report submitted to the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church by the church federation for social service today. The report asks that the conference approve plans for aiding in procuring a "living wage" for workers, trade agreements, co-operative ownership and similar measures.

The report also urged that churches be used for social purposes and approved the development of parks, playgrounds and community centers. Reform in prison administration was advocated and the report asserted there was at present an opportunity for the church to use its influence in aiding officials to inaugurate plans for reform rather than punishment in penal institutions.

"Collective bargaining" as a means for employes to obtain better working conditions was approved by the report.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

ROANOKE WOMAN WEDS FOURTH

Mrs. Marietta Keefe, 70, Married to Fort Wayne Man of 59.

Huntington, Ind., May 11.—Mrs. Marietta Keefe, 70 years old, a well known resident of Roanoke, has just made her fourth venture into matrimony. The groom is Charles M. Bledsoe, 59 years old, assistant manager of the Singer Sewing machine company in Fort Wayne. All of Mrs. Keefe's husbands are dead. Mr. Bledsoe was also married once before, his wife having died. The license was issued by the county clerk in Huntington, but it could not be learned where the couple were married. They could not be located at the bride's home in Roanoke. A marriage license was issued to Andrew Delaney, 51 years old, a blacksmith helper of Huntington, and Caroline Van Dolson, 49 years old, of Huntington. The bride was married once before, being divorced.

ARE LOOKING FOR DOLPH.

Richmond, Ind., May 11.—Commercial club officials are again at a loss to account for the delay on the part of Fred A. Dolph in not reporting to the committee the progress being made in the negotiations relative to the proposed traction line north. E. M. Haas, secretary of the Commercial club, said yesterday that no word has been heard from Dolph for over a week, when he promised to meet with the local committee the first part of last week. He did not show up at that time and no word has been heard since. Information was received yesterday that the Fort Wayne and Springfield traction line, which was a section of the proposed merger, has been sold to Henry C. Paul, of Fort Wayne.

RELICS FROM OLD COURT HOUSE

Portland, Ind., May 11.—The red glass in the windows of the court house, now being razed, has been presented to the four schools of the city and the public library by W. D. Yount. The few remaining panes of red glass is the only original glass left in the building, erected in 1870. It was transported here from France at the time the building was erected. The city has purchased the old town clock at $25, and the stone arch at the main entrance is offered to the hospital building committee or any other public institution that will accept it, to be used for an entrance to the grounds of a public place, the idea being

WANTS FIRE INVESTIGATED

Hartford City, May 11.—The city clerk has sent word to the state fire marshal asking that he or one of his assistants come to Hartford City, as soon as possible, to make a canvass of the city, in the hope of preventing many small fires which have caused considerable expense to the city. This action was taken upon request of the fire department. There have been several fires caused by defective flues in the past several months and these are considered preventable. It is expected that the fire marshal's office will take action soon. One instance where there have been a number of fires in the past few months is at the Arthur Croy home, in Mill street, owned by Mrs. Irene Kinsley.

AUBURN H. S. GRADUATES.

Auburn, Ind., May 11.—If every member of the senior class of the Auburn high school this year completes his or her work successfully there will be twenty-four graduates from the high school on the night of Wednesday, May 24. Members of the senior class this year are: Helen Baxter, Harry Altieri, Eugene Berry, Floyd Batdorf, Lucile Buehler, Robert Brown, Cleota Carmer, Wayne Clark, Ruth Chaney, Argyl Houser, Lillian Kratzer, Don Loehner, Bernice Lawhead, John McIntyre, Hilda Metcalf, Basil Rogers, Mamie Noiret, Van Showers, Hazel Nugen, Charles R. Thornburg, Lucile Shugers, Howard Wimer, Irene Swarts and Marion Thrush.

CHILD DRINKS RED SEAL LYE.

Columbia City, Ind., May 11.—Margaret McCoy, the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCoy, residing southeast of the Cornplan church in Union township, took a quantity of Red Seal lye while visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Albert Blue, of this city, and her condition was serious for a period of an hour. The child had been brought to this city by her parents in the morning and they were intending to return to the city in the evening and take her home. Mrs. Blue, who was doing some washing and was using Red Seal lye, paid no attention to the child as she played on the floor near the washing machine, and it was during this time that the child got hold of the lye.

WEDDED BLISS WAS BRIEF.

Auburn, Ind., May 11.—Mrs. Cora Darnell, who resides with her mother, Mrs. Baker, on South Main street, Auburn, filed a complaint with the clerk of the court Wednesday in which she asks for a divorce from her husband, Russell J. Darnell. The couple were married March 3, 1914, and a few days after the ceremony Darnell started for Akron, Ohio, to find employment, and from that time to the present he has not lived with her and has wholly failed to provide for her. On account of his desertion and failure to support her she is asking the court to give her a legal separation.

Y. W. C. A. MOVEMENT STARTED

Huntington, Ind., May 11.—A meeting of young women of Huntington above high school age was held in the assembly room of the court house, Tuesday evening, for the purpose of effecting a permanent organization of the Y. W. C. A. The move was started by Mrs. McCoombe, who was in Huntington with the Honeywell evangelistic party, and she intended to remain in Huntington long enough to help form the organization. She was forced to leave, however, and others took charge of the meeting. The idea of forming the organization is to keep alive the spirit started by the Honeywell meetings, and keep up the work.

DEATH OF ALBION MERCHANT.

Albion, Ind., May 11.—Funeral services will be held here this afternoon for Jackson D. Black, who at his death was the oldest surviving business man of this place. He was aged 75 years, was born here and had all his life resided here. He was a son of the late Owen Black, one of the county's earliest business men, who was widely known as a building contractor. J. D. Black engaged in the dry goods business with his father when but a mere youth and had been continuously in that trade since. He is survived by widow and two sons—Albert and Harry. He had been ill for a long time with Bright's disease.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN.

Columbia City, Ind., May 11.—Ex-County Commissioner Hamer Irwin, of Fena township, lost his big barn by fire and his loss will range from $1,500 to $2,500, partially covered with insurance. Everything that was in the barn was lost and the flames had made such headway before they were discovered that not so much as a set of harness could be saved from the burning building. The fire is supposed to have resulted from the burning of some rattle huts. There was a small pile of them about a hundred and fifty feet or more from the barn, which Mr. Irwin lighted towards evening.

A NOTARY FOR 36 YEARS.

Bluffton, Ind., May 11.—John S. Krevson was in Bluffton from Ossian Wednesday and the purpose of his trip was to visit the office of County Clerk Herman Lesh to have his commission as a notary public renewed. The renewal extends his notarial commission four years, until May 10, 1920, and with the expiration of this commission Mr. Krevson will have been a notary continuously for a period of thirty-six years. His first commission was taken out in 1884 and since that time he has kept his commission continuously effective by successive renewals.

WOMAN INJURED BY A FALL.

Columbia City, Ind., May 11.—Mrs. John Heinbaugh, of Columbia township, took a fall that will confine her to her bed for several weeks to come. Three ribs were fractured, her arms and shoulders bruised and she was slightly injured other ways. Mrs. Heinbaugh heard the family dog barking and making a fuss in the yard. She arose from her bed to investigate and in the darkness stepped backward into the stairway, falling to the bottom.

LAGRANGE SETTLER PASSES

Lagrange, Ind., May 11.—Mrs. Reta Outkett Wiggins died at the home of her son, Jud, on HavPatch avenue, after intense suffering from cancer on her throat. Mrs. Wiggins came from Ohio and Lagrange county has been her home for many years. Seven years ago she moved from the farm near Woodruff with her son and wife to Lagrange and won a large circle of friends who mourn her departure with the family. The funeral was held from the house, Wednesday afternoon, at 2:30.

WILL HAVE STATE EXHIBIT

Van Wert, Ohio, May 11.—That the exhibit of the Ohio State Agricultural Experiment station will be in Van Wert during the entire fair week, was the word received by Secretary Walborn of the fair board. The exhibit is a large one and includes the results of a number of experiments carried on by the state experiment station. A large tent is used for the exhibit and two or three men travel with it to explain the many features to all who are interested.

SHEEP SLAIN BY LIGHTNING.

Warsaw, Ind., May 11.—Nicholas Leifer, a farmer residing east of this city, lost sixteen sheep and had several injured in the electrical storm which passed over this city. The sheep had taken shelter under a large tree, which was later struck by lightning. Mr. Leifer's loss is covered by insurance, carried in the Farmers' Mutual company.

CELEBRATE GIRL'S VICTORY.

Van Wert, Ohio, May 11.—The students of Van Wert high school, headed by the school band in gay costume, paraded the streets in the business district and held a great bonfire in honor of Miss Meriam Young, their representative, who won first honors at the Northwestern Ohio Oratorical association in Ada.

FORMER CITIZEN DEAD

Hartford City, Ind., May 11.—Word was received in this city of the death of George Graves, aged about 75 years, who formerly resided in this city. His death occurred at Fort Recovery, where Mr. Graves had been residing since leaving this city. The funeral was held Wednesday and a number of Hartford City relatives were in attendance.

KING'S DAUGHTERS OPEN CONVENTION

International Gathering at Burlington Will Be a Notable One.

Burlington, Ia., May 11.—Delegates and visitors from all sections of the United States and Canada assembled here today for the opening session of the third biennial convention of the International Order of Kings Daughters and Sons. The convention will continue through May 15.

Mrs. Anthony H. Evans, president of the organization, who was to preside at all meetings of the order declared that reports of officers would indicate at most prosperity and successful endeavor on the part of the members since the close of the last convention two years ago.

Today's session of the convention was merely perfunctory. It included a meeting of members of the central council, made up of members from New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, California, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Missouri, Michigan, Mississippi, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Texas, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Montreal, New Brunswick, Ontario, British Columbia and Prince Edward Island, and the registration of delegates.

Friday's session of the convention was to include the reports of officers and of the resolutions committee and the committee on announcements.

The formal ballot for the officers and central council for all the coming two years will be taken Saturday, but aside from this the convention session will be chiefly social.

The final reports of committees and action thereon will be taken Monday morning and the announcement of the ballot taken Saturday will be made. The convention will close Monday night.

Included in the list of speakers at the various sessions are the following: Mrs. Anthony H. Evans, of New York, president of the order; Mrs. M. M. Williamson, of West Virginia; Dr. Effie McCollum Jones, of Waterloo, Ia.; Mrs. C. A. Bishop, of Michigan; Mrs. J. D. Stuart, of Kentucky; Mrs. S. P. Christian, of West Virginia; Mrs. Emma Glazebrook, of Missouri; Mrs. Jennie C. Rendick, of Kentucky; Mrs. Robert McLaurin, Mississippi; Mrs. Sarah Gagle, Ohio; Mrs. M. S. Savage, Ontario; Mrs. Margaret Hardinge, Illinois; Mrs. Elizabeth Harvey Whitmore, Tonawaka, Kas.; Miss Abbie Fiskem, New Hampshire; Mrs. M. C. Cronin, Michigan, and Dr. Herbert L. Willett, of the University of Chicago.

ANTWERP NEWS.

Antwerp, Ohio, May 11.—The marriage of Miss Hazel Oswald is announced, the groom being Ed Dochterman, of Fort Wayne, Ind. The marriage took place at Paulding, and was solemnized by Rev. Lane, of the Presbyterian church of that place. The bride is a popular member of the younger set here.

The Senior class play has been postponed until Tuesday evening, May 16. Word has been received here by relatives announcing that Mrs. Ralph Lacy, of Columbus, O., is an inmate of Grant hospital, that city, to which place she was taken, where she underwent a serious and painful operation. W. F. Fleck, father of Mrs. Lacy, received word from her husband Monday that she withstood the operation and was doing finely, and was expected to recover her normal health soon.

W. J. Graves has gone for a trip into Michigan, his objective point being Adrian, at which place he will sojourn for a few days.

A. A. Pointer, proprietor of the Antwerp Electric light plant, now a resident of Fort Wayne, was a visitor here several days this week attending to business matters in connection with the sale of some of his village property.

N. G. Osborn, former editor of the Antwerp Bee-Argus, we learn, has gone to Helgate, O. where he has assumed the management of a newspaper. An edict has been rendered, so we are informed, whereby the pig is relegated to the background by our authorities. No one is to be allowed to keep a prospective "smoked bacon" within the limits of the village between the 1st of April and the 1st of November of every year.

The pupils of the rural schools will participate in a track meet at the Fair Grounds, at Paulding, Saturday, May 13. The athletes of the different schools will then have a chance to show their skill in a number of events. At the same time and place the high school athletes will present a program of events which will be participated in by all the high schools in the county, and Antwerp high expects to be in on a number of winning numbers.

Thos. Carr, wife and baby, Maxine, of Barborton, O., were visitors here a few days this week, the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Smith and family.

Thursday, while wife and little daughter will remain for a couple of weeks' further visit.

Mrs. J. L. Johnson accompanied by her daughter, Flossie Johnson, were the guests of friends at Fort Wayne Tuesday.

Henry Bowie, of Findlay, O., was a visitor here a few days this week, looking after his farming interests south of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Putnam Hall were passengers to Woodburn, Wednesday, where they will visit, being the guests of their son, Frank Hall and family.

Several car loads of paving brick have been received here this week, and are being placed along the proposed Main street improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Smith were among the passengers to Fort Wayne from this place Wednesday.

Mrs. John Hughes, of Emmett, O., visited at this place Wednesday, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Pearl Longberry and family.

B. A. Zeiger was a visitor at the Summit City Tuesday and Wednesday, being the guest of Mrs. W. S. Rodgers and family.

er, of Hicksville, who operates a movie theater at that place.

At a regular meeting of the village council, held Friday evening, H. K. Harris, cashier of the Antwerp Exchange bank, was appointed a member of the council to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of C. A. Bissell, who was appointed assessor for Antwerp precinct.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Meyers and son, Frank, of Warren, Ind., were Antwerp visitors a few days this week, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Thompson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ely are rejoicing over the advent of a baby boy at their home on North Main street, the youngster having registered his appearance Sunday morning.

DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

Isaiah 55:1-7.

1 Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat: yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price.

2 Wherefore do ye spend money for that which is not bread? and your labour for that which satisfieth not? hearken diligently unto me, and eat ye that which is good, and let your soul delight itself in fatness.

3 Incline your ear, and come unto me: hear, and your soul shall live; and I will make an everlasting covenant with you, even the sure mercies of David.

4 Behold, I have given him for a witness to the people, a leader and commander to the people.

5 Behold, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, and nations that knew not thee shall run unto thee, because of the Lord thy God, and for the Holy One of Israel; for he hath glorified thee.

6 Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near.

7 Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him: and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon.

Last we fall into their sin, let us sit believingly before God and turn our closets into chapels for this great prophet-evangelist's message.

Recording Fort Wayne History.

The proposal of descendants of Henry Rudisill to place in the Rudisill school a bronze tablet bearing a portrait of Mr. Rudisill, whose death occurred something like seventy years ago, together with a brief sketch of his activities in pioneer Fort Wayne, is in happy keeping with the apparent determination to permanently record the important events and the doings of some of the conspicuous figures in Fort Wayne's history. There has been a notable awakening to this opportunity in recent years, as witnessed by the marker at Wayne trace, the monument to Johnny Appleseed, the designation of the site of Harmer's defeat and other movements of like character.

Mr. Rudisill was easily one of the strong characters who did much in the building of Fort Wayne. His memory is honored in the conferring of his name upon a boulevard and a school in this city, but such distinction is merely casual, and it means little to those who have not taken occasion to inform themselves upon the details of early local history. Definite information that will fix the public mind upon these pioneer leaders—and there were scores of them—will be invaluable as information to all of us, and infinitely invaluable in developing the civic spirit in the newer generations. Fort Wayne is engaged in a very fine work when it takes steps to infallibly record the names of the pioneer giants who transmuted much of their rugged character, their sturdy integrity and their large visions of the future into the making of the great city which is our pride today. There is opportunity for much more of the same sort of useful tribute which the descendants of Mr. Rudisill are now paying to his memory. The Indiana centennial year, too, is a fine time in which to do it.

The prospect that President Wilson will find it possible to accept Fort Wayne's invitation to be its guest during the centennial celebration next month is not especially promising, though the invitation of the local committee has been supplemented by the personal efforts of Senator Kern, Senator Taggart and Congressman Cline. The president has expressed his appreciation of Fort Wayne's consideration and has indicated that if diplomatic conditions permit, he will be glad to accept, and has promised a definite answer soon. It is easy to understand that confronted by the particularly exacting burdens with which President Wilson is constantly beset, it is difficult for him to find time for the diversions which are permitted the ordinary man. It will be a very great pleasure for the people of Fort Wayne and of Northern Indiana to greet the president if he finds it possible to come to us in June.

Statistics filed by 325 American railroads with the bureau of railway news an statistics show the remarkable fact that during the fiscal year 1915 not a single fatality to a passenger resulted from train accident. The roads reporting operate a total of 161,948 miles of line, and it is declared that this record of safe operation has never been equalled either in America or abroad. There were roads not listed with the bureau which had fatal accidents to passengers, it is true, but the showing of the larger number is one to which the American railroad man may point with pride. He has gone far in making the life of passengers safe and in lowering the hazards to himself as well.

Members of the ways and means committee of the house of representatives are now confronted by the task of providing for next year a sum for the maintenance of the affairs of government which is estimated to be $250,000,000 in excess of the sum available during the fiscal year now nearing a close. Among other things for which you might be thankful is that you're not a member of the ways and means committee.

The finding of the body of an aged man lying in an open field near Fort Wayne where, four or five days before he had ended his life with a pistol because he had been completely ensnared by the drink habit, hardly needs emphasis as a temperance lecture. It should cry as from the housetops its warning to countless others who are headed in the same direction and traveling with shocking rapidity to a doom no less deplorable.

George W. Perkins, progressive chieftain, has contributed another interesting chapter to current politics by the statement that the progressives, while enthusiastically for Colonel Roosevelt, would, as a compromise, accept his equal if the republicans can produce the man. At the same time, the progressives are by no means certain that there is, anywhere or at any time, as good a man as the colonel.

Superintendents of various Indiana poor asylums, who have been holding a convention at Indianapolis are advocating that their positions be taken out of politics, and wherever they are in it, they most certainly should be taken out. When we succeed in getting out of politics everything that shouldn't be there, politics will not have a great deal left.

Indians Celebrate Last Thanksgiving

Yakima Indian with his share of last tribal Thanksgiving feast.

North Yakima, Wash., May 11.—Their last Thanksgiving day!

The Yakima Indians here have just celebrated it.

It marked the passing of a long war between the red men and state officials, and a renunciation by the Indians of what they believed solemn treaty rights to fish anywhere their fathers fished.

The event was celebrated, by permission from the state fish commissioner, with a great salmon feast at Prosser dam, near here.

The Yakimas had sent word that they would pledge themselves hereafter to observe the white men's laws if for the last time they were permitted to catch all the salmon they wanted on their annual gala day. This request was granted by Commissioner Darwin.

The salmon soiree was attended by nearly 2,000 aborigines wielding dip-nets, and broiling their succulent catch over open fires.

For years there had been contention between the Yakimas and the laws of officers regarding the Indians' fishing rights. The latter maintained they were given the privilege of catching salmon in the places their tribe had been accustomed to taking them, in return for the ceding of lands under old treaties.

Commissioner Darwin and his deputies held that the red men should enjoy no special fishing concessions over white men. Bitter legal warfare and arrests resulted, and actual trouble was narrowly averted.

Now all is serene along the Prosser. The taste of fish is still sweet in the mouths of the Yakimas.

Only the old men mourn, silently—the old men who have seen so many precious rights surrendered for a mess of pottage.

WILL TEACH THE PEOPLE THRIFT

(Indianapolis Star).

The American Bankers' association, according to its executive committee now in session, is organizing a thrift campaign for the purpose of teaching the American people to save $8,000,000 that they waste annually. Presumably this effort is to be directed toward the prevention of wasteful spending and the encouragement of saving of pennies, dimes and dollars, millions of which go in small and needless expenditures.

It is a movement in the right direction, for Americans, as a class, are careless spenders and take little account of their small change. In large matters, too, they lack thrift and this lack is shown throughout their entire social fabric and extends to public affairs. Such a thing as real public economy, the close and careful management the efficient man gives to his private business is practically unknown in this country.

Our financial history in city, state and nation is a record of enormous waste and extravagance, not always a result of dishonesty by any means, but of the careless and loose administration that necessarily grows out of the characteristic American disregard for economy. Ours is a country of plenty; we have had the great prosperity and it has been easy to spend, but thrift is none the less desirable and necessary and if the bankers can conduct an effective campaign in this direction, they will serve the public well.

GERMAN STATEMENT WILL BE ACCEPTED

Offer of Apology in Sussex
Case to Be Followed by Indemnities.

Washington, May 11.—Germany's admission that the English channel steamer Sussex was torpedoed by one of her submarines which mistook it for a warship, the apology and the offer to make suitable financial reparation to Americans who suffered injuries when the attack was made will probably be accepted by the state department.

The German note, addressed to Ambassador Gerard, is as follows:

"Supplementing his note of the fourth instant, concerning the conduct of the German submarine warfare, the undersigned has the honor to inform his excellency, the American ambassador, Mr. James W. Gerard, that the further investigation made by the German authorities concerned in regard to the French steamship Sussex, on the basis of the American material, has been concluded in the meantime. In conformity with the result of this investigation the assumption expressed in the note of the undersigned of the tenth ultimo, that the damage of the Sussex was to be traced back to a cause other than the attack of a German submarine cannot be maintained.

"Such an assumption had to be arrived at with certainty from the material in the possession of the German government, for itself, and without further knowledge of the circumstances connected with the torpedoing of the Sussex, the more so as apart from the points enumerated in the note of the tenth ultimo, the following facts had come to the attention of admiralty staff of the navy through reliable information; March twenty-four, nineteen sixteen, approximately at the same time as the Sussex, an auxiliary warship left the port of Folkestone with a large transport of British infantry on board; on the same day a transport steamer was torpedoed in the channel, a few minutes preceding the Sussex, the submarine had passed through a mass of ship wreckage, which created the impression that a ship had been sunk at that spot shortly before. All these facts justified the conclusion that the only case of torpedoing which could be considered under the circumstances had struck the British war vessel whereas the Sussex had met with an accident in some other way.

"However, on the basis of the American material, the German government cannot withhold its conviction that the ship torpedoed by the German submarine is in fact identical with the Sussex, for in accordance with this material the place, the time, and the effect of the explosion by which the Sussex was damaged, agree in the essential details with the statements of the German commander, so that there can no longer be any question of the possibility of two independent occurrences. An additional reason is constituted by the fact that officers of the American navy found fragments of an explosive in the hold of the Sussex which are described by them upon firm grounds as parts of a German torpedo.

"Finally the counter evidence which was deduced from the note of the tenth ultimo from the difference in appearance of the vessel described by the submarine commander and the only reproduction of the Sussex then available has proven to be untenable, inasmuch as according to a photograph of the damaged Sussex now to hand, the characteristic distinctions no longer existed at the time of the accident; while the Sussex in the photograph of the Daily Graphic, enclosed in the note only carried one mast and also showed the white gangway cusnear the Centlivre brewery last evening. In a small satchel near the apparel was a quantity of poison sufficient to kill several persons. Whether the affair is a hoax or the evidence of a suicide the police are trying to discover.

Miss Anna Siboni is preparing for a trip to Germany. She will for a time be the guest of her parents in Copenhagen, Denmark, and will be absent altogether about four months.

The Philharmonic club is the name of the new musical association and its officers are as follows: President, Fred J. Reineke; vice president, A. Schmidt; secretary, C. J. Scheimann; treasurer, Will Spiegel; financial secretary, W. O. Gross; trustees, Herman Tresselt, George Jacobs, Louis Curden.

The greatest rush of business Manager O. L. Perry, of the Western Union telegraph office in this city, has ever had to deal with occurred Saturday night because of the Sidons-White prize fight here. Over 11,000 words were transmitted to metropolitan newspapers, which received special accounts of the contest.

port of Folkestone with a large transport of British infantry on board; on the same day a transport steamer was torpedoed in the channel, a few minutes preceding the Sussex, the submarine had passed through a mass of ship wreckage, which created the impression that a ship had been sunk at that spot shortly before. All these facts justified the conclusion that the only case of torpedoing which could be considered under the circumstances had struck the British war vessel whereas the Sussex had met with an accident in some other way.

"However, on the basis of the American material, the German government cannot withhold its conviction that the ship torpedoed by the German submarine is in fact identical with the Sussex, for in accordance with this material the place, the time, and the effect of the explosion by which the Sussex was damaged, agree in the essential details with the statements of the German commander, so that there can no longer be any question of the possibility of two independent occurrences. An additional reason is constituted by the fact that officers of the American navy found fragments of an explosive in the hold of the Sussex which are described by them upon firm grounds as parts of a German torpedo.

"Finally the counter evidence which was deduced from the note of the tenth ultimo from the difference in appearance of the vessel described by the submarine commander and the only reproduction of the Sussex then available has proven to be untenable, inasmuch as according to a photograph of the damaged Sussex now to hand, the characteristic distinctions no longer existed at the time of the accident; while the Sussex in the photograph of the Daily Graphic, enclosed in the note only carried one mast and also showed the white gangway customary on passenger vessels on the level with the portholes O. W. S., the reproduction of the damaged Sussex shows a second mast and a uniform dark color, and thus approaches in her outer appearance the description of the vessel as furnished by the submarine commander.

"In view of the general impression of all the facts at hand, the German government considers it beyond doubt that the commander of the submarine acted in the bona fide belief that he was facing an enemy warship. On the other hand, it cannot be denied that, misled by the appearance of the vessel, under the pressure of the circumstances, he formed his judgment too hurriedly in establishing her character and did not therefore act fully in accordance with the strict instruction which called upon him to exercise particular care.

"In view of these circumstances the German government frankly admits that the assurance given to the American government in accordance with which passenger vessels were not to be attacked without warning has not been adhered to in the present case. As was intimated by the undersigned in the note of the fourth instant, the German government does not hesitate to draw from this resultant consequences. It therefore expresses to the American government its sincere regret regarding the deplorable incident and declares its readiness to pay an adequate indemnity to the injured American citizens. It also disapproved of the conduct of the commander, who has been appropriately punished.

"Expressing the hope that the American government will consider the case of the Sussex as settled by these statements, the undersigned avails himself of this occasion to renew to the ambassador the assurance of his highest consideration.

SILKEN NOOSE, OR PARLIAMENT, WHICH?

Either May Await Casement in Picturesque, Much-Bewigged Trial.

London, England, May 9.—Sir Roger Casement, Irish revolutionist, may be hanged to death with a silken noose—or elected to parliament.

LORD READING
(In wig he will wear at trial of Sir Roger Casement.)

There is ample precedent for either fate.

When he faces trial on a charge of treason it will be before a tribunal headed by the world's foremost Jew!

Lord Reading, lord chief justice of England, who was Sir Rufus Isaacs, will preside at the trial, assisted by two "pious justices" selected from the 16 other members of the king's bench of the high court of justice. Westminster hall probably will be the scene of the trial, and, in accordance with British legal custom, it will all be over quickly.

Lord Reading and his two assistants will appear in wigs and robes, those of the chief justice being trimmed with ermine. The chief attorneys on either side also will wear wigs and silken robes.

In the event of a death penalty for Casement, Lord Reading will remove his wig, and, during the reading of the sentence, will wear a small black cap. This is custom.

Death sentence is read briefly. At least two Sundays elapse between sentence and execution. The prisoner is told in advance, however, the date of his death. Because of his rank, a silken cord would be used in the case of Casement in place of the plain hemp that throttles plain persons.

There is, however, a large possibility that casement will not die! The last famous treason trial in England was that of Arthur Lynch, an Irish Australian, who commanded a regiment of Boers in the South African war. Lynch was sentenced to death, but the decree was commuted to imprisonment and after a year's incarceration Lynch was pardoned.

Lynch afterward announced his loyalty to that of Great Britain and is now a member of parliament (nationalist) from County Clare, Ireland.

One reason leniency may be extended Casement is the general belief that he is mentally unbalanced because of privations endured while acting as consul and consul-general in the Congo and Amazon valleys.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold. Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." This is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

George Berg, superintendent of the Tri-State Fish Hatcheries at Columbia City, was here and brought 300,000 will eyed pike which he placed in the St. Mary's river to stock the same. More will be brought in a month or so, including other varieties. They were brought on application of O. H. Odell, Erie agent.

John Lewis, aged six, son of Hubert DeVoss, was given a surprise for his sixth birthday anniversary. Six little boy friends were the guests.

George Krick, of the Krick, Tyndall company, is in Indianapolis, attending the claymakers' convention.

TROUBLED AT NIGHT.

Painful, annoying bladder weakness usually indicates kidney trouble and kidney trouble never should be neglected. Backache, rheumatism, sore, swollen or stiff muscles or joints—all these have been relieved by Foley Kidney Pills. They act promptly and efficiently and help to health. Henry Rudolph, Carmi, Ill., writes: "I was bothered with burning in back and was troubled at night and had to get up several times. Since taking Foley Kidney Pills I sleep all night without getting up." Dreier Drug Co.—Advertisement.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing at any time.—Advertisement.

PREPARES TO CELEBRATE

Buenos Aires, May 11.—The committee in charge of the organization of the National Centenary exhibition, to be held in the month of July, is now in full operation. The exhibition will be held in the spacious building situated at Florida and Sarmiento streets. A large number of local industrial and commercial firms, also a number of North American, Brazilian and Uruguayan concerns have signified their intention of participating.

The Kre-Mo Girl

Says:

Have you tried my recipe for Kre-Mo Custard? Oh, then, you must do it now, because it's just too delicious for anything! This is the way:

Kre-Mo Sterilized Rice Custard

One cup of boiled Kre-Mo Sterilized Rice, two eggs, two cups of milk, one-half cup of sugar, a teaspoon of butter; vanilla or nutmeg to taste. Beat eggs and sugar and butter together. Add to the beaten eggs, sugar and butter; then add hot milk and stir thoroughly. Sprinkle with nutmeg or add vanilla, and bake in a pan of water until brown. I really wish you would try this recipe just once. You'll thank me for it.

Kre-Mo Sterilized Rice

is excellent prepared as a breakfast food. One fifteen-cent package makes seven pounds of prepared food. Kre-Mo Pancakes, Waffles, Muffins, Gems, Croquettes and Custards are splendid.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

Guy Bates Post in "Omar, the Tentmaker," This Evening.

The most spectacular attraction that has graced our stage in several seasons is coming to the Majestic theater for one performance Thursday evening, May 11th, when Guy Bates Post will appear in the title role of Richard Walton Tully's sumptuous Persian drama, "Omar, the Tentmaker," which played an entire season in New York. Mr. Tully, who is a native of California, is universally recognized as one of the foremost dramatists in America and in his latest work he has surpassed his previous successes, "The Bird of Paradise" and "The Rose of the Rancho," both of which are pleasantly recalled by all theatergoers. For a number of seasons Mr. Post has been regarded as one of the foremost dramatic artists of our stage, but it has remained for his splendid impersonation of the beloved Persian poet to entrench him definitely as the most interesting figure in romantic roles since the passing of the late Richard Mansfield.

Scenically, the equipment of "Omar, the Tentmaker," is so massive and elaborate that only the largest stages in America will accommodate the succession of huge settings which are a conspicuous feature of the attraction.

AT KEITH PALACE

"WAR BRIDES" AT PALACE.

Nazimova's Trenchant Drama Feature on Week-End Bill.

Are the women of the beligerent countries to be made mere breeding mediums? This is the thrilling question put in striking sentences and gripping scenes by Madame Nazimova's "War Brides," which is the feature attraction on the bill that opens this afternoon at the New Palace. Nazimova reading the story in a magazine, was so struck by Marion Craig Wentworth's presentation of the problem confronting Europe today, that she dramatized it and presented it in the form of a one-act play. Its instant and complete success led her to organize a company to present it on a vaudeville tour and to that decision may be attributed the fact that Fort Wayne today is enjoying an opportunity of witnessing the most remarkable dramatic story conceived by the present war.

The Sharrocks, a team of farcical comedians with a laugh in everything they do, will present their famous burlesque on the orthodox mind reading act. The act is put on with the suave finish of the usual mind reading bunk and the performers seemingly are serious about their ridiculous questions and answers. The Troy Comedy Four, just one of those combinations of male melody and laughable comedy, that Fort Wayne always has demonstrated such a fondness for, also are on the bill. The acrobatic leaping bulldogs, known as Gardner's Maniacs, because of the dangerous stunts they perform in their zipping act, is a feature of this bill that will delight dog owners and dog lovers.

Frank McReel, the California tenor, whose sweet, pure voice is a musical treat, will sing a group of his favorite song numbers, as one of the real features of the bill. It promises to be the blue ribbon bill of the season.

AT THE TEMPLE.

MISS HAMERICK REMAINS A WEEK

Fort Wayne players will be pleased to learn that Miss Ethel Hamerick, leading lady with the Temple stock company, who was to have severed her connection with the troupe Saturday night, has consented to remain for another week, and will play the leading part in two splendid offerings which have been booked for the Temple next week.

Beginning tonight Miss Hamerick will play the part of Lottie, the poor saleslady, in the comedy of that name, which opens a three-day engagement at the Temple at popular prices, with Saturday matinee.

The characters are intensely human and of a type to be seen in every city. Lottie, a glove counter girl, tires of her humdrum life in the store. Her opportunity to escape comes in the form of a substantial sum of money which she inherits. She determines to have her fling in the so-called society from which she has been barred by reason of her lowly surroundings and environment. She has many strange experiences, some laughable, others pathetic, and her ideas of life undergo a change. The hall-room boys, portrayed by Walter Poulter and Maurice Jenkins, and the scenes in a boarding house are screams.

AT THE EMPRESS

Musical Comedy Stock Pleasing Big Crowds at Empress.

The musical comedy stock company playing at the Empress theater in that merry mix-up, "The Pink Widow," has apparently taken the town by storm. Hundreds of pleased patrons are flocking to the theater twice daily, and Arthur Clamage and his company are unanimously voted to be the greatest organization ever seen here at popular prices.

"The Girl From Luxembourg" has been selected for next week's offering.

Society

Honoring her daughter, Mrs. Albert Mitchell, of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. John A. Shoff invited fifteen young women friends to play auction bridge at her home in Spy Run avenue this afternoon. The gathering was informal, but very delightful. Miss Helen Kelly, of Las Vegas, N. M., who is visiting Mrs. Robert Fox, was a visiting guest.

A lovely afternoon party of Wednesday was Miss Irma Henderson's entertainment of fifteen girlhood friends of her cousin, Mrs. Jerry Strayer, of Los Angeles, Cal. Sewing was the order of the afternoon with tempting refreshments as the afternoon drew to a close.

An aluminum gift shower in honor of Miss Bernadette Mohl was given Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Myrtle Sackman, of South Wayne avenue. Progressive rump was played and prizes were won by Misses Bernadette Dittus, Loretta Christen and Mrs. Raymond Lee, which were presented to the bride-elect. Other present were Misses Lillian Grosh, Josephine Ertle, Sophia Gruber, Irene Martin, Clara Suelzer, Marcella Royhans, Rose Sackman, Leona Kleinrichert, Madeline Ricketts, Marie Jehl, Freda Bauerle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sackman and Master Leonard. During the time a delicious supper was served on a beautifully decorated table, the color being in white and yellow ribbons and in the center a large bouquet of yellow and white daisies. At each plate was placed a tiny candy basket and the only light in the dining room was furnished by candles which were put at each plate.

The Shakespeare club members held a banquet at the Y. W. C. A. on Wednesday evening and after the feast served in the private dining room, formed a party to go to the Empress and see two amateur plays given under the auspices of St. Ann's Guild of the Episcopal church. The particular attraction to the club was one of the plays, a parody on several Shakespearean women. The dinner at the association was very prettily appointed with violets, the club flower, which formed nosegays for the company, and many lovely roses that made the table decoration. Covers were laid for sixteen. Miss Mary E. Dick presided as toastmaster and responses were made by Miss Alice Habecker, Mrs. John Abercrombie, Miss Carrie Snively, Miss Ellen McKee, Mrs. Charles Cherry and Miss Mabel Crosby. Other members of the club are Miss Elizabeth Freeman, Mrs. W. W. Hackney, Miss Agnes McKee, Misses Annette and Maude Gaskins, Miss Ketrall Williams, Mrs. Sam Taylor, Mrs. Fisherling, Miss Margaret Smith, Miss Bertha Medsker, Miss Beatrice Kell, Miss Mabel Hatch.

Mrs. Fred Bondell, of Oliver street, is visiting friends at Daisv, Ohio.

Mrs. John Cowan is visiting friends in Columbia City.

Dr. and Mrs. Gaylord M. Leslie are in Indianapolis for a few days.

Mrs. Myron Downing left on Thursday for West Baden, for a ten days' stay.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Puckett have as their guest their daughter, Mrs. Gordon Eby, of Troy.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Schoo are to start on Friday for a motor trip to Louisville, Ky.

Mrs. Rachael Payne has returned from a visit in Whiting, accompanied by her son, William Payne, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. James Moway left on Thursday for Rome City for a fortnight's stay at their cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Jones have returned from Millville, Fla., where they spent the entire winter.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Lutheran hospital will meet at the nurses' home on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. May Frisby, of Columbia avenue, left on Wednesday for North Yakima, Wash., to live.

Mr. and Mrs. George Randall and Mr. and Mrs. Austin Stults spent Wednesday in Warsaw, making the trip by motor.

Miss Margaret Shulze entertained the Opportunity circle of King's Daughters, at her home on the Decatur road, on Tuesday evening.

The wedding of Miss Hannah Wambagans and Paul W. Hitzemann will be celebrated at the home of the bride on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Martin Dodd, of Toledo, O., who was the guest of Miss Alice Knight, of Spy Run avenue, for several days, returned home on Wednesday.

C. M. Nizer will be the speaker at the meeting of the Bloomingdale school parent-teacher club instead of Judge Eggman, who has been called out of town.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lapp, of Maple avenue, had a family gathering at their home at dinner on Wednesday evening in celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Mrs. B. P. Mossman, Mrs. B. J. Griswold and Mrs. George Jacobs are to combine efforts as hostesses Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Mossman, to entertain the South Side Tennis-bridge club.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Jones have returned from their wedding trip and are now at home at 120 East Leith street.

Mrs. Jones was Miss Ray Siens, of New York city, and her wedding to Mr. Jones took place on April 25. Mr. Jones is the well known painter and decorator.

At the meeting of the Morning Musical on Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the new new centennial hymn, music by Mr. Goodrich, will be sung by a mixed quartet. The music is very pretty and every member of the society is anxious to get familiar with its melody and to hear its splendid harmonic construction.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Kinder, of Arcola, Ind., announce the coming marriage of their daughter, Geneva Martha, to Frank Howell Rockhill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Rockhill, on Tuesday, May 16, at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's church. The coming marriage is somewhat of a surprise, the many friends of the bride, who has been a frequent visitor in this city.

Miss Edith Ruppe entertained the Chi-Rho girls at her home on East Creighton avenue, Tuesday evening. Progressive bunco formed the chief amusement of the evening. Prizes were won by Misses Helen Kiel and Mathilda Kligenberger.

At a late hour the girls were invited to the dining room where Miss Ruppe and her friends served luncheon. Other members present were Misses Helen Lindeman, Agnes Sites, Laura Wickliff, Ruth Center, Myrtle Mertens, Helen Jones, Lillian Hoppe, Retha Perkins and Elsie Schmidt.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Flowers, who eloped Monday to Hillsdale, Mich., were given a supper party on Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kocher, of High street. Only relatives were invited to the supper, but later the bride and groom were much surprised by a company of young people who included the Alberts' club, of which the groom is a member, and a number of other friends of both bride and groom. The merriest kind of a time resulted. The Alberts' mandolin club, Elmer Stoll and Mr. Storm, pianists, and the Dixie quartet, furnished a lot of good music. The Alberts' club took a handsome Morris chair along as a gift to the groom and the bride was fairly showered with useful and handsome gifts from relatives and friends. It was a late hour when the young people decided to go to their respective homes. In the meantime, Mrs. Koehler, assisted by her daughters, and other relatives, served light refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Flowers will soon be at home in their own residence in Buchanan street. The company was a merry one and the entire time was a happy one for everyone present.

Mrs. Margaret Knapp, of 2826 Weiser Park avenue, reached the seventieth anniversary of her birth on Monday, May 8, and in her honor her daughters celebrated on Sunday and Monday. On Sunday the gathering was at the home of Mrs. L. A. Dilling, of 2910 Weiser Park avenue, with a fine dinner, all of which was a surprise to Mrs. Knapp. Thirteen sat down to the dinner and shared the pleasure of the day and the family gathering, with but one absent member, a daughter, who could not leave her Nebraska home to be here just at this time. All but one of Mrs. Knapp's six daughters are married, but Miss Elsie Knapp makes her home with her mother. The absent daughter, Mrs. J. C. Peck, of Kennesaw, Neb., could not come east at this time. That made present at the dinner with their families, Mrs. Knapp and her children, Mrs. J. A. Kline, of Tacoma, Wash.; Mrs. Harry Zeimann, of Graybill; Mrs. F. L. DeWitt, Mrs. S. A. Dilling and their families, and Miss Elsie Knapp. The table decorations were in blue and white and the room was decorated with apple blossoms with "mother's chair" in blue and white trimmings and a big bunch of apple blossoms at her plate. Apple blossoms were favors for all the company. There was a big angel cake with seventy blue and white tapers on it and everything told of the birthday party and honor to the birthday anniversary lady. On Monday there was another family gathering at the home of Mrs. Knapp, when her children all came to dine and read the one-hundred postal cards that were showered upon her along with many beautiful gifts.

Dochtermann—Oswald.

Many Fort Wayne friends are interested in the wedding of Mr. Edward Neal Dochtermann, a son of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Dochtermann, of Lake avenue, to Miss Hazel Dell Oswald, which took place in Paulding, O., on May 9. The bride is a granddaughter of Mr. R. B. Champion, of Antwerp, O., and she is a finely educated and brilliant young woman. The bride was graduated from the University of Michigan. The marriage ceremony was read by Rev. Lincoln Long. After the marriage the bride and groom came to this city and were entertained at the home of the groom's parents. The groom is very well known in Fort Wayne and is exceedingly popular in athletic circles and in railroad circles. Mr. Dochtermann has been assistant ticket agent for the New York Central and St. Louis road in this city for some time. The bride and groom left later in the day for a trip to the Pacific coast and on their return will make their home in this city.

Rebber—Moeller.

Miss Clara Moeller and Mr. Herman Rebber were married on Sunday afternoon in St. Paul's Lutheran church at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Jacob Miller officiating. The attendants were Miss Adella Moeller, a sister to the bride; Miss Emma Meyer, Miss Lela Peoples and Messrs. Herman Moeller, Fred and Arthur Rebber, also relatives of either the bride or the groom. The bride was crowned in white and she wore a veil held in place with lilacs of the valley, and the bridal bouquet was of bride-roses and lilacs. The bridesmaids were crowned similarly in pink and carried pink roses. A reception and supper was

AT THE GRAND

Francis X. Bushman and Marguerite Snow at the Grand Today.

Francis X. Bushman and Marguerite Snow, who are featured at the Grand today in the "Silent Voice," a five part drama, are probably known to movie motion picture lovers than any stellar combination now being shown on the screen. This five-part combination was pictured from the original play by the same name, in which Otis Skinner starred at all of the most popular theaters in the country. Mr. Bushman is featured in this presentation with his masterful action in the silent drama. The role in which he appears is somewhat different from what his admirers have been accustomed, and will prove a revelation of his power as a romantic lover.

Mob Rushes Mrs. Stokes at Birth Control Meeting

Rose Pastor Stokes, New York, May 9.—When Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes, one-time cigarmaker and now wife of J. G. Phelps Stokes, millionaire socialist, addressed a meeting in Carnegie hall on "Birth Control," a riot occurred.

Mrs. Stokes offered free pamphlets giving "the secret of birth control." Everybody started for the platform.

OSSIAN NEWS.

Ossian, Ind., May 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Minor Hoover proved themselves delightful entertainers when on Tuesday evening they had as their guests the members of the Pleasant Word circle and the young men of Frank M. Rector's Sunday school class. The guests all met at Rector Bros. store and were taken in autos to the country home of the Hoovers. The house was very nicely decorated with dog wood blossoms. The devotional exercises were led by Mrs. Floyd H. Henline. Favorite hymns of Helen Keller were given at roll call. Interesting and appropriate talks were given by Rev. J. Orr Powell, E. H. Roe and Frank M. Rector. A social hour, with games and contests, followed. Delicious refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served. Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames M. S. Henline, Carl Wilson, Floyd Henline, Walker Roe, Homer Goshorn, Homer Pomeroy, Harold Mahnsmuth, E. H. Roe, Dallas Richey, Ernest Vananda, Albert Melchinger, Fred Vananda, Lester Henline, Evan Hoover, Robert Hall, Roe Hunter, Rank Hall, J. O. Powell, Frank M. Rector, James Crabb, Emmett Rector and Mesdames Maudie Swihart, David Hall and Orin McMullen and Mr. Anson Buck.

Messrs. Strait and Dalle, field examiners for the state board of accounts, were in Ossian Tuesday and went over the records of Jefferson Township Trustees W. W. Fryback. They also examined the records of the town clerk, Ernest Vananda.

J. S. Krewson, who has been ill the past week with grip, is again able to be out. He made a business trip to Bluffton Wednesday.

The N. M. G. club was most delightfully entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. M. E. Spencer. The ladies responded to roll call with quotations from Whittier. Mrs. E. T. Hawley read a biography of Whittier. The ladies spent the evening visiting with their crocheting and the hostess conducted a penny contest. A splendid two course supper was served by Mrs. Spencer. Those present were Mesdames G. A. Bowman, George M. Way, John Hanna, John Woodward, Josephine Cannon, E. T. Hawley, Frank McDowell, John V. Goshorn and Frank Quackenbush. The next club meeting will be Tuesday evening, May 23, with Mrs. J. V. Goshorn.

Miss May Weaver will be hostess for the Philathea Girls on Friday evening.

Mrs. Ethel Kemper and sons, Leroy and Robert, of Freemont, came to Ossian Tuesday evening for a few days' visit with Mrs. Kemper's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Green.

The local W. C. T. U. will meet Friday afternoon with Miss Lida Allen.

Mrs. Marion Hoover went to Nuncio Tuesday to the home of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Shepherd. Mrs. Hoover's father has been quite ill for some time, and she went to be with him during an operation which he was to undergo Wednesday.

F. M. Shanklin, a representative of the United States department of agriculture from Lafayette, will be in Ossian Tuesday evening, May 16th, to give a free picture show at the Correll picture theater. Mr. Shanklin is a state club organizer, organizing clubs for boys and girls, to instruct the boys in the raising of pigs and the girls in sewing. Harry Gray, the county agricultural agent will also be present and bring with him his slides, giving a talk on the feeding of hogs. All the boys and girls of the vicinity are urged to see these pictures. Let us expect to see to form a pig club and a sewing club and prizes will be offered for efficiency in each.

Mrs. J. S. Burnett has been on the sick list since Sunday suffering from gall stones.

Mrs. T. V. Rector will be hostess for the Needlecraft club Friday evening.

Mrs. W. W. Fryback has completed taking the annual enumeration for Jefferson township and the result is unique, in that it is the same number of males and females—400 each—making a total of 800 for Jefferson township. This is one less than last year's enumeration, which was 801. The count includes all children between the ages of six and twenty-one.

Miss Phoebe Summers entertained very nicely the J. T. C. club on Monday evening. After an hour devoted to fancy work the girls gave their attention to domestic science, making Welsh rarebit and the accompanying eats, which all enjoyed. Those present were Misses Ruth Bailey, Marjory Nill, Erma Bowman, Mary Roe and Marie Hunter.

The Standard Bearers were entertained Tuesday evening by Misses Gay Bunn and Marjory Hunter at the home of Miss Bunn. The young ladies spent the evening sewing garments for the missionary box, which the M. E. church ladies are preparing to send to India. While the others were busy with their needles Misses Ilow Elzey and Martha Way read selections from the missionary paper. Later nice eats of sandwiches and lemonade were served to all. Those present were Misses Mary and

DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED.

Clifford Smead, 1413 West Fourth street, was taken to the St. Joseph hospital Wednesday with a bullet in his right thigh, the result of pulling the trigger of a gun that was not thought to be loaded.

He was playing with the gun when it was discharged. The youngster was not seriously wounded.

FURS BRING PROFIT—ESKIMOS ARE NOW REJOICING.

Eskimo belles, ready to let suitors spend some of the fur money in making them happy.

Nome, Alaska, May 11.—The annual sale of Eskimo trappers' furs in Seattle has brought jubilation to the natives up northward.

Shipped to Seattle by parcel post and sold under bid at prevailing market prices, the marten, mink, otter and fox pelts brought returns to the trappers far in excess of the sums they used to get here from local traders.

Father Eskimo can now lay in a new supply of tobacco.

Mother Eskimo can make her personal adornments.

The young village blade is "flush." And the kids can buy all-day sucker candies and know the delights of chewing gum brought from the nearest trading post.

The fur sale brings in ready cash. It is an event awaited eagerly all year. Coming at a time when spring fever is just beginning to make even the staid Eskimo cooish, and when the "love moon" is bright in northern skies, it is all the more welcome because of the purchases it permits.

More pelts were sold this year than ever before. They are handled for the natives by the United States bureau of education for Alaska at Seattle.

Thrifty, industry and education have been greatly stimulated through this channel and prosperity substituted for want in many regions of the Arctic.

Physician's Eczema Remedy

Dr. Holmes, the well-known skin specialist, writes:

"I am convinced that the D. D. D. Prescription is as much a specific for Eczema as quinine for malaria. I have been prescribing the D. D. D. remedy for years. This soothing combination of oil of Wintergreen, Turpentine and other healing ingredients called D. D. D. Prescription is now a favorite remedy of skin specialists for all skin diseases. It penetrates the pores, gives instant relief from the most distressing itch. Its soothing oils quickly heal the inflamed tissues."

Druggists are glad to recommend this soothing, cooling liquid. 25c, 50c and $1.00. Come to us and we will tell you more about this remarkable remedy. Your money back unless the first bottle relieves you. D. D. D. Soap keeps your skin healthy. Ask about it.

School Tennis Tourney Is Under Way --- Defiance Gets Toledo Players

DEFIANCE LOADS FOR GAME WITH CLEARY'S FORT WAYNE CROWD

Owner Weber, of the Defiance Independents, went to Toledo yesterday to pick up some likely stock for his baseball team. Weber realizes that he is running into a pretty hard proposition on the local lot, and is strengthening his forces to meet it.

Capt. Aggie Grant, manager of the Defiance team, is working out his men every evening, and the visitors will have a lot more experience and team work than the local boys, but with the shifts in the line-up in his Crows, Bill Hillinger, Mart Cleary's field boss, feels that he will be able to hold out against the invaders.

"CORBETT DAY" ENDED JOE'S BALL CAREER.

VETERAN OF OTHER DAYS SHOWERED WITH FLORAL OFFERINGS.

San Francisco, May 11.—Thousands of fans are regretfully admitting that Joe Corbett, baseball hero of two decades ago, and brother of the pugilist, James J., failed in an attempt to come back with the San Francisco Seals.

Grandstand and bleachers were packed on "Corbett day" recently. There were cheers and stacks of flowers and good wishes for him, but his pitching showed none of the old-time brilliance. The "old man" simply "wasn't there." He was retired before the disaster came to a close. Manager Wolverton, held to a close player limit, released the veteran the next day.

Corbett is past 40 years of age. His brother Jim, one-time heavyweight champion, is close to 50. Joe has gone back to his position as deputy county clerk.

HAL STEWART AND MASON TO DAYTON

George Biemer and his two fighters, Hal Stewart and Frankie Mason, leave this evening for Dayton, where Friday evening both the local boys will appear on a fight card. Both are running into stiff opposition. Stewart and Mason fought at Dayton several weeks ago and after cleaning their men became so popular with the fans that arrangements were started immediately to give them return fights. Mason fights Joey Nelson, of Indianapolis, and Stewart meets Willie Beecher, of New York, both fights going over the fifteen round route.

COAST PRODUCES A RIVAL TO PING BODIE.

Ping Bodie's fence-busting exploits have been forgotten since First Baseman Louis Guisto donned Portland (Coast league) spangles. Guisto graduated last June from St. Mary's college. In Portland's first twelve games this spring he combined seven homers. One of the circuit swats was made in a Sunday morning contest and two were added in the afternoon tilt.

Raising Children.

Whitesburg, Ky., May 11.—People in the neighborhood of Rockhouse Creek, near here, claim the acquaintance of the champion father of the country!

"Uncle Bob" Bates is 91 years of age and the father of 24 children!

The oldest is 54, the youngest 3. "Uncle Bob's" descendants number well over 100. Some say there are many great-grandchildren alone, not counting the grandchildren or the great-grand-kiddies, of whom there are at least 10.

"Uncle Bob" confesses he can't count his flock, outside his children.

"Lay, man, ask me something easy!" he pleaded when the subject came up. Thirteen children still live at home. The other 11 are married and their families are scattered. "Uncle Bob" has been married twice.

At home this venerable Kentucky father is still the unquestioned master. His policies are the householders. He lives by rule and by rule he governs.

Here are some of his rules and policies about raising children:

"It don't pay to pamper young-uns. 'Bring children up to respect you and they'll respect themselves."

"Children have got to be taught to save."

"I'm partial to girls. They stay at home. Boys get out. They got too, I reckon."

"A good wife is th' best of all. A man can't get ahead without her. My wife helps me a heap. That's th' way it ought to be."

"Don't Worry! Don't Hurry!" He says "Uncle Bob's" children are seldom sick. When they are, he says, a dose of sassafras tea is medicine enough.

"Uncle Bob" has not been sick a day in his life. He is 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 180 pounds. He stands straight and walks with a spring. He has the shoulders and chest of perfect build.

"Looky here, you all!" he said, as he jumped into the air and clicked his heels together twice before coming down.

He does not smoke or drink. He doesn't worry and he doesn't hurry. He loves life, but he doesn't fear death.

"Uncle Bob" and his family live in a house that is 75 years old. The house has bare floors and newspapers are pasted on the walls.

But "Uncle Bob" owns most of the mountain around Rockhouse Creek. He is a bank director. He is said to be worth $100,000.

He has his rules and ideas about saving money, too.

"Save Money, Don't Spend It."

"Savin' money, not spendin' it, is the best way," he says.

"The trouble with most folks is they make money too easy. It goes easy."

"I've gone hungry to save a quarter many a time. And I ain't never been sorry."

One would expect a man who owns most of the mountains in his section and who is worth $100,000 to live in a fine house, but "Uncle Bob" prefers the old house and the bare floors.

"Ain't it what I was brought up to?" he asks. "Then, I'm askin' you, why should I change?"

"I wouldn't be comfortable walkin' around on carpets and drinkin' out of china cups. Folks that live like that die too quick."

PARK DIAMONDS IN GOOD SHAPE

Superintendent Carl J. Getz, of the park board, has gone over the baseball diamonds in Weissner, Lawton and Foster parks and they are in splendid condition for the games of the shop league Saturday. The heavy storms did little damage to the grounds over the last week-end, and park workmen have fixed them up in such shape that they will be as speedy as professional diamonds by Saturday.

America heads the list with 66,662 postoffices, German is second, with 49,848; then follows England, with 33,738; Russia, with 18,000; France, with 13,000, and Italy and Austria, each with 9,500.

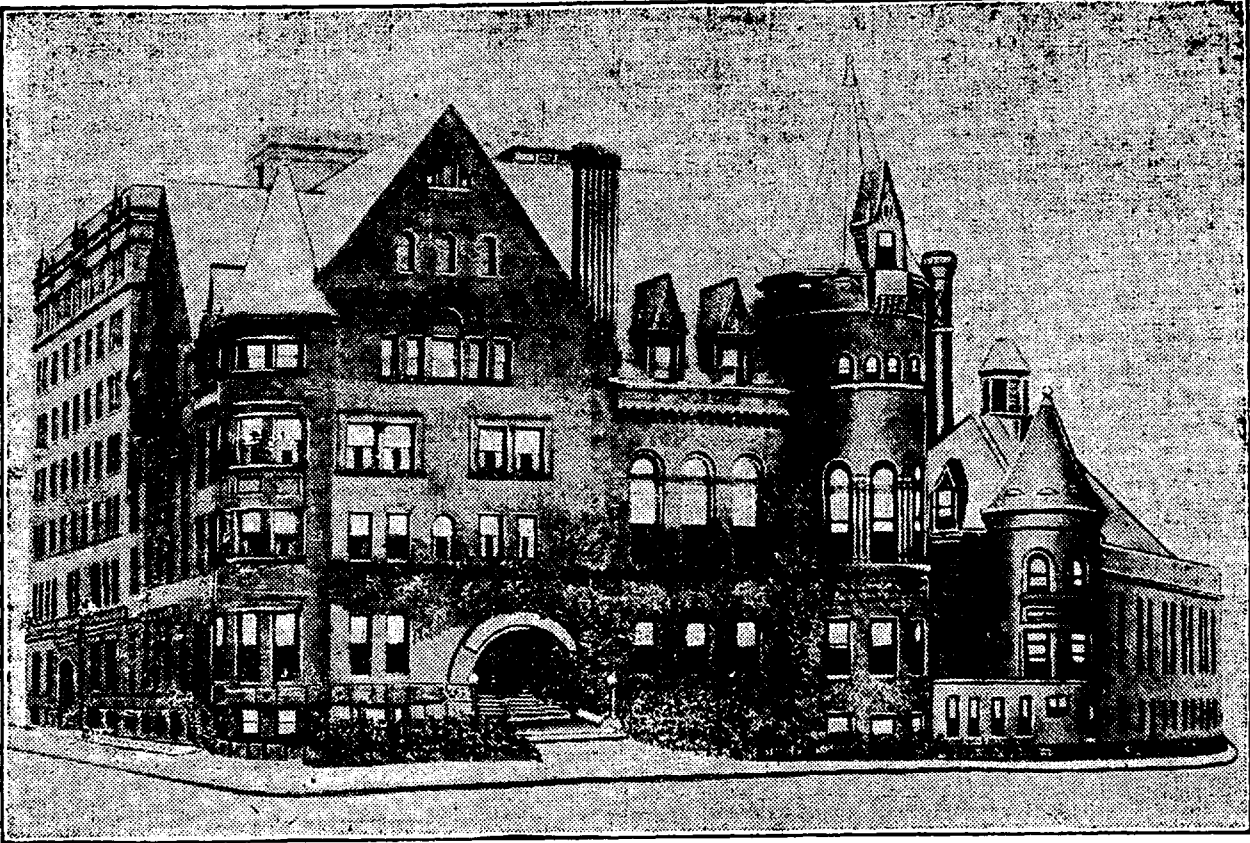

LEG AMPUTATED.

As the result of an old injury in which gangrene had set in, Cornelius Rademacher, proprietor of a saloon at 619 Calhoun street, submitted to an operation Wednesday at St. Joseph's hospital for the amputation of his right leg just above the knee. A week ago it was amputated above the ankle. Mr. M. I. Rosenthal performed the operation. Five years ago Mr. Rademacher bruised his leg in a bicycle accident and although he thought the injury was only a minor one gangrene recently developed.

CAN YOU TAKE A CENTENNIAL VISITOR?

Committee Wants to Know if You Have Rooms to Rent.

CHANGE IN REHEARSAL NOTICE.

Members of the pageant cast will kindly give attention to the following announcements:
On Saturday evening, May 13, at 8 o'clock, all "extras" for scene 4 will respond for rehearsal. At 9 o'clock, all principals of scene 4 will respond for rehearsal. This is a change from the published schedule.
Also: All men holding cards marked "Continental" and who are not high school cadets, and all those who hold cards marked "Kentucky Volunteers" should report for rehearsal at 8 o'clock Friday evening, May 12.

Have you any rooms for rent to the home-comers who will be here for the Centennial?
If so, send a card or letter to the Centennial Association, Commercial Club, Fort Wayne, Ind., giving (1) your name, (2) address, (3) rate per day, and (4) any further information which will help the home-coming committee to provide accommodations for the hundreds of former citizens who will accept the invitation to "come home" for the celebration.

MY TIRED FEET ACHED FOR "TIZ"

Let your sore, swollen, aching feet spread out in a bath of "Tiz."

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "Tiz" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "Tiz" bath.
When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "Tiz." It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.
There's nothing like "Tiz." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.
Get a 25 cent box of "Tiz" as any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire—Advertisement.

Coast and Geodetic Survey
Head Gives Some Little Known Facts.

BY DR. E. LESTER JONES
Superintendent Coast and Geodetic Survey.

Washington, D. C., May 11.—To all nations whose territories touch the sea or who have any interests in the commerce of the sea, a full and complete knowledge of the coast, its nature and form, the character of the sea bottom near it, the location of reefs, shoals and other dangers to navigation, the rise and fall of the tides, the direction and strength of the currents, and the character and amount of magnetic disturbance is of the greatest practical value.
To supply this knowledge the governments of the principal maritime nations have in modern times made surveys of their coasts by the most exact methods, and it was for this purpose that the United States coast survey was organized 100 years ago.
In 1871 the scope of the survey's work was enlarged and in 1878 its designation was changed to "The Coast and Geodetic Survey."

The word "geodetic" refers to the various operations and investigations in which the curvature of the earth's surface is taken into account, instead of treating the surface as a plane as is the case in ordinary surveying.
Today the work of charting the 100,000 miles of detailed shore line and adjacent waters of the United States and its possessions is being carried on by the 10 steamers operated by the survey and by various launch and shore parties.

The depths of water so determined are afterwards shown on a nautical chart in their proper relation to the shore line and to the parallels and meridians marked on the chart, with light-houses, buoys and all topographic features which may aid the mariner, indicated by symbols in their proper location.

As a basis for the determination of geographic positions to be furnished to state surveys, and to serve in the accurate location of national, state and county boundaries, and as a foundation for other government surveys and for map makers and surveyors, the latitude and longitude of a network of points over the entire country must be determined, together with the distances and directions between them. This the coast and geodetic survey does. Connected with this are star observations for latitude, longitude and azimuth, and the swinging of pendulums to measure the force of gravity. The survey has several fixed observatories.

But the engineer and surveyor is not content to know simply the latitude and longitude of a place, he needs to know its elevation above sea level as well. The precise leveling of the coast and geodetic survey extends along many of the principal railway lines of the country.

Both the navigator at sea and the surveyor ashore need to know the amount the compass north varies from the true north. For instance, in the northeastern part of Maine the magnetic needle points 22 degrees west of north, while in the northwestern part of the state of Washington it points 25 degrees east of north, a difference of 47 degrees within the limits of the United States.

Moreover, the angle between the compass and the true meridian is constantly changing. To determine the amount and rate of the error of the compass, as well as the inclination and intensity of the magnetic force, a great number of observations are made annually.
The principal publications of the survey consist of 645 different charts, covering all the coasts of the United States and its outlying insular possessions; annual tide tables for all the principal and many of the minor parts of the world; the most comprehensive volumes of this class issued by any country; coast pilots, containing sailing directions for all navigable waters along our coast; special publications in a form suitable for use by surveyors and engineers; the annual report of the superintendent on the conduct of the work; and special reports upon the various technical and scientific operations of the service.

NOTED LUTHERAN IS DEAD.

Rev. Irwin R. Ritter Succumbs to Paralysis at Allentown, Pa.

Allentown, Pa., May 11.—Rev. Irwin R. Ritter, 47, president of the Allentown conference of the Lutheran church and widely known in that denomination, died today as the result of a stroke of paralysis suffered last Sunday morning while cranking his automobile.
The Rev. Mr. Ritter's brother-in-law, the Rev. O. E. Penstetter, dropped dead several years ago while cranking an automobile and his father, Dr. Nathaniel Ritter, was killed several months ago in an automobile accident.

MISS ARIE HART.

Miss Hart, who resides at Huntington, is another one of the hunters in the Sentinel's big auto campaign.

the answer is quite as reasonable: The entire plan of the Centennial celebration has been to provide the greatest means to cultivate the community spirit—to make Fort Wayne people love their city more than ever before. Therefore, this great pageant has been prepared. It is a production for which every man and woman of means should be glad to pay many times the price which has been asked. In truth, every adult is being admitted to the pageant at a very low price—indeed, the price of a ticket is a children's price, and their elders are allowed to take advantage of it.

Said one parent yesterday: "I would prefer to pay several times the price of a ticket rather than have my boy miss this pageant. It is worth ten times as much to him as it is to me. It will make such an impression on his mind that he will never forget it down through the years. Indeed, it is a blessing to be able to bring this before our children and I, for one, am glad to do everything I can to show my appreciation of the great good which is to come to my boy through this pageant."

MORE LADIES AT WORK.

Church Women Boost the Sale of Tickets for the Pageant.

Still they come! Many willing workers in the churches—the women, of course—are busy selling tickets for the great Fort Wayne pageant, and all because they are glad to help to make a success of the stupendous public enterprise.

Here are the latest churches to enroll in the good work, together with the chairmen of the working committees:
First Presbyterian—Mrs. Fred H. McCulloch, East Berry street.
Emanuel Evangelical Lutheran—Mrs. Sutmeyer, 1205 Jones street.
Grace Reformed—Miss Ruth Gumpert, 1209 West Wayne street.
Church of the Precious Blood, (Catholic)—Mrs. Streibig, 1418 Wells street.
Trinity German Lutheran—Mrs. Koch, High and Oakland streets.
Bowler Free Methodist—Mrs. S. F. Bowser, East Creighton avenue.
Zion's Evangelical Lutheran—Mrs. Otto Scheimann, 241 West Sutherland avenue.
Third Presbyterian—Mrs. Clint R. Wilson, 2426 Hoagland avenue.
Church of God—Mrs. M. L. Dull, 3102 Webster street.
Westminster Presbyterian—Mrs. John M. Evans, 823 West Washington street.
The First Evangelical Women.

The following women of the First Evangelical church, acting under the direction of the chairman, Mrs. J. O. Coff, are doing good work:
Mesdames Charles Carrel, H. P. Paulish, S. Eichenhehr, Anna Stan, Tom Hazlett, R. Humble, Henry Gable, John Grodian, W. H. Boucher, C. E. Howard, Fred Sellers, E. M. Osborne, J. Harrod, W. N. Hoferman, C. Stahl, Goldie Stepher, William Stahl, Emma Ohnisk, N. J. Bachelier, Edgar Stapleton, E. S. Johnson, G. F. Brouwer, B. F. Bennett, F. M. Cuthall, H. L. Bley, E. L. Mertz and O. B. Moore, and the Misses Mary Stecher and Cora Currie.

Ladies of the Synagogue.
Mrs. Ben Levy, chairman of the ladies' committee of Achduth Veshalom synagogue, announces the following members of her committee to sell tickets for the pageant: Miss Trauerman, Miss Levy, Miss Karm, Mrs. S. T. Latz, Mrs. Ralph Clark, Mrs. J. M. Rosenthal and Mrs. Louis Heilbronner.

SAYS COSTA RICA BIRDS NEVER FORGOT

Columbus' Men Raided Them Long Ago, Declares Roger Babson.

By Roger Babson.
Costa Rica, May 11.—Are you fond of birds? If so, you would enjoy Costa Rica. Scientists say there are 600 different kinds in Costa Rica.

There are black, white, blue and red birds, and birds of every other color. You hear parrots talking and canaries singing all the time.

There are beautiful tiny humming birds which dart back and forth like bullets, and great eagles fly from one mountain top to another.

Butterflies are also numerous. They are beautiful and are sold by natives to great Parisian dressmakers as suggestions for designs and colors.

Perhaps you have seen a butterfly jewelry. The butterfly mounted thereon probably came from South or Central America.

A pretty little story is told about these birds of Costa Rica. It is said the Indians were always very good to all birds and that some birds the Indians would allow no one to harm under any circumstances. As a result, the birds are very tame.

So when Columbus and his men landed upon the shores of Costa Rica the birds came down to give them a cheerful welcome. But the Spaniards with stones and arrows killed many birds. The rest flew away and told the other birds throughout the island what wicked things had been done to them.

Of course the little birds could not tell a Spaniard from an Indian, and so they soon began to fly away whenever they saw any man.

It made the Indians feel badly to have the birds afraid of them. The Indians therefore felt very bitter toward the Spaniards for their ill-treatment of the birds. Hence the Indians determined to drive Columbus and his men away from Costa Rica. This was the beginning of the fight between the Spanish and the natives. Finally the Spanish won.

This experience with the birds—if the story is true—must have been a lesson to the people of Costa Rica, during those preceding centuries, in many ways. For today Costa Rica is one of the healthiest countries in the tropics. The rich people of San Jose recognize that their children's lives can be safe only as the lives of all the children in the city are protected. Hence the streets of San Jose are kept clean and even the poorest people are taught how to keep well.

W. M. Crane Was Chief Freight Clerk Here 41 Years Ago.

W. M. Crane, of Santa Ana, Cal., is in Fort Wayne on a visit to his old home town. Forty-one years ago, Mr. Crane was chief clerk of the Empire freight line office, then located on Court street. At that time his father was one of the leading attorneys here, a member of the firm of Crane & Smith. Mr. Crane is accompanied by his sister, Mrs. S. C. Hoagland.

Iron Is Greatest of All Strength Builders, Says Doctor

Ordinary Nuxated Iron Will Make Delicate, Nervous, Run-down People 200 Per Cent. Stronger in Two Weeks' Time in Many Cases.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Most people foolishly seem to think they are going to get renewed health and strength from some stimulating medicine, secret nostrum or narcotic drug, said Dr. Sauer, a well known specialist who has studied widely in this country and Europe, when as a matter of fact, real and true strength can only come from the food you eat. But people often fail to get the strength out of their food because they haven't enough iron in their blood to enable it to change food into living matter. From their weakened, nervous condition they know something is wrong but they can't tell what, so they generally commence doctoring for stomach, liver or kidney trouble or symptoms of some other ailment caused by the lack of iron in the blood. This thing may go on for years, while the patient suffers untold agony. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while, double their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate or tincture of iron simply to save a few cents. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated like nuxated iron if you want it to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless. Many an athlete or prize fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance and filled his blood with iron before he went into the arena, while many another has gone down to inglorious defeat simply for the lack of iron.

NOTE: Nuxated Iron recommended above by Dr. Sauer is not a patent medicine nor secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists and whose iron constituents is widely prescribed by eminent physicians everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy in nearly all forms of indigestion, as well as for nervous, run-down conditions. The manufacturers have such great confidence in Nuxated Iron that they offer to forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 60 who lacks iron and increase their strength 200 per cent or over in four weeks' time provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by Dreier Drug Co., Meyer Bros. Co. and all other druggists.—Advertisement.

NEARLY 300 AT BANQUET.

B. R. T. Entertainment Attracts Big Crowd.

Beneath American flags and surrounded by patriotically decorated walls at Unity hall last night, Fort Wayne lodge, No. 136, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, the members of the two ladies' auxiliaries, Nos. 55 and 436, enjoyed a 6 o'clock dinner and later a dance and card program which ranked among the most brilliant of the many events of a social character given in that hall. The affair was the annual blow-out of Fort Wayne lodge, No. 136, and it was conducted under the management of an entertainment committee consisting of W. E. Ferguson, chairman; Frank E. Breeding and R. E. McNally. Supper was served at 5:30 o'clock by a committee of which Mrs. L. DeWitt was chairman, and 261 covers were laid. The excellent music for the dance program was furnished by Mrs. Dentrick and Miss Cahill.

CONDITIONS IMPROVING.

Wabash Crop Report Carries Encouraging News.

Weather conditions for farming in Indiana, Michigan and Ohio are improving and prospects for a crop in all except wheat are good, according to the weekly Wabash crop report, just received by Commercial Agent A. L. Gilbert. Wheat will yield a 50 per cent crop, many fields having been plowed and planted in other crops, but the conditions are no worse than reported last week. The oats, of which there is a large acreage, is all sown and prospects for an excellent crop are good. Soil is in splendid condition for corn planting and this work is now in progress, though retarded in places by wet weather. All pastures are in excellent shape and the hay promises a big crop.

CLEANED OUT ROBBER GANG.

Information, the news pamphlet issued by the Pennsylvania publication department, was devoted this week to an illustrated account of a fight between two desperate yeggmen and two Pennsylvania patrolmen, at Rogers station, on the Green Springs branch of the system, eleven miles from Baltimore. One of the yeggmen, George Hardy, was killed and his pal, Edward Carney, was captured and one of the patrolmen was severely wounded. These yeggmen had committed many crimes in and about Baltimore and the civil authorities were unable to break up the gang. Then the Pennsylvania police department took up the hunt and the fight was the result. Patrolman Ira W. Truitt and Patrolman Mell F. Scott came across the desperadoes at Rogers station and a running fight resulted. Patrolman Scott was wounded, but Patrolman Truitt escaped injury. The story as told by "Information" is thrilling and shows that the patrolmen were possessed of remarkable courage.

ASSEMBLING CARS FOR TROOPS.

The Nickel Plate sent thirty tourist cars east yesterday to be used in transporting the Thirtieth regiment from the barracks at Plattsburg, N. Y., to the Mexican border. The regiment will commence to move next Tuesday. The Nickel Plate is also receiving a good deal of passenger business from the sugar beet workers from the east to the Michigan fields. It is expected to handle over 400 people and of the number 250 will come from Cleveland, Canton, Barberton and Akron. There will be many women and children among these people.

SUPT. O'BRIEN BADLY HURT.

J. W. O'Brien, superintendent of the L. E. & W., sustained a fracture of the bones of one of his legs and some body bruises and lacerations A. B. Richards and Agent Daniel Somers, of New Castle, were scratched and bruised when the motor speeder they were riding jumped the tracks and threw them down an embankment. The accident happened a short distance out from Rushville and Supt. O'Brien was taken to the hospital at New Castle, where the broken bone was set and his other injuries attended to.

SECTION MAN INJURED.

Donald McKenzie, a young man employed as a section hand by the G. R. & I., is in the hospital at Kalamazoo in a serious condition. Last Tuesday the handcar on which he and other section men were riding was thrown from the tracks when a shovel got mixed up with the gear, and McKenzie had his back wrenched so badly that he has been unable to walk since. Dr. Bosman, of Kalamazoo, is attending the injured man. The section foreman was also injured, though not severely, in the same accident.

PREPARING FOR SPRING WORK.

Some of the maintenance of way officials of the Wabash were in the city today, looking over the field with a view of getting an idea of the work that will be necessary to put the property in first-class order for the summer. Among the officials present today were W. S. Danes, superintendent of maintenance of way; J. Gillis, division engineer; J. C. Lewis, master painter, and I. Wert, foreman of carpenters; A. F. King, assistant trainmaster.

E. Wilkens, formerly employed by the Ohio and Pennsylvania Coal company, took a position at the Pennsylvania boiler shop this morning.

Karl Bahlinger, machinist in Foreman F. C. Meyer's department of the Pennsylvania shops, is off duty on account of sickness.

W. A. Zimmerman, a riveter in the Bass boiler shop, had an eye badly burned yesterday by a hot scale of iron. The sight will not be permanently injured.

Nathaniel L. BenDure, an electrical worker, residing at 216 East Leith street, is quite sick at his home. Mr. BenDure is a member of the Electrical Workers' union.

The Electrical Workers held a meeting last night and took in five members and took action on the applications of nine more seeking admission.

This evening C. E. Szink will resume his duties in the night gang at the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop. He was sick a month.

Dr. F. J. Schulz, surgeon for the General Electric works, was called upon yesterday to dress a wounded finger for William Fry and a wounded hand for Fred Feuchter. The finger was crushed by iron falling upon it and Mr. Feuchter's hand was punctured by a file. Two

URGES SUBWAY AT SHERMAN STREET

Board Presents Matter to
Engineers of the New York Central.

The presence at the city hall of L. B. Holt, assistant engineer of the New York Central lines, and W. H. Haley, resident engineer at Toledo for the same company, gave the board of works an opportunity, Thursday afternoon, to urge upon the railroad men the city's desire to construct a temporary subway at Sherman street and the Lake Shore tracks in Fort Wayne. The board is anxious to get an opening of the street across the tracks and a subway is favored. Messrs. Holt and Haley, in company with James B. Clize, Fort Wayne agent for the New York Central lines, called on the board to ask for the abandonment of an old drive across the company's yards on the north side and the opening of a new thoroughfare that shall be an extension of Elizabeth street. The company wishes to put its new roundhouse where the old drive cuts through the shop and roundhouse grounds. This drive was never established as a thoroughfare, but the city has had possession of it for almost half a century.

HOME FOLKS HAVE FIRST CALL.

Board of Works Do Not Think Well of Cleveland Men's Garbage Plan.

If the disposal of Fort Wayne's garbage is to be contracted to private concerns, Fort Wayne concerns that submit proposals will be given first call by the board of works. The board does not think much of the formal proposal submitted by J. H. Johnson and H. A. Brothers, the Cleveland men, who want to take over the garbage, the city to pay them 50 cents a ton to dispose of it. The Cleveland men want undrained and unwrapped garbage, which the board figures would so vastly increase the tonnage as to more than wipe out any gain there might be from the fact that the city would have only to collect the waste. It is held by the board that the proposition as it stands would not effect any distinct economy over burning the garbage in a municipal incinerator, especially since the contract with the DeCarie company provides that the cost of burning shall not exceed 50 cents a ton. Fort Wayne interests that are figuring on a disposal contract have stated that they will accept garbage that is drained and wrapped, a condition that the board will probably insist upon if a contract should be made.

BOARD OF WORKS PROGRAM.

The board of works, Thursday evening, will have up for confirmation a resolution to vacate old Canal street, from Monroe street to Clay street. This never had legal status as a thoroughfare, but the vacation will be made to clear the title to property that recently changed hands. The board will have up for consideration declaratory resolutions for opening a Berger avenue, from Piqua avenue to the first alley west and for the opening of Meridian street, from Hoffman street to the first alley north.

FIVE MEN AUTHORIZED TO END CAR STRIKE

Conference With Traction
Officials is Held Thursday Afternoon.

Settlement of the strike of the street car men that has been on since September 27 of last year is believed to be a matter of a very few hours as a result of a conference which started at 2:30 o'clock, Thursday afternoon, between officials of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company and a committee of five appointed at a meeting Thursday morning representing the labor interests of the city. The conference was in progress at the time of going to press. Representatives of the various labor interests at a meeting Thursday morning the following committee was appointed to confer with traction officials: Joseph D. Shaw, A. C. Boerger, John C. Workman, Julian J. Perry and Frank H. Schwartz. This committee has been given complete authority by the Federation of Labor and the local union of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees to act as it sees fit. It can abandon the strike, compromise or enter into any sort of agreement, the carmen having agreed to abide by whatever it does. The conference with the traction officials will determine what future action is to be taken, but those familiar with the situation are of the opinion that a settlement of the differences is close at hand.

SPEED RULES IN FOG CALLED INDEFINITE

Commission Returns Finding on Wreck Which
Cost Lives of 27.

Washington, May 11.—The wreck on the New York Central lines near Cleveland, O., March 29, in which twenty-seven persons were killed and forty-seven injured, was due, the interstate commerce commission held today, to the failure of Engineer Hess to see the signals or to read them properly on account of the dense fog in which his train was running. "The record of this accident," the report states, "together with a careful consideration of a record of accidents where-in employees have failed to obey fixed signal indications since July 19, 1911, brings forcibly to mind the fact that the rules relative to speed permitted during foggy weather are in many instances indefinite and vague."

SPEAKERS ANNOUNCED FOR NEXT SUNDAY

Y. M. C. A. Field Day Exercises Will Be Held in Many Churches.

Twenty speakers from distant cities, many of them of national reputation, will participate in the Young Men's Christian Association field day exercises to be held Sunday in the churches of the city. Among the speakers will be men prominent in the business world, attorneys, politicians, educators—all of them vitally interested in promoting the work of the Young Men's Christian Association.

The list of speakers is as follows: C. O. Holmes, president of the South Side Trust & Savings company, Gary; Mayor James O. Batchelor, Marion; Dr. J. R. Morgan, president of Johnson Abstract company, Kokomo; Samuel Pettengill, attorney, South Bend; Judge James A. Collins, of the Marion county criminal court, Indianapolis; Arthur Deamer, superintendent of the Laporte schools; John C. Haswell, of the malleable iron works, Dayton; Warren R. Vorhis, attorney, Kokomo; E. B. Waver, of the waterworks company, Kokomo; Ralph E. Richmond, deputy state fire marshal, Indianapolis; Edgar Webb, Indianapolis; E. E. Stacy, state secretary of Y. M. C. A.; A. W. Hanson, assistant state secretary; Dean Trowbridge, Michigan City; I. B. Potts, Huntington; Hervey S. McGowan, well known author, Dallas, Tex.; E. L. Mogge, campaign director. The assignments will be announced Friday.

DECATUR LINE MAY BE EXTENDED SOUTH

Petition is Filed Asking
Public Service Commission to Approve Sale.

That the Decatur line may be extended southward may be the result of the recent sale of the property to a new corporation financed by Henry C. Paul. Through Attorneys Vesey & Vesey a petition was filed with the Indiana public service commission, Wednesday, in which it is asked to approve the purchase of the road. James Haberly is president of the new company, Dr. M. Vesey, secretary, and Dr. Gaylord M. Leslie, treasurer.

Officials of the new company contend that in order to make the road realize much on the investment it will have to be extended. The line is only twenty-two miles long and the only two towns connected are Fort Wayne and Decatur. Tractor Notes.

According to the report received by General Manager Sam W. Greenleaf, of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company from James J. Brennan, superintendent of transportation, on the trainmen's examination, the general average was 99 per cent.

GREAT GAINS FOR W. C. T. U.

which were donated by a Calhoun street florist, were the subject of much comment. Some of the work which attracted a great deal of attention was the posters which were displayed by the New Haven Union. This union held a contest for school children last Tuesday and awarded prizes for the three best posters. A large map of Indiana, with all the county lines drawn in white on a piece of black cloth, was one of the winners. The counties which are now dry territory were colored white, while those which still retained the saloons were in black.

The evening session will convene at 7:45 o'clock and the feature of the program will be the practical demonstration of the thirty-seven departments of the Frances Willard Union of this city. Mrs. W. J. McCarthy, of Fort Wayne, will sing the W. C. T. U. song, "Victory." A large attendance is anticipated and the Associated Christian Workers will attend in a body.

The conference will again convene Friday morning at 10 o'clock. A franchise banquet under the direction of Mrs. W. J. Maxwell, superintendent of franchise work in Allen county, will be given at the Y. W. C. A. Friday evening at 6 o'clock. Miss Elizabeth Shier, president of the Franchise League of Fort Wayne, will preside as toastmistress. Those who will give toasts are Mesdames Martha Ridenour, Olaf Guldin, Ella Kraft and Florence Richards, president of the Ohio W. C. T. U. The main speaker will be Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, of the Indiana W. C. T. U. The annual session closes Friday evening.

The Ladies' Division. Campaign Director Mogge met with the ladies' division for the big campaign, Wednesday afternoon, and discussed at length the part that is to be taken by the women. Mrs. George P. Evans is general of the division and Mrs. J. S. House lieutenant general. The division will consist of fifty ladies, divided into five teams of ten workers, captained as follows: Co. 21, Mrs. M. S. Willson; Co. 22, Mrs. C. M. Vesey; Co. 23, Mrs. Christiana Metz; Co. 24, Mrs. J. R. Meriwether; Co. 25, Mrs. John P. Evans.

Many Acceptances. Acceptances to the business men's dinner limited to three hundred are coming in rapidly and there is little doubt but that the number for which preparations are being made will be present. The principal speakers of the evening will be Governor Samuel R. Ralston, Frank C. Ball, of Muncie, and E. E. Stacy, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Tickets may be secured at the Commercial club or the Y. W. C. A. S. F. Bower will act as toastmaster.

EARLY ARRIVALS AT THE CONFERENCE OF W. C. T. U. SUPERINTENDENTS.

The temporary headquarters of the campaign in the basement of the Y. W. C. A. building is perhaps the busiest place in the city at the present time. For the next two or three days fifty to sixty young women who have volunteered their services are assisting in the addressing of envelopes for the 12,000 pamphlets, giving in detail the Y. M. C. A. campaign, its purpose, the head of such an organization in Fort Wayne and much other information.

J. R. Morgan, of Kokomo, who will fill one of the local pulpits Sunday morning at the field day exercises will speak at the Y. W. C. A. vesper service at 4:30 o'clock, Sunday afternoon.

A meeting of the campaign executive committee will be held at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Commercial club.

TRY DAWSON FOR CRIMINAL ASSAULT

Indictment of Serious
Character.

After spending nearly two hours in the circuit court Thursday forenoon a jury was finally secured to try the case of the state against Robert J. Dawson for criminal assault under an indictment returned by the grand jury three weeks ago.

The state's chief witness is Elsie Harker, the 16-year-old daughter of Joseph Harker, of Monroeville. Dawson is a former soldier of the regular army, and styles himself a pugilist. He had been paying attention to the Harker girl, according to whose own story he had planned to elope. To this end the two stole $50 from a bureau in the girl's home, the money belonging to her father. Dawson then brought 16-year-old Ethel Taylor, of Monroeville, to Fort Wayne and the two were married. His arrest on a charge of grand larceny for stealing the money soon followed and he has been bound over to the circuit court on that charge for several weeks. The grand jury investigated his relations with the Harker girl and returned a true bill against him for criminal assault. The hearing before the jury will consume most of the day and may extend into Friday.

Wants Divorce and Alimony.

Edith Bucher has begun suit in the superior court against Floyd E. Bucher for divorce, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment, desertion and abandonment. They were married Aug. 10, 1910, and separated March 25, this year. She says he was constantly intoxicated, struck and beat her, called her vile and abusive names, and finally deserted her, refusing to give her support, forcing her to take employment for a livelihood, and told her to go live with her. The plaintiff asks for $1,000 alimony. She has procured an order to restrain the defendant from molesting her and from drawing his wages from the Brown Trucking company. Ira M. Snouffer appears for the plaintiff.

Trade Name to Be Protected.

Hon. Edward O'Rourke, sitting as special judge in the superior court, in the case of the Fairfield Trucking company vs. Jesse T. Peck and the Home Telephone company, has granted a temporary injunction restraining the defendants from designating in the city telephone directory the business of the Defendant Peck as the "Fairfield Avenue Trucking barn." The plaintiff alleged in his complaint that his business was suffering in profit and in repute by the use of a name similar to its own in the directory. Peck and Edward C. Fairfield, the latter of whom is the Fairfield Trucking company, were formerly in business together, Peck retiring.

Notes of the Courts.

In the suit of Ernest Kaiser vs. Simon W. Sommer for an injunction to restrain the defendant from blocking a lane between the farms owned by the parties, the superior court has sustained a motion by the defendant to dissolve the temporary restraining order and the plaintiff has taken an exception.

The superior court has granted a divorce to Katherine Bauss from Conrad Bauss.

The suit of Well Bros. & Co. vs. Elsie Burger to collect on a note has been set for trial June 23 in the superior court.

The suit of Nick John vs. the New York, Chicago & St. Louis railroad for damages, has been dismissed from the superior court.

The circuit court has sent to Adams county for trial on a change of venue the suit of Elizabeth and Frederick Kellerman vs. George Dager for $1,500 damages.

LUNATIC FIRES JAIL.

R. W. Grasbeck, an insane man arrested Tuesday by the police and later sent over from the city court to await an inquiry into his mental condition, caused some excitement about 9 o'clock Wednesday night by setting fire to the mattress in his bed at the county jail. The blaze was extinguished by the attendants and there was no damage to speak of. The report that there was a fire at the jail caused a great crowd to gather about the bastille and there was much excitement for a few minutes.

WAS NOT ASSAULTED.

That John Rogers, a tramp, slashed his throat and wrists with a razor in an effort to commit suicide or a purpose to arouse sympathy, and was not murderously assaulted by another tramp as he claimed, is the belief of Sheriff A. C. Gladieux and his deputies after an investigation. Rogers was found near Monroeville and told a harrowing story of having been set upon by a tramp with whom he was walking, badly cut, robbed of $10 and thrown into a pool of water. He said he had been wandering in the woods for a day or two since he was hurt. He was brought to the poor farm, where he is now receiving attention.

WILL ATTEND CHARITIES MEET.

County Auditor Will Johnson and County Commissioners W. C. Schrier, A. J. Black and H. A. Wetzel will leave Friday evening for Indianapolis to attend Saturday's session of the national conference of charities and corrections. The Allen County officials desire to be present at a discussion of city and county penal farms in which W. H. Whitaker, formerly superintendent of the Jeffersonville reformatory, and now superintendent of the District of Columbia's penal farm, will present the leading address. The commissioners hope to obtain enlightenment that will be of use to them in planning Allen county's penal farm.

LICENSED TO WED.

Howard F. Metcalfe, teamster, and Virginia M. Stewart. Paul W. Hitzemann, bookkeeper, and Hannah Wambagans. Robert A. Fritz, farmer, and Esther E. Nitzsche.

AWFUL PLUNGE INTO POTOMAC

of Cleveland, Ohio, bruised and badly shaken up, were taken to the Alexandria hospital. The third rescued man received only slight bruises.

The two missing men are Louis Krant, a mechanic from the Newport News aviation camp, and Charles Good, of Ohio, a student aviator from the camp. The machine left the Washington navy yard about 7 o'clock this morning for the flight to the Atlantic coast aerodrome station at Newport News. When about a mile from Mount Vernon, opposite Bryans Point, one of the propellers, which had worked loose, was thrown off its axle and the machine plunged into the river.

The navy tug Triton made a thorough search of the wrecked aeroplane, but no trace of the two missing men was found. The Triton towed the wrecked machine to Wexford. The army tug Wetherill went out to search for the two missing men and a couple of private tugs joined in the hunt.

HINGES ON OBREGON.

Parley Will Be Futile Unless Mexican Acts Favorably.

El Paso, Texas, May 11.—Upon General Obregon depends today the outcome of the negotiations begun between him and Generals Scott and Funston some days ago. Unless he signs the agreement entered into by him and Gen. Scott, or is prepared to make radical concessions, it appeared probable that the American representatives would indicate to Washington the uselessness of further parleys.

Mexican officers in Juarez did not believe, however, that a failure to arrive at an understanding here would mean more than a transfer to diplomatic channels. The meeting of the conference was arranged with the idea of giving Carranza's minister of war an opportunity to make his next, and what was generally believed, would be his last move. Just what more General Obregon had planned was unknown to the American representatives, although he had told them in the last conference that his government would favor a joint border patrol. This suggestion, it was expected, would be included in the written memorandum Gen. Obregon agreed to present.

Lorain high school boys have gone to the assistance of Master Mechanic Anderson, of the Baltimore & Ohio shops at that point, who has appealed for laborers to assist in car repair work. Last Saturday eight high school boys worked at the shops. Twenty others will join the gang next Saturday.

41 MEN ADRIFT IN LIFEBOATS SOUGHT

San Luis Obispo, Cal., May 11.—Forty-one members of the crew of the steamship Roanoke, operated by the California South Seas Navigation company, which turned turtle and sank when its cargo shifted during a gale 100 miles south of San Francisco, Tuesday afternoon, are missing today and the Union Oil company's tanker, Lausang, is cruising in the sea searching for four of the life boats in which the ship's company took refuge when the steamer went down. The fifth boat drifted ashore at Port San Luis yesterday, carrying three forsaken sailors and the bodies of five of their mates who had died from exposure.

Captain Richard Dickson and his wife are believed lost, according to the tale of the disaster told from their hospital cots by the three survivors. When the ship lurched before plunging downward, Mrs. Dickson was thrown into the sea and Captain Dickson jumped overboard to rescue her. They were not seen again.

The Roanoke left San Francisco Monday with explosives for South American ports. The arrival of the life boat at Port San Luis brought the first news of the tragedy. The three men were too exhausted to relate details. They did not know how far off shore the Roanoke sank or what had become of the other four boats. The Roanoke carried no passengers.

AGED RESIDENT OF CITY PASSES AWAY

Henry F. C. Baade, Retired
Car Inspector, Dies at
Age of 82 Years.

Henry F. C. Baade, a retired car inspector of the Wabash railroad, died at 11:15 o'clock Wednesday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Fred W. Tielker, 1306 Taylor street, at the advanced age of eighty-two years and four months. Death was due to infirmities of old age and followed an illness of one year, although he had been bedfast only the past two weeks.

Mr. Baade was born in Kries Minden, Germany, but came to Fort Wayne when he was sixteen years of age and had resided here ever since. After retiring as a car inspector eight years ago he became the caretaker of Concordia cemetery. He was a charter member of Trinity German Lutheran church, but recently had his membership transferred to Emmanuel church.

His wife preceded him in death sixteen years ago, but he is survived by one son, Henry F. Baade, of this city, one daughter, Mrs. Fred W. Tielker; one brother, William Baade, of this city; two grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Funeral services Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the late residence and at 2:30 o'clock at Trinity German Lutheran church, Rev. P. Wambagans and Rev. G. W. F. Dorge officiating. Interment at Concordia.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Brouwer—Funeral services for George Brouwer will be held Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the residence in Madison township, Rev. Lomberry, of Jonesboro, and Rev. Ziemer, of Monroeville, officiating. Interment at the I. O. O. F. cemetery at New Haven.

Keef—Funeral services for Mrs. Catherine Keef will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Miller, 3030 South Harrison street, and at 10 o'clock at St. Aloysius Catholic church near Sheldon.

Goers—Funeral services for August W. Goers will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence, 2515 Fox avenue, and at 2:30 o'clock at Emanuel Lutheran church, Rev. Philip Wambagans officiating. Interment at Concordia.

Lindling—Funeral services for Edwin J. Lindling will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence, 2126 Oakley street, Rev. J. H. Bosch officiating. Interment at the Lindling cemetery.

with considerable losses under the German fire, the war office announced today.

An official Turkish communication dated May 10, stated that two Turkish aeroplanes dropped bombs successfully on April 25 on the dry dock and oil tanks at Port Said.

A Cairo dispatch yesterday said eight bombs were dropped on Port Said on May 8, causing no property damage, but wounding three civilians.

The bill providing for compensation to property owners in Alsace, Lorraine and East Prussia for war damages, came before the Reichstag yesterday on first reading. Joseph Emmet, socialist member for Muelhausen Alsace, asked that reconstruction of destroyed villages be undertaken immediately, so far as may be practicable. Herr Siecher, people's party member for Gumbinnen, East Prussia, stated the Overseas News agency, says that more than 200 civilians were killed or maimed for life by Russian soldiers. It was charged that the invading Russians carried celluloid bars for the purpose of burning villages systematically.

All parties agreed upon complete restitution of destroyed property and relief for injured persons and for families deprived of those upon whom they were dependent for support.

IN THE CHURCHES

LAST VESPER SERVICES

Will Be Held at the Y. W. C. A. Next Sunday Afternoon.

The last vesper services until next fall will be held next Sunday afternoon at the Young Women's Christian association building and an interesting program to mark the close is being prepared. J. R. Morgan, of Kokomo, an active worker in Y. M. C. A. circles, will be the speaker. Mrs. J. S. House, chairman of the vesper committee, reports that there was an average attendance of fifty-seven at the vesper services during the month of April.

The city park board has reserved two courts at Swinney park each afternoon of the week to be used by the girls of the Y. W. C. A. All gymnasium classes have been dismissed for the summer at the association building after one of the most successful years in the history of the institution.

Social Side of Churches.

The Ladies' Missionary society of Bethany Presbyterian church meets Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. G. B. Stemen.

The Trinity M. E. Ladies' Aid society will give a rubber social at the church Thursday evening. A musical and literary program will be rendered.

The south side division of the Ladies' Aid society of the First M. E. church meets Friday afternoon with Mrs. Chilcote, 343 West Williams street. A sale of baked goods will be held in connection with the meeting.

The ladies' society of Plymouth church will meet in the parlors of the church Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. C. A. Bachelor is chairman, and those who will assist are the Mesdames A. Grosjean, H. H. Roose, L. B. Hulburd, Charles Tyger, Ed Sterling, Joel Weltz, W. J. Smith and James Morrow.

The Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church meets Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Bible class rooms of the church.

Trinity Parish Guild Elects.

The parish guild of Trinity Episcopal church at its regular meeting held Wednesday afternoon elected officers as follows: President, Mrs. Frances Haberly Robertson; first vice president, Mrs. J. M. Barrett; second vice president, Mrs. G. M. Leslie; third vice president, Mrs. Edward Combs; secretary, Mrs. George Trennum; treasurer, Miss Gertrude Green. Mrs. Chester Hoge, of Auburn, was a guest.

Play Will Be Repeated. The play, "Halfback Shorty," given Wednesday evening at Concordia Lutheran church school hall by members of the Waltham league, will be repeated, Thursday evening. The play is a college comedy full of life.

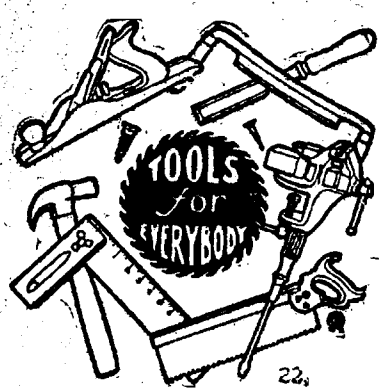

NEW UNIFORMS NEXT MONDAY.

The garments have arrived and are being distributed for the change from winter to summer uniforms by the passenger men on the G. R. & I. The change will be made Monday, May 15, at which time the Pennsylvania employees who wear uniforms will also don their summer suits.

LINCOLN HIGHWAY CAR PASSES THROUGH CITY.

SENTINEL WANT ADS ALWAYS GET RESULTS

IN FIVE WEEKS CAN WIN AUTOMOBILE

Still Plenty of Time for New Candidates to Enter and Forge to the Front and Seal the Lively Campaign for Possession of the Four Machines Offered by "The Sentinel."

The special offer of 100,000 extra votes on a combination of $25 worth of new subscription payments closed at 9 o'clock last night. The special ballots are being made out and will be mailed to all candidates entitled to them next Saturday. The ballots may be returned and voted, if desired, or they may be held until any future time during the campaign. Candidates are advised to check up their subscriptions now, when their ballots arrive, ascertain if the figures are correct. In case of error, notify the campaign department at once.

With a little more than five weeks in which candidates participating in the Sentinel's wonderful automobile and prize campaign may decide for themselves whether they will win one of the four cars, and with new candidates entering daily to claim the honors, present indications give no inkling of which way the wind will blow at the finish.

The coming week is expected to exceed all others in the number of new nominations received. This is accounted for by the fact that the remaining period of the campaign is about the right length for a quick, spirited race. No long-drawn-out affair, confronts those who enter now, and the ease with which new starters can amass votes places them in relatively the same position as the earlier entrants.

An announcement will be made within two or three days that will make an especially attractive appeal for both old and new candidates. Watch for it. But in the meantime, you can be getting ready for your spurt to victory by sending in your nomination today.

Though this new offer will not open for several days, candidates need not fear of losing anything by turning in their new subscriptions now. All new subscriptions will be credited on the offer, even though they are turned in before the offer starts. Four things are essential when a candidate secures a subscription to the Sentinel: The name of the subscriber, the address, the city or town, and ascertaining whether the subscriber is old or new. These four things candidates can easily observe, if ordinary precaution is taken, and are very necessary in order to enable the Sentinel to deliver the papers promptly and regularly, and also to allow the candidates to secure the proper number of votes to which she is entitled.

Assuming that a candidate is about to secure a subscription from one of her acquaintances, she no doubt knows the name of the prospect. The best way is to make sure by asking what the initials are, and how the name is spelled. Write it down on the receipt book at once; trusting to memory is apt to cause mistakes.

Then ask to what address the paper is to be delivered. This, of course, means the street and number. If it is an apartment house or hotel, do not be content with writing down the name of the establishment. The city or the town must not be forgotten. Too frequently the candidates leave that to the judgment of the campaign manager. Never send in or bring a stub with this important information omitted.

To find out whether a subscriber is new or old, ask to be the difficulty some candidates encounter. As a matter of fact, it is very easy to ascertain. Every person who has received the Sentinel when this campaign opened is an old subscriber. It matters not whether they have since discontinued and again renewed—they are old subscribers nevertheless.

One practice has come to light of candidate family to stop the paper, renewing it dates including the member of some agent under the name of some other member of the family at the same address. This does not make the subscription valid, and it will not gain extra votes. All such switching of subscriptions will cause the candidates to forfeit her votes thereon.

Every subscription received at the campaign department is verified by the auditing department.

If candidates will pay attention to these four rules, they will eliminate much trouble on all sides; it will save the candidate the time of rectifying the mistake; it will give the subscribers the very best service the Sentinel can give, and it will remove a wonderful amount of detail work and bother in the campaign office.

The vote standings of contestants will appear again in Saturday's publication, the count closing Friday, 6 p. m. An excellent opening still exists for new starters to enter now and claim one of the automobiles at the end of the campaign. Many young women are doing so, and their vote credits are equally as good as the earlier candidates. Time is largely what you make it. Temporarily, and you will never gain anything. Proper hustle on your part may accomplish as much in two or three days as others could do in as many weeks. It's up to you.

The New Roosevelt--What Is the Colonel Like Now?

Gilson Gardner Hobnobs at Oyster Bay With the Ex-President—Finds Him Fat, Fatter, Fattest and Working Harder Than Ever.

The Roosevelt of today is not the Roosevelt of the presidency—the Roosevelt America knew eight years ago. He is a different man, mentally and physically.

How has he changed?
How does he look today?
How does he think today?
How does he act today?

These are some of the questions we all want to have answered—we want to see the new Roosevelt just as though we were sitting face to face with him.

So the editor of this newspaper asked our Washington correspondent, Gilson Gardner, to go to Oyster Bay and talk to the new Teddy and set him down as he is.

Gardner, who has been a close friend of T. R. for many years, has done so; and we present here this illuminating study of Teddy as he has progressed. It is a fine contribution of contemporary political treatises.—Editor.

By Gilson Gardner.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., May 11.—The only thing that ever "got" Roosevelt was that South American trip. Keeping alive for weeks on small quantities of monkey meat and being shaken almost to death with tropical swamp fever made a difference to even his powerful physique. There were days when it was doubtful whether he would survive, and it has been a long fight to get back the vigor he had before he embarked on that unfortunate expedition. For months the fever hung on, and even last fall when I saw him at Oyster Bay I found he was still subject to mild attacks.

Now he seems quite his old self, in some things. The last meal I saw him eat reminded me of a breakfast on the Kronprinzessin Louise from London to New York in June, 1910. It was a case of "Yes, Karl, I guess I could eat another portion of that excellent steak." That was a pleasant contrast. Thick steaks, hard ribs, long ways and strenuous opinions strenuously expressed are the very make-up of the man.

Physically, Roosevelt is pretty hard now. He is not as hard as he was seven years ago after the journey afoot from the terminal of the East African railway to Gondokoro, which is 1,800 miles south of Khartoum. That was a wonderful physical experience—eight months in the open, camping, marching and hunting—and its result told when T. R. stood up before that Milwaukee audience with Schrank's bullet in his chest and delivered the half-hour speech he had intended to deliver.

That bullet, by the way, is today the least of Roosevelt's troubles. The thick hard chest muscles stayed what force it had after it had gone through his coat, the spectacle case and the manuscript of his speech, and it embedded itself about two inches deep in front of a rib. To a man in Roosevelt's physical trim a wound like that is a "mere scratch."

The colonel is a little heavier than he would like to be. His fighting weight would be about 190. Nowadays he finds himself creeping up toward the 200 mark, despite the hardest kind of work. And he does work.

Exercise is just as important a part of Roosevelt's daily life as meals. When four o'clock comes, no matter what the weather or who the visitor, he is off. It may be horseback, but it is more likely to be afoot. A Sagamore hat, a long coat and knickerbockers, heavy woolen stockings, thick-soled hobnailed tan walking shoes, unstarched white negligee shirt with collar attached, a loose four-in-hand tie, and the old rough rider hat. And this is his attire rain or shine on the long walks and rides.

If there are trees to be chopped he chops them, but there is a limit to the timber

FORT WAYNE MAN IS ELECTED PRESIDENT

O. L. Rogers Heads National Body of Penmanship Supervisors.

In recognition of the interest he has taken in the association and the splendid handling of the arrangements for the present convention, O. L. Rogers, supervisor of writing in the Fort Wayne schools, was elected president at the Thursday afternoon session of the National Association of Penmanship Supervisors, Cleveland, Ohio, was selected as the next meeting place.

Miss Cornelia Koch, of Evansville, was elected vice president, and G. G. Gudmundson, of Boone, Iowa, was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

The entire morning was devoted to a visit to the Jefferson and Washington schools. Besides the election of officers, Thursday afternoon, the delegates listened to the following addresses: "The Correlation of Penmanship," Rose Rosenthal, Columbia, Mo.; "From the Primary Supervisor's Viewpoint," Miss Gail Calhoun, supervisor primary work, Fort Wayne; "Blackboard Writing," C. P. Zaner, president of Zanerian college, Columbus, Ohio, and "Rural School Supervision," Miss Lillian Noonan, supervisor St. Louis county, Duluth, Minn.

A theater party will be given for the visitors at the Majestic theater Thursday evening. The closing session will be held Friday afternoon. The program is as follows: "Penmanship and Office Efficiency," by a business man; "Training Teachers," A. S. Gregg, supervisor of writing and drawing, Loraine, Ohio; "Habit Formation," H. G. Healey, Business Journal, New York; question box.

CAUGHT IN TIME TO PREVENT MARRIAGE

Flossie Siples, 16, Doesn't Wed Greek She Ran Off to Hillsdale With.

Flossie Siples, a 16-year-old miss residing at 3311 Broadway, was intercepted at Hillsdale, Mich., by the sheriff there just in time Thursday afternoon to prevent her marriage to a Greek restaurant keeper, known in Fort Wayne as "Little George," whose true name no one appears able to find out.

Miss Siples and the Greek eloped from Fort Wayne shortly before noon, arriving in the Michigan Gretna Green at 1:50.

Police Matron Fannie M. Winch and Deputy Sheriff Henry Branning, learning of the girl's departure, telephoned the sheriff at Hillsdale to prevent the marriage, if not too late.

The Hillsdale official late in the afternoon reported by telephone that he had the girl, having apprehended her just as the marriage was about to take place.

The Siples girl was taken from the Greek's Fort Wayne restaurant a day or two ago by Matron Winch and returned to her home. She is under arrest and will be returned here on a warrant. There is no charge against "Little George."

186 SIOUX INDIANS BECOME CITIZENS

Secretary Lans Has Part in Unique Ceremony at Yankton, S. D.

Washington, May 11.—The United States will gain 186 new citizens Saturday. They are Sioux Indians of Yankton, S. D.

Secretary Lane was on his way there today as the personal representative of the Great White Father—the president of the United States—to conduct the ceremonies. Incidentally he will present the Indians with patents to their allotted lands. The action will mark the first real step in Secretary Lane's policy of giving all competent Indians full control of their individual affairs, and placing them upon the same legal standing as all other American citizens. A feature of the ceremonies will be the presentation by Secretary Lane to each Indian of a leather purse, a small American flag and golden colored badge bearing the inscription, "A Citizen of the United States." He will then greet each Indian by his "white" name and the ceremonies will be ended.

GENTLE RUBBING ALWAYS HELPS VARICOSE VEINS

Says Swollen Veins are Dangerous and Ofttimes Burst Which Causes Much Suffering.

Rubbing the swollen veins nightly for about two minutes with a gentle upward stroke brings benefit to sufferers and is mighty good advice, says an authority.

blood in the veins flows that way, apply Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) with brush or hand.

Try this simple home treatment for a few days and improvement will be noticed, then continue until veins are reduced to normal. It is very concentrated and penetrating and can be obtained at any modern drug store. It is so powerful that it also reduces Gout and Venas. Meyer Drug Co. has Emerald Oil in the original bottle for 50 cents, and the demand is astonishing.

on Sagamore Hill; so he can't be felling trees all the time. One day I found him back of the barn pumping his Winchester into a big paper tower and lamenting bitterly two shots that had landed in the fourth circle from the center. Preparedness seemed quite inadequate when bullets could go so wide as that.

Inflexible system and a rigid application of the do-it-now principle are responsible for the colonel's immense accomplishments in work. He never puts off till tomorrow what, by any possibility, can be done today! He does things standing up. "This particular instant is the time for deciding anything to be decided. He comes into his study. He is in his old clothes. A visitor is talking to him; he picks up a bundle of new mail and goes over it. He answers questions while looking over the letters. He stops to make a note of something to be remembered. He gives a direction. He is busy all the time. He must be busy. He has his living to make. He turns out more copy daily than an average newspaper hack. He must earn the $25,000 a year paid him by the Metropolitan, for he has a big and expensive family and lives in an expensive way. The family is not so big now. Ted, Kermit and Ethel are married. Quentin and Archie are at school. But the house is always open with visitors coming and going and in-laws and grandchildren ditto. The colonel is not rich. He has something from his books. To these since he was in the white house, he has added one on African game trails, the South American exploration story, an autobiography and the recent Fear-God-and-Take-Your-Part collection of his magazine contributions. He never has taken money for speeches; in which respect he differs from most public men in these days, who from Bryan and Champ Clark down, have capitalized their publicity and eloquence on the Chautauqua platforms for many comfortable thousands of dollars.

Miss O. M. asks: "I have pimples, oily skin, and suffer from constipation, headache, and never feel strong and well. Please prescribe for me."

Answer: You should overcome constipation and cleanse the system of accumulated poisons by taking three-grain sulphur tablets (not sulphur) for several weeks or more. These tablets are very beneficial, especially in hot weather, as they have a tendency to cool the blood and improve its quality.

"Poorly" writes: "Being past middle age and observing that my nervous system is in bad shape, I write for a prescription. I do not gain strength from my food, am weak, listless, forgetful, sleepless at times, tired, and unable to act the part of a strong man of health, such as I was at one time."

Answer: Get from a well-stocked pharmacy a sealed tube of three-grain adenine tablets, which are especially made for those needing a strong, harmless, rejuvenating tonic. Astonishing and pleasing results follow and life and hope are renewed.

"A Fat Woman" asks: "Would you please prescribe a safe reducing remedy for too much fat?"

Answer: At this season many fat people suffer greatly as you do, and to all recommend that they reduce with five-grain arboles tablets, the most successful and convenient prescription I know of. Druggists supply in sealed tubes, with full directions.

"Edna" writes: "I suffer with rheumatism all the time and I shall be very glad if you can tell me something to relieve me."

Answer: I can give you a prescription which will not only relieve, but should obliterate your rheumatism. This is my favorite remedy, and from the number of letters received from people who have used it proves its value in rheumatism. The following is made by mixing well, taking a teaspoonful at meal times and again before retiring: Comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; syrup sarsaparilla comp, 5 oz.; iodide of potassium, 2 drams; wine of colchicum, 1/2-half ounce; sodium salicylate, 4 drams.

Miss C. W. R. asks: "I have tried for two years to diet so as to increase my weight and improve the quality of my blood, but in vain. Please prescribe for me?"

Answer: Thin, scrawny, bloodless people need assistance in absorbing nutrition from the food eaten, and for this purpose I always prescribe three-grain hypos-nuque tablets, a most effective preparation if regularly and persistently used, as it seems to increase the food and white corpuscles of the blood, thus affording health, strength, and increased weight.

M. J. B. asks: "My hair is too oily and my scalp itches with dandruff, and of late it is coming out too much. What is a good treatment?"

Answer: Obtain plain yellow minyol from your druggist in 4-oz. jars and apply as per directions. This cleanses, purifies, cools and invigorates the hair and scalp, thus stopping the death of the hair. Dandruff and itching are at once relieved. Men and women all over the country now use it regularly.

"Essex" writes: "What should I do to relieve a severe case of kidney and bladder disease? Urine is dark, foul of odor and passage is irregular, painful, etc. Have depressing fever, chills, pains like rheumatism, and soreness in region of bladder."

Answer: For such symptoms as you describe I prescribe my favorite formula under the name of balmwort tablets. This is a splendidly efficacious remedy for such abnormal conditions. Begin their use as per directions on each sealed tube.

POOR OLD RUBE

The indefatigable S. H. Hadley told the following true story sometime before his death. Most men who come to the McAuley Mission have nothing on when they come there except a few rags. They are the most dreadful looking men you ever saw in your life. A man came there a little while ago; his name was old Rube Johnson. He worked well until he was fifty years old; then he quit work, and went to drinking whiskey for a living. I never saw such a drunkard in my life. He was sent to me by Stephen Merritt. I took care of him, and he was the kind of a man that would make you think you had a bishop of the Methodist church in your house—a most venerable old hypocrite, and the biggest liar on earth. He would come in every night when we were about ready to kneel down. He was always drunk. He was one of the men that wear a linen duster in the winter, and an ulster in the summer. I never saw his match. Hair as white as snow; seventy years old. He would say "You had better not kneel down until I come." He would kneel down and would make the men and women, and keep the boys laughing. That man worried the life out of me. One night I took him by the scruff of the neck and the seat of his pants and carried him out on the sidewalk, but he was back as quick as I was. One night he came in—the hottest kind of a night—and he had on an old overcoat fastened with a nail. He never went away without having riddled everybody there for five cents. A stranger was at the mission that night—a beautiful lady from up town. She pitied this white-haired, forlorn old man, sleeping out the coldest nights in winter, and she said, "Mr. Hadley, why don't that dear old man take off his overcoat?" I said, "Go and ask him." She stepped up to him graciously, and said to him, "My dear sir, why don't you remove your overcoat?" He said, "I prefer not to." "Why?" "I am afraid it will walk off." She came back and said, "I guess I won't ask any more questions in Water street." That man worried me for years. One night he came in very drunk, almost in delirium tremens, a common beggar of the street. I said to one of the work-drunk, "Go and speak to that old man." He went down and took him by the arm and brought him up, and he knelt down, and do you know, instantly all this disappeared. Here was a penitent, dying soul. We gathered around him. He cried to God for help and Jesus saved him right then and there on his knees. In all his rags, and filth, and drunkenness. That was ten years ago, and he is now in his eightieth year, but he doesn't look old as he did then. From that day to this he has been one of the most circumpect, conscientious, sweet Christian men I have known.

HOW DO YOU LIKE HIS COMPANIONS?

The Drunkard is not particular in his choice of companions—From the Los Angeles Herald.

BLESSED REMEMBRANCES

Rev. J. R. Miller, D. D.

Once you were in great perplexity. You seemed hopelessly shut in. You could see nothing but danger and loss. Then in a marvelous way God led you out into a large place. In your present gloom and fear, whatever it is, remember this former deliverance. Yesterday's mercy ought to be a guarantee for mercy today. Yesterday's kindness should keep your hearts warm in spite of today's hardness. "I will remember the years of the right hand of the Most High." Those were glorious years. They were full of sunshine. They were full of love. There were no troubles then. Everything was bright. The air was full of bird songs. The paths were strewn with flowers. All was prosperous. Now all is changed. The birds are not singing today. The flowers have faded. The friends are gone. Prosperity has given way to adversity.

But have you forgotten the past? Ought not the memory of the goodness of other blessed days to shine through the clouds of today and to touch them with glory? "I will remember the beautiful years that are gone, and remembering them will bring them back again." "Thank God for friends your life has known." For every dear departed day: The blessed past is safe alone—God gives, but does not take away. He only safely keeps above. For us the treasures that we love. Why are we so fickle in our faith and gladness? We are on the mountain top one hour and next hour we are away down in the dim valley. We have all the great and essential elements of happiness on a dark rainy day that we had on the bright day a week ago. We have God, we have hope, we have love. Why should we let a little drizzle, a gust of wind, and a flurry of sleet darken our mood and make all things seem hopeless for us? Why should one dreary day make us forget whole weeks of bright sunshine and fragrant air? Ought not the memory of the goodness of other blessed days to shine through the clouds of today and to touch them

And He Closed the Book

Jesus, in the synagogue, had read the scriptures and "He closed the Book." Truth had been spoken. How its principles might be put into effect was alone left to be considered.

What an atmosphere of finality surrounds those five words!

Over the entire west and south, men have "closed the book" on the prohibition question. The evidence is in; they are convinced. There only remains to consider the best methods of securing prohibition, final and effective.

This finality of opinion pervades all classes and is found in the queerest places. The man you would least suspect of being a prohibitionist will say, "O yes, I vote dry. Liquor doesn't pay." There is a matter-of-course sound in the way he says it.

On a river steamer a group began to discuss the war and soon the discussion became violent. No neutrality on that boat! One man was particularly violent and very profane—disgusting so! The discussion finally shifted to prohibition and this man proved an ardent dry.

"I contribute $15 a year to the dry cause in the same spirit that I pay my lodge dues," he said. "Liquor doesn't pay."

No, it doesn't pay. Every man is finding it out. Rich man, poor man, beggar man, thief. Wicked men, saintly men, capitalists, laborers and small shop-keepers throughout the west have "closed the book" on the liquor problem.

"WHAT'S THE USE?"

I have never believed that the difference in brains between individuals, whether men or boys, is what determines success or failure. There are few men and few boys who lack intelligence enough to do their work well if they choose.

The essential things which distinguish one individual from another, which give one man a higher place among his fellows and another a lower, are just two.

First of all, perseverance—the ability to keep everlastingly at it; and, secondly, imagination or vision—the ability to see beyond the present moment, and to understand that the work at hand reaches beyond the present moment, and so is worth while. There is nothing on earth, except actual dishonesty, which is so fatal to success in life as the spirit of "What's the use?"—Gifford Pinchot.

Time For a Health Inventory

A yearly health inventory is the newest form of industrial efficiency!

Numbers of big concerns now ask their employees to submit to yearly or twice yearly physical examinations by qualified physicians.

The idea is to detect and prevent further incursions of preventable diseases, and to detect the disorders that come from the wear and tear of modern life.

Too many men are dropping out at 50 who had they heeded the rules of right living would still have a credit account of 20 years more of active productive life.

They have gone on for years overtaxing the human machine. Working it to capacity and not giving it the proper repairs. The inroads of preventable diseases operate with this neglect, to sow the seeds of insidious disorders while the victims still think themselves in good health.

That is why a prominent life insurance company recently found that 43 per cent. of its rejected applicants gave evidence of disease of the heart, kidney and arteries. They also checked up and found that about 43 per cent. of their recorded deaths were due to like causes.

Had these victims taken periodical health inventories the breaking down of their internal mechanism would have been discovered in time to permit of patching and repairing.

Almost every cherished idol of life has been destroyed by modern sanitary science.

The swapping of chewing gum in early life, the prohibition of kissing during any stage of our existence, the dangerous dust from the family skeleton, are some of the limitations put upon us if we wish to live.

To cap the climax we are told that money is a most dangerous thing and that we should be very careful of its bad influences, and that when we are exposed to it in any "amount" we should insist upon its sanitary purity before accepting it.

There is many a true word spoken in jest, and therefore the public's attention should be called to the very common habit of placing money in the mouth.

Money may come from the most dangerous places, from pest holes, from a mouth in which a ravaging disease has lately left its sores, from anywhere. Let us impress it on your mind that such habits are a positive danger to health and life.

The mouth is the great port of entry to the body. Everything to sustain life must pass through it. Even the air we breathe in through our mouths leaves its trail of living germs which may develop in the warm fluids of the mouth.

The heavy mouth is protected by its skin, called mucous membrane, which, if perfect, guards the tissues and blood stream from the entrance of our infinitely small, but living enemies.

This mouth lining is further protected by a self-cleaning device to wash injurious germs in the stomach where they may be destroyed by digestion.

The teeth are not guarded in this way and there surfaces become covered with a sticky transparent coat. This coat cannot be seen until it is stained, whereupon it instantly stands out vividly to view.

This coat is made up of living germs, held together by mucus. It is often contains among many other germs, streptococci, capable, if admitted to the blood or tissues in sufficient numbers, of causing death.

The places of entrance in the tooth neighborhood are two, the gum margins leading to pyorrhea pockets and the open cavities in the tooth itself.

The gum margins are frequently injured and opened to infection. An inflammation at an injured point enlarges the openings by ulceration. Such inflammation once started is apt to continue till the tooth becomes loose and during this time the body will receive a constant supply of infection from growth on the tooth surfaces and growth in the pockets under the germ.

The pus formed as a result of the destruction of the tissues by the germ, goes partly into the blood and partly into the stomach by way of the mouth.

This poisonous pus going into the stomach disturbs the mechanism of digestion, perhaps, causing dyspepsia, thus lessening one's strength and making the body more liable to yield to infection.

There is always the possibility that illness may follow the eating of pork that is raw or not cooked, according to experts of the United States department of agriculture.

American people as a rule prefer cooked pork, but there are many who, perhaps unknowingly, consume pork in an uncooked condition either in the form of raw ham or uncooked sausages.

The disease known as trichinosis, which may result from eating raw pork, is caused by certain round-worms called trichinae. These are microscopic in size and infest the flesh of hogs.

The prevalence of these round-worms in hogs is indicated by the fact that during the nine years, 1898 to 1906, when the carcasses of hogs were inspected microscopically by federal inspectors, of 8,000,000 carcasses so inspected 1.41 per cent. contained living trichinae.

Unlike many other infectious diseases the severity of an attack of trichinosis depends upon the number of parasites swallowed. Large quantities of slightly infected pork must be eaten to produce appreciable effects. If severe illness follows the eating of a small amount of meat, the pork must have been heavily infested.

To avoid trichinosis no form of pork in the raw state or in dried or smoked sausages and hams should be eaten. All pork used as food should be thoroughly cooked. If this is done the value or wholesomeness of the meat for food purposes is not impaired by the fact that the parasites were present.

OUR MISTAKES.

One of the experiences that is probably common to most of us is to look back over a period of five or ten years, and wonder how we could have been so foolish as to do things and say things on certain occasions which we too keenly remember. Today, as we recall the circumstances, we bitterly reproach ourselves that we could have been so foolish and short-sighted. But probably five or ten years hence we shall look back upon these periods with much the same feeling. We are going to continue to do foolish things to the end of the chapter. By divine grace one may largely overcome sinful tendencies, but there seems to be no help for unwisdom and poor judgment and inability to adjust one's self to circumstances but the bitter discipline of experience. There is one ray of light, however, upon this course of reflection, and it is the fact that we recognize our mistakes in the past as the best sort of reason for believing that we are improving. We have got our eyes opened to some things; and though we shall probably make mistakes in the future just as in the past, they will not be the same ones. And then too we should not blame ourselves too severely for these errors. In the nature of the case there were things when we made these mistakes that we could not know as we do now. The man who is standing on the mountain top and sees the path winding up should be charitable to the man down in the valley who is losing his way in the thickets. We need to cultivate charity for our own mistakes.—The Watchman.

David Lipscomb.

Opportunities used to do good bring blessings to both parties; opportunities neglected and slighted bring curses to him who neglects them. Means used to do good bring blessings to both giver and receiver; means hoarded or used for selfish ends bring curses instead of blessings to the possessor. Let each apply these truths to himself and ask himself: What good have I done with the means and opportunities which God intrusted to me? Have I faithfully used them as a trust committed to me by God to be used for the good of my fellow-men? If not, will God hold me accountable for the misuse of goods which he intrusted to my care? Better not have goods than to have them and misuse them. To board them is to misuse them. Mr. Carnegie said: "It is a disgrace for a man to die rich." A greater than Carnegie said: "Go to now, ye rich, weep and howl for your miseries that are coming upon you. Your riches are corrupted, and your garments are moth-eaten. Your gold and your silver are rusted, and their rust shall be for a testimony against you, and shall eat your flesh as fire. Ye have laid up your treasure in the last days." (James 5:1-3.) Wealth unused for good will be a witness of our untrustworthiness at the last day, and the rust of earthly wealth will eat our souls as a cancer eats our flesh. It is dangerous to meet God without a witness of good. The possession of wealth at death means that we have buried our talent, and it will be testimony against us.

LONGING.

By Frank Hartman.

It is a common truth that in every man there is a longing for the best. His conduct may not always show this. The drunkard may seem to have no higher aspirations than the cup. But in his sober moments he longs for something better and often feels the grip of his slavery.

This longing for the best is what makes people grow. Every attainment opens new visions. There may come a time in a man's life when he will be comparatively satisfied with his outward circumstances, but to be contented with himself and with his own achievements is a calamity. "Dreadful will be the day when the world becomes contented, when a universal satisfaction spreads itself over the world. Sad will be the day to every man when he becomes absolutely contented with the life that he is living, with the thoughts that he is thinking, with the deeds that he is doing, when there is no further beating at the doors of his soul some great desire to do something larger which he knows that he is made and meant to do because he is the child of God."

Longing is the secret of growth in every realm of life. Some men concentrate all their energy on making money. In doing this they are exposed to the temptations of the world.

Heart hunger gave us the Psalms, and those gems of devotional literature have been the meat and drink of Christians for centuries.

Longing for God is the highest expression of man's need. When the heart hungers after God, we keep in fellowship with His Spirit, we read His Word, we keep in touch with the church, and without these things the heart of man can find no abiding satisfaction.

Morals and Materialism

A matter of morals never suffers by being considered upon a lower plane. License is wrong; prohibition is right. But it is also true that prohibition pays and license costs heavily.

Forget for a moment that the preachers advocate prohibition. Dwell upon the fact that it is wanted by Big Business—and little business—by physicians, school teachers, judges of criminal courts, scientists, thinkers and deeply upon the determined demand of Business for abstinence and no-license. Why do bankers, shopkeepers, grocers, large employers of labor hate alcohol and the liquor trade?

Drink doesn't pay; license doesn't pay. For the state to accept money in return for the privilege of inducing men to drink by advertising and display, free lunches, free chairs, music, gambling, furnished rooms, games and the maintaining of a place for sale of liquors is a wrong and offense to every man engaged in legitimate trade.

THE CHEER OF A COMPLIMENT.

Most people work better if every now and then they are judiciously praised. Appreciation is craved by all workers. The Bible recognizes this fact, as is shown by the not infrequent references it makes to systems of reward.

NOT FEELING WELL? TRY THESE AWHILE.

Don't you feel quite up to par? Try medicinal foods for a few days.

If you are nervous or have a tendency to rheumatism or neuralgia, partake of raw or creamed celery every day for a week.

If your kidneys need a tonic, eat spinach once a day for 10 days.

If you are bilious and have those annoying "black spots before your eyes," eat tomatoes twice a day for ten days.

Do you wonder what will "taste good today?" or you feel "you do not care for a thing to eat," begin at once on a beet diet—eat them once a day for 10 days—they are fine for the appetite.

Lettuce and cucumbers have a cooling effect upon the system.

Onions, garlic, leeks and chives stimulate the circulatory system and consequently increase the saliva and gastric juices. This aids digestion.

Raw onions, especially the white ones, are recommended for insomnia.

Health First Clean-Up Creed

Many "Clean-up" campaigns are scheduled for the month of May. A good creed for the workers is the one written by Dr. Wm. DeKleene, and is as follows:

I BELIEVE in the doctrine of "Health First," in the doctrine that health is fundamental to the attainment of the highest personal and social freedom. Hence I believe in health laws and in all agencies that work for the promotion of public health. I believe that every individual should look upon the conservation of his own health and of his neighbor's health as a sacred moral duty, that every community should look upon the preservation of public health as one of the main functions of its corporate life.

I BELIEVE in a clean city, a clean community. I believe in clean streets, clean alleys, clean premises, safe sewage disposal systems. I believe in clean stores, clean markets, clean factories, clean offices.

I BELIEVE in pure air, day and night. I believe in deep breathing in the open air. I believe in sleeping seven or eight hours every night with windows wide open, winter and summer.

I BELIEVE in clean food, clean milk, clean water. I believe in eating slowly and moderately. I believe that milk and water are the only beverages that are useful in the preservation of my health.

I BELIEVE in bathing frequently and in always washing my hands before meals. I believe in clean clothing, clean bodies, clean surroundings, cleanly personal habits.

I BELIEVE in daily bodily exercise and in daily mental recreation.

I BELIEVE in the home as the place where the principles of "Health First" can most effectively be taught. I believe in a clean home, in cleanly fathers and mothers, in cleanly children. I believe in clean thoughts, in wholesome home environments, and in everything that tends to make the home a unifying force for health and happiness.

I BELIEVE in the doctrine of "Health First" because I believe it will tend to promote the uplift and betterment of the race.

NECESSITY OF HOLINESS

A man who has been redeemed by the blood of the Son of God should be pure. He who is an heir of life should be holy. He who is attended by celestial beings, and is soon—does not know how soon—to be translated to heaven, should be holy. Are angels my attendants? Then I should walk worthy of my companions. Am I soon to go and dwell with angels? Then I should be pure. Are these feet soon to tread the courts of heaven? Is this tongue soon to unite with beings in praising God? Are these eyes soon to look on the throne of eternal glory and the ascended Redeemer? Then these feet, and eyes, and lips should be pure and holy, and I should be dead to the world and live for heaven.—Albert Barnes.

The gate of heaven is no wider than it was seventeen hundred years ago. The law of God extends as far as it did when the apostles lived. We are bound to the same strictness and purity, to the same zeal and steadfastness which distinguished the primitive Christians. They were all men of like passions with ourselves; they had the same corrupt nature to strive against, the same temptations to resist, the same enemies to overcome. Their advantages for performing their duty were not greater than ours; on the contrary, he sides all that they possessed, we have the benefit of their example and experience. God's hand is not shortened, the blood of Christ hath lost none of its virtue, his intercession is no less prevalent nor is the power of his spirit in the least impaired by time and constant exercise. So that we are entirely without excuse, if we do not both aim at and actually attain the same degree of holiness and purity with any of those that have gone before us.—Robert Walker.

A good deed is never lost. He who sows courtesy reaps friendship, and he who plants kindness gathers love; pleasure bestowed upon a grateful mind was never sterile, but generally gratitude begets reward.—Basil.

Learn to say no, and it will be of more use to you than to be able to read Latin.

When we are alone we have our thoughts to watch; in family, our tempers; and in society, our tongues.—Hannah More.

A holy act strengthens the inward holiness. It is a seed of life growing into more life.—F. W. Robertson.

RANDOM THOUGHTS

(By Charles L. Page)

Among the great joys, soul winning ranks very high. It is, indeed, the crown of rejoicing.

With a Bible within reach none need longer be burdened with lack of feeling. Thoughtful, prayerful reading or study, with or without what another may have found therein, soon brings warm breathing of the Spirit from the book.

A king's child may not always have on princely garments, but kinship equals kinship if it be that of godly parentage.

There is no danger of too much prayer if there is not pride within, and if it is not made a substitute for other work. God, who first formed man, must be allowed to conform him into the image

GREATEST NEED OF CHURCH

Charles Cross says: The great need of the church in the present day is the "fire of the Lord," the power of the Holy Ghost. We shall do more good in an hour of Pentecostal baptism than in ten years of church reform, theological strife, doctrinal discussion. God has promised the fire: "I will pour out my Spirit upon all flesh." Joel 2:28. "Ye shall receive power." Ac. 1:8. Promises never cancelled; Spirit given and never recalled. We need the fire, for the same reason as Elijah, combating error and sin. If we have physical or mental work to do we require physical or mental strength and vigor; spiritual work requires spiritual power.

HE MUST WORK, BUT HOW?

Man must work—that is inevitable. He may work grudgingly, or he may work gratefully; he may work as a man, or he may work as a slave. He cannot always choose his work, but he can go about it in a cheerful, generous temper and with an unlooked heart. There is no work so rude that he may not exalt it; there is no work so dull that he may not enliven it. But—he must work

WITH quivering lips and flushed face a mother in a revival meeting related the touching incident:

One evening while endeavoring to keep a whist club engagement, no one being at home to stay with the three year old little one, the mother prepared her for the night, placed her in the cradle and retired to sleep.

The mother went to the club and was soon lost in the excitement of the game and the club was forgotten until the Saint Bernard dog, which was the watchman of the house and a playmate of the child, came bounding up against the door of the house where the card party was in progress. By furious barking it succeeded in getting one of the players to open the door. The dog ran to the mother of the child and kept up his barking and biting at her chair. "I wonder what ails the dog," said one of the number. The owner said nothing of having left the little one alone, but excused herself by saying: "Perhaps there is someone at the house." The dog ran before to tell his playmate that help was coming, and back again barking as if to say, "Hurry up! There is danger!" As the mother neared the home she saw flames in the house and smoke coming from the open window. The child had awakened, and, finding itself alone, called and cried for the mother. It climbed out of the cradle and in so doing knocked the lamp over. The drapery of the window caught afire, and the little one, unable to get out, called to the dog for help.

The mother arrived just in time to save the child from a horrible death. Neighbors came and the fire was extinguished. The next evening the mother held the child in her arms and crooned it to sleep, singing,

"Abide with me, fast falls the even-tide. The darkness deepens, Lord, with me abide." and repeating the words of the little one the night before, "It is so lonely home, Mama, please stay with me."

The incident led to the conversion of the mother, and to an entire consecration to God.

THE TOMATO AS A COMMERCIAL CROP

Since the Prejudice Regarding the Poisonous Qualities of the Tomato Has Been Overcome, This Has Become An Important Crop.

By L. C. CORBETT.

The tomato is one of the few garden vegetables of American origin holding high rank as a commercial crop which has come into general cultivation within the last century. This plant, because of its relation to the nightshade family, was for a long time held in disrepute by gardeners and people generally. For at least a century after the tomato was more or less familiar to botanists and gardeners it was very sparingly cultivated, and when grown at all was used chiefly as an ornamental plant. Its cultivation was, therefore, markedly delayed, and it was not until after the strong prejudice that the tomato was poisonous was broken down that its cultivation began to attract attention and its use became general.

The cultivation of the tomato in England and the United States came much later than it did in the countries bordering on the Mediterranean. Climatic conditions undoubtedly had much to do with this. Because of the warm climate and otherwise congenial conditions existing in the Mediterranean countries the tomato flourished there. In England, however, because of the comparatively short season and small amount of heat during the growing period, the cultivation of this plant gained slowly. Even now the cultivation of the tomato in Great Britain is chiefly confined to house and protected walls. In the United States, after the plant was once introduced and its poisonous effects were discredited, its cultivation grew rapidly, and now we find it, among the most generally cultivated of our garden vegetables.

The exact location from which the plants first carried to Europe were secured is not definitely known, but historical evidence indicates that these plants were taken from Peru.

Because of the tropical origin of the tomato it requires a long season for its growth and development, and on this account it is necessary in the Northern States, in order to secure paying crops, to resort to methods which lengthen the growing season.

Training Plants by the Use of Frames.

It is much easier for the gardener to accomplish this while the plant is small than when it is large, and because early fruits are as a rule more valuable than late ones it is of advantage to the gardener to secure his crop as early in the season as practicable. The season is, therefore, lengthened at the beginning rather than at the end. This is accomplished by sowing seeds in hotbeds or greenhouses several weeks in advance of the time when they could be safely planted in the open.

In the latitude of New York City it is the common practice to sow the seeds of the tomato in hotbeds about March 15, while farther south it is customary to sow them somewhat earlier, from the 10th to the 15th of February, and as the more southern latitudes are approached even earlier dates of planting are resorted to. In Florida and southern Texas plantings are made in November, so that the fruits come into the market several weeks in advance of the earliest northern-grown fruits. It is evident from what has been said that the tomato has no fixed period of growth. In fact, in climates where its growth is not interrupted by frosts it becomes a perennial plant, but in temperate regions where seasons are markedly distinct it is forced to acquire an annual habit and to be treated as an annual plant.

Since the prejudice in regard to the poisonous qualities of the fruit has been broken down and improved canning processes have come into use the tomato has become a very important commercial field and garden crop. It is a fruit which, as before stated, has no definite season. It is relished at all periods of the year in a fresh state, and is equally welcome upon the table, when properly cooked or prepared, whether it has been freshly taken from the vines or has been preserved in cans. As a result of the extensive use of the tomato it is now cultivated both as a field and as a forced crop.

East of the Mississippi River and north of the latitude of Washington, D. C., the tomato is handled as an annual, the seeds being sown in hotbeds about the middle of March. The young plants, as soon as they have developed their first true leaves, are transplanted to stand about 2 inches apart and are allowed to develop in these quarters until they have attained a height of from 4 to 6 inches and the leaves begin to crowd considerably.

Commercial tomato growing in the Southern States is almost exclusively confined to the production of tomatoes at a season when they can not be grown at the North except in greenhouses. On this account the commercial production of this crop is restricted to areas where there is very little, if any, freezing during the winter months. Florida and Texas lead in the production of this crop.

Where tomatoes are extensively grown for shipment to the North, convenience, care, and judgment should enter into the preparation of the product for the market. It is always advisable and usually necessary to sort and grade the fruits as they come from the field before placing them in the shipping boxes. If this work can be done in a shed located on the railway over which the fruits are to be transported, so much the better, but if it is necessary to haul the tomatoes some distance for shipment then the packing shed should be located at the most convenient and accessible point for both harvesting and shipping. The same precautions in handling the fruits should be observed at the South as at the North.

The fruits as they come from the vines should pass the scrutiny of experienced sorters and graders so that tomatoes of a certain size and degree of ripeness will reach the same shipping case. All ready fruits should be excluded, and the stems if any are found attached to the fruits, should be removed. Experience has shown that fruits are less likely to be broken and leaky upon arrival at their destination if all stems are removed than when this feature is neglected.

The individual fruits are wrapped in a soft brown or white tea paper and packed in two-layer boxes or in a six-basket peach carrier. Fruits packed in this way and shipped by express are successfully carried from Miami, Fla., to New York, and from Corpus Christi, Tex., to Chicago.

For the long shipments which are necessary in order to place the Florida and Texas grown tomatoes in the markets, the fruits are picked as soon as they have reached full development and show the slightest change in color. The stage of ripeness at which fruits should be picked and shipped should be regulated by the season as well as by the demands of the market for which they are intended. During cool weather the fruit should be ripe when gathered than during the warm season. The most distant shipments should be filled from the least advanced fruits. These features would appear to be self-evident, but they are worthy of enumeration for they are important factors in gaining the highest success.

The Meadow Lark Helps to Destroy the Alfalfa Weevil

Investigations by Experts Have Developed the Fact That Birds Are Important Factors in Checking the Increase of the Alfalfa Weevil in the Western States.

By E. R. KALMBACH.

The western meadow lark is a familiar bird of the Great Basin, and judging from early records is becoming more numerous. In this section, as time goes on. Being a resident the year around, it is a common visitor to alfalfa fields as soon as snow leaves and is more frequently met during April and May than later in the year. During a series of careful tests 27 of these birds were collected in April, and the weevil, which was found to comprise one-sixth of their food, was present in all but seven. One bird had taken 75 adults, another 60, and three others 51, 48, and 33, respectively.

Other animal food is important, as the largest single item was caterpillars, amounting to nearly 22 per cent. Ground beetles amounted to about one-eighth of the food.

During May an increased consumption of caterpillars appears to explain a decrease in the percentage of weevils. A male bird had destroyed 81 of the weevils, another had made away with over 70 larvae and 32 adults, while a third ate 40 larvae and 10 adults, but the whole comprised only about 11 per cent of the total food. Caterpillars occurred in nearly all of the stomachs, and frequently composed the major portion of the food. Ground beetles were found in all but two stomachs.

In June the meadow lark maintains about the same relation to the weevil as during the preceding month. By July the abundance of other insect food caused the meadow lark to greatly reduce the proportion of weevil's taken. Grasshoppers and ground beetles were the most important of the other food items.

After weighing all of the evidence for and against the meadow lark the results are highly in favor of the bird. As a weevil destroyer the western meadow lark renders most valuable service during the early days of spring, when many breeding adults fall prey to its diligent search.

Its fondness for ground beetles and caterpillars, especially cut worms, has a tendency to reduce the percentage of weevils eaten during the following months. The good it does in the destruction of caterpillars more than offsets the harm arising from the eating of ground beetles. As the latter are usually quite abundant throughout alfalfa fields, and as many are of species of doubtful economic value, the meadow lark should not be severely judged on this score. Examinations show that, at least from April to July, this bird is not a menace to grain in the districts where the experiments were made. On the other hand, its being a resident the year round makes it a valuable asset as a destroyer of hibernating insects, especially the alfalfa weevil. Without doubt, the meadow lark should receive the fullest protection.

HOW TO AID INJURED PERSONS.

The patient should be made as comfortable as possible in a safe place. He should be insured plenty of fresh air.

Do not try to do too much; keep cool.

Do not let the injured person know it, if his condition is serious. Hot coffee or hot tea, or even hot water, is a better stimulant than whisky. In summer a glass of cold water may be best. Remember there is some shock with even the slightest injury.

If the patient vomits, turn him to one side; keep the head low.

Suppose to external heat if the patient is cold and clammy.

Clothing should be cut away. Do not tear or pull it off.

Do not touch an open wound with the fingers or with anything not surgically clean.

Never wash away blood clots; bind them up. Open and bleeding wounds should be covered with a piece of sterile gauze or freshly laundered linen.

KEEP THE BOY ON THE FARM.

The best way to keep the boy on the farm is to prove to him there is money in it. Put him on the job in the orchard and let him share responsibility and see the color of some real money. This will make a fruit-grower of him. You will obtain an interested assistant—the boy will acquire business habits—a mutually beneficial arrangement.

THERE'S USE AND BEAUTY IN VINES

The Writer Who Said, "When in Doubt as to What to Plant, Plant Vines and Shrubs," Gave Very Sound Advice.

BY JOSEPHINE DEMARR.

Vines beautify; they are useful; they are easy to grow. They shade from the hot sun; they hide old, or obnoxious features; they encourage the birds to nest about the house; they are the drapery nature throws over and about with a lavish hand to soften and embellish.

When preparing to plant vines, be sure to spade deeply, manure heavily, and prepare the soil carefully. After perennial or hardy vines are established it is difficult to cultivate them, therefore, do all you can before planting.

Boston Ivy and Prairie Queen Rose.

ing them. When they begin to "spin," they must have supports, otherwise they will be stunted in growth and unsatisfactory.

There are so many beautiful vines among annuals, perennials and hardy vines that it is hard to decide, if the choice is at all restricted. If you wish to blot out an old building, cover it with vines. If you dislike the necessary fence, turn it into a thing of beauty by planting vines along its length. Let vines shade the porch and thus make it a cool and leafy retreat from the summer's sun. Curtain the shutterless south window with vines and let them grow about the home wherever possible.

The grape is one of the most useful vines. It is hardy; early in spring its leaves are ready to cast a shadow. Its blossoms are delicately fragrant and its fruit is delicious. Attention must be given it in the way of fertility, pruning and tying.

Among wild vines the trumpet-vine, Tecoma radicans, wild clematis (virgin's bower), and bitter-sweet are popular. In transplanting the latter from the woods, be sure that you procure one that is fertile, for some of them do not bloom. The Dutchman's pipe is another desirable wild vine, but it is not as common as those mentioned above.

The wild climbing rose has an exquisite flower; and, once started, grows shoots ten to fifteen feet high in one season.

The climbing roses are led by the comparatively new rose, the rambler, and its hybrids. However, its foliage gets shabby and spoils its beauty as a porch plant. It makes a brave show when blooming. The good old prairie queen still continues to be the standard climbing rose. All the Ayrshire roses are hardy, also the Cherokee rose. The sweet briar, Lord Penzance, is in a way a climbing rose.

The wisterias take a long time to become established, but repay by the beauty and the profusion of their blooms.

The Madra vine, mignonette-scented, has tuberous roots, which are not hardy, grows fast and forms a fine screen with its thick, fleshy leaves.

The matrimony-vine, although its blooms are small and inconspicuous, grows quickly, throwing out long, graceful sprays that droop to the earth.

The moon-vine wants rich earth, plenty of sun and water. It makes astonishing growth in a season. However, for the best results it must be started in the house.

Those who want a curious and beautiful flower should plant the passion-flower. The hardy varieties need mulching during the winter until well established. The tender passion-flowers are extremely beautiful, but are rather shy bloomers.

The honeysuckles are desirable and popular on account of their many good qualities. They grow quickly, forming dense shade and are iron-clad as regards insects and disease. Hall's Evergreen blooms all summer, and its flowers are delightfully Jasminescent. It holds its leaves until spring almost, and therefore should not be allowed to shade windows which need the winter light.

The various clematis are all beautiful and desirable climbers. It is not generally known that if Clematis paniculata is severely cut back after flowering it will form new wood which will bear fine flowers and many of them the next season.

Ideal plants for covering brick, stone and rough surfaces are the ampelopsis and hedera helix—the true European ivy. The latter prefers a northern exposure, as the alternating thawing and freezing of late winter is apt to kill it if grown where the sun strikes it. The ampelopsis, or Virginia creeper, is at all times beautiful. The tender growth in the spring is delicately shaded and in the fall the leaves are gorgeous in varicolored golds, crimsons and scarlet.

NO WORK MORE IMPORTANT THAN SEED TESTING

By C. VROOMAN.

It is easy to test seed of all kinds, both for germination and for purity. For the germination test you need only a box that you can make in an hour. For the purity test you need only a 50-cent microscope that will enable you to count the weed seeds in a given number of clover or alfalfa seeds.

One ear of seed corn will produce about 5 bushels—if all the grains grow. If none of the grains grow—and corn is 60 cents a bushel—that dead ear is a dead loss of $3. If you catch but one bad ear in testing, you save a good day's wages—if you find the average number of bad ones you can save a week's wages in an afternoon. Still there are farmers who think testing seed is just a foolish scientific trill.

Testing takes only odd hours and it may make the difference between a big crop and a crop that does not pay for the labor of cultivation. When you have tested your seed you know that your crop will grow if conditions are right—that if you have to replant or reseed it will not be your fault.

Just before planting time, germination tests should be made of each ear. Six kernels are usually tested in making single-ear tests for germination, taking two kernels from opposite sides of the ear near the tip, two from the middle, and two from the butt. Many forms of germinating boxes are used which are satisfactory. The seed should be kept moist and at about room temperature, not above 90 degrees F. or below 50 degrees F.

A simple tester may be made as follows: Take a shallow wooden tray about 1 1/2 inches deep inside. This tray is divided into small squares by a checkerboard facing of twine across the top. These squares should be about 1 1/2 inches on each side. The tray should be filled level full of loose sand, and in each square is planted the seeds to be tested from an individual ear. The sand should be filled in, then, when the seeds are first put in the tester, and the tester kept in a warm room. Sprinkle on enough water from day to day to keep the sand moist, and after six or seven days examine the sprouting seeds, and save for planting only those ears from which all the kernels gave strong sprouts.

If seed corn is taken care of in this way, and every ear tested for germination, the result will be the best stand it is possible to obtain under weather and soil conditions at the time of planting. Before testing germination, the farmer should examine each ear and throw out all the ears which do not look right or which have several withered or damaged kernels. He should strive to make up his seed from ears which in size and appearance seem to be normal for his variety of corn. Seed corn should be shelled by hand to avoid the risk of damage by mechanical shelling. Before shelling, the owner should pick out peculiar looking kernels and separate the seed into sizes so as to make certain that the corn drill will plant regularly.

Under ordinary circumstances, it may not be absolutely necessary to test every individual ear. If a large number of typical ears show germinating tests as high as 97 per cent, the seed in general may be considered good. Under conditions at all unusual, especially in sections where the last year's crop did not ripen normally, it will well repay a corn grower to test every ear that he intends to use for seed.

A Valuable Discovery

The jujube tree, which bears a heavy crop of a brownish fruit, which is delicious when fresh and when dried offers a confection very similar in taste to the Persian date, is probably the most important discovery made during the third expedition into China by the Agricultural Department's plant explorer. This tree is of particular interest to the department because it can withstand cold and drought and neglect. The section in which it is productive in China is a semi-arid belt where winter temperatures do not go much below zero Fahrenheit. This indicates that it would be of particular value to Texas, California, New Mexico, Arizona, southern Utah, and perhaps even farther north. Already, several thousand seedlings have been grown at the Plant Introduction Garden at Chico, Cal., from the specimens sent to this country, and some of these have borne desirable fruit, which confirms the experimenters in their belief that this tree may contribute a new fruit industry to the sections indicated.

NOVEL WAY TO WARM HOG FEED.

A resourceful Minnesota farmer reports that he has solved the problem of warming the slop-feed for his hogs. Two barrels are placed near the feeding troughs and a day's supply of feed is placed in each. The barrels are heavily banked with fresh manure from the hog barn. The heating of the pile warms the feed in the barrels, as each day's supply stands for twenty-four hours before using. Whenever necessary the banking is hauled away and a new supply packed about the barrels.

Opinions differ as to the relative efficiency of slop-feeding and dry-feeding, but disregarding the matter of efficiency, some hog-risers prefer slop-feeding for brood sows in winter for another reason. In winter, hogs do not drink enough water unless the water is warm or supplied at frequent intervals. By mixing water with the grain the feeder controls the amount of water consumed by his hogs.—R. C. Ashby.

BARREL-SPRAY PUMPS USEFUL.

Use your spray outfit to improve the looks of things around the farm. A few barrels of whitewash put on with a spray pump will work wonders in the appearance of old buildings, fences, etc., which you would never consider painting at all. When put on with spray it reaches so many crevices that it does not wash off nearly so soon as when the work is done with a brush, and it is done so quickly and easily, too. Even old log buildings look well when sprayed with whitewash.

IMPORTED POTATOES MUST BE FREE FROM DISEASE

The Secretary of Agriculture has authorized the granting of permits to import potatoes from Canada, subject to the new regulations, which became effective January 1st and the Canadian government has officially accepted the conditions and issued an order that potatoes offered for export to the United States must be free from injurious diseases and insect pests.

With this understanding the Canadian potatoes will be exempted from the requirement of inspection and certification before shipment, which still applies to European potatoes.

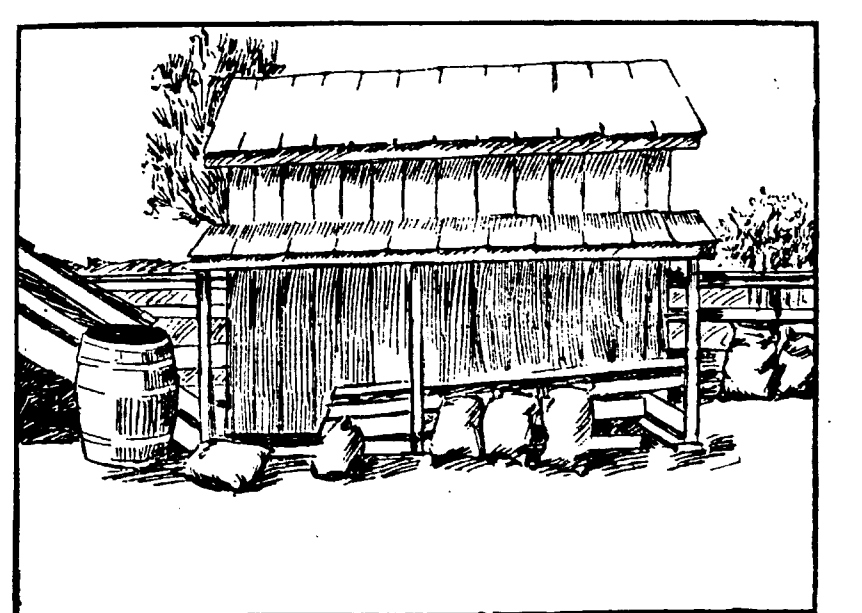

The potatoes from Canada will, however, be inspected on arrival in the United States, and entry will be refused to any shipment of potatoes badly infested with disease, even though the disease is one which may already occur in the United States, such as common scab, dry rot, powdery scab, Fusarium wilt, and black leg. A negligible percentage of these common diseases will not bar admission, as it is recognized that the shipment of potatoes absolutely free from some of them is not commercially practicable.

Under this arrangement those desiring to import potatoes from Canada must apply to the Federal Horticultural Board, at Washington, for a permit, stating in the application the name and address of the exporter, the locality where grown, the port of departure (or port of consular invoice), the proposed port of entry, and the name and address of the importer in the United States to whom the permit should be sent.

Potatoes will be inspected by the U. S. Department of Agriculture on arrival, and should it prove that Canadian shippers are not complying with the regulation of the Dominion Government, that "Potatoes offered for export to the United States must be free from injurious diseases and insect pests," the permit of the offending shipper may be revoked.

In view of the order issued by the Canadian government and since we reserve the right to refuse entry to any shipment of potatoes badly infested with disease, it is regarded as only fair that American potatoes offered for export to Canada, the entry of which is unrestricted except from the State of California, should be equally free from disease, and American shippers are urged to see to it, therefore, that only clean potatoes are offered for export.

Showing How a Stock-Dipping Vat May Be Used to Good Advantage for Dipping Seed Potatoes in Formalin Solution to Prevent Scab.

SOWING OATS.

Oats should be sown as early in the spring as it is possible to make a good seed bed. The exact date, of course, varies with the season and with the locality. This does not mean that the preparation of the land should be neglected in order to sow early. Better fields will be produced from seed sown in a good seed bed than from that sown a few days earlier in ground too cold and wet for the seed to germinate.

CABBAGE FOR POULTRY.

All the green stuff they get you will have to furnish them. Cabbage is one of the most easily provided foods in this line. You can, if you are handy, make a little place for prouting oats, and these are fine there are regular sprouting racks, but they are not necessary. If you once get one you can rig up a rack that will answer every purpose.

ESTIMATED MILK YIELD.

The average yield of milk per cow for the year is estimated, for the North Atlantic States 584 gallons; South Atlantic States 463 gallons; North Central States 560 gallons; South Central States 431 gallons; and the far Western States 615 gallons. At an average price of 20 cents per gallon, the year's production of milk is valued at about $2,320,000,000 to producers.

HONEY VINEGAR.

Vinegar made from honey has an exceptionally fine flavor and is not expensive. A small amount of honey furnishes a large amount of vinegar. Follow these directions: Dissolve thoroughly in two gallons of warm, soft water one quart of extracted honey. Give it air and keep it in a warm place where it will ferment and make excellent vinegar.

PREVENT THIS LOSS.

The annual loss of fertilizing materials is enormous in this country through careless handling of manure. This loss can be easily prevented in a large measure by proper methods of handling. While many farmers are getting the most from the manure produced on their farms, yet many could well exemplify the European farmer in this matter, who saves carefully and utilizes every pound of manure available.

TRIMMING OLD SHRUBS.

All the shrubs need to be cut back or trimmed out before the sap begins to run. The dead stems of the spruce and deutzias must be cut out; and the hydrangeas, altheas, ribes, weigelas, and syringas should be cut back. If any of the last named are overgrown bushes, cut them down almost to a stalk, in order to give them a new start.

QUANTITY OF SEED TO SOW.

The quantity of spring wheat seed sown varies with the amount of moisture present in the soil, the size of the kernel of the variety used, the condition of the seed bed, and the date of seeding. Under ordinary conditions, 4 pecks to the acre is best. In the eastern part of the area, where rainfall is high and the soil heavy, rich, warm, and well drained, 5 to 6 pecks give better results. In the drier soils of the western portions, 3 pecks to the acre are sufficient. Where durum wheat is sown, as a rule the seeding is 1 peck heavier than common wheat under the same conditions.

GOOSEBERRIES MAY BE GROWN SUCCESSFULLY IN THE NORTHERN PARTS OF WISCONSIN AND MINNESOTA, IF HARDY VARIETIES ARE SELECTED.

That the United States harvested more than a billion bushels of grain last year should be cause for rejoicing to the dairymen who do not produce grain.

REASONS FOR KEEPING SHEEP.

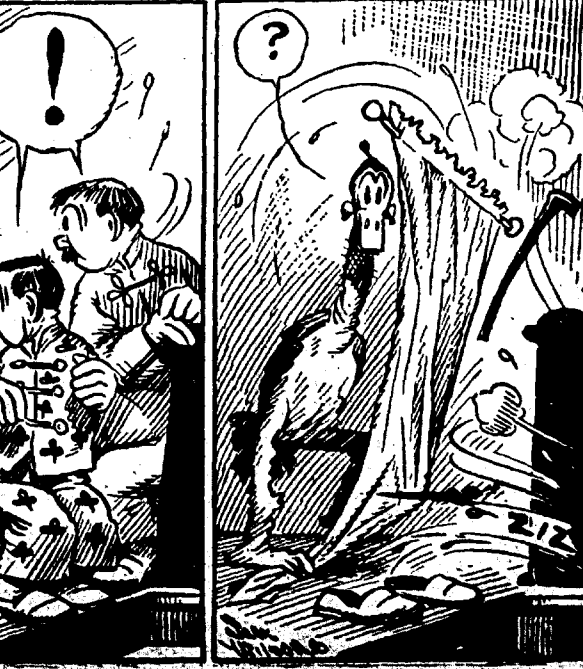

As time passes and our soils are changing, and seed pests multiply, new reasons are found why sheep should be kept on the farm wherever it is possible. Prof. Thomas Shaw, an experienced flockman, refers to these things when writing:

When weeds are young and sappy the sheep are, in a sense, insatiable devourers of the same. There are but few kinds of weeds that they will not trim down and consume into good mutton if they have access to the same at a comparatively early stage in the growth of the weeds.

Concrete foundations extending two and a half feet below the ground and two feet above, will make buildings rat proof.

Red raspberries should not be given fertilizers or manures containing much nitrogen.

NEGOTIATION WITH OBREGON IS RESUMED

Gen. Scott Makes New Effort at Agreement While Major Langhorne's Cavalry Dashes After Brigands.

El Paso, Texas, April 11.—Negotiations looking toward a settlement of the American-Mexican military questions were resumed at 10 o'clock this morning. The conference was attended by Maj. General Hugh L. Scott and Frederick Funston, representing the United States, and Gen. Alvaro Obregon, minister of war, of the de facto government, and Juan N. Amador, sub secretary of foreign affairs in Mexico. The conference, which may be the last, was held in Gen. Scott's private car.

Gen. Funston desires to strengthen the border patrol by mounting two thousand infantrymen on Texas ponies. The general plans to make this recommendation to Secretary Baker because the available forces of cavalry for patrol have become practically exhausted. Gen. Funston points out that Texas ponies are suited for patrol work as they can live on the scanty grass along the border. Gen. Funston said that he was considering calling on the First Illinois cavalry for patrol work along the Rio Grande.

Langhorne's Chances Good.

He thinks that Major Langhorne, whose troops of the Eighth cavalry were well over the Rio Grande into Mexico today, has a good chance of at least overtaking part of the bandits that raided Glenn Springs. The general said the bandits had loaded down their wagons with loot and thought this would retard their retreat into Coahuila and enable Major Langhorne's men to catch up with them.

The Americans have with them the three Mexican bandits who were captured by the employees of the Porto Rico Boquillas mine to guide the column to the camp of the brigands, who are supposed to be about 12 hours march inland. It is reported that J. Deemer, an American storekeeper, who was kidnapped, is being held a prisoner at this camp.

A company of coast artillery of approximately 150 men has been ordered here to guard the line of communication.

WASHINGTON HOPEFUL.

Believes Obregon Will Sign Agreement Presented by Americans.

Washington, May 11.—Administration officials today were hopeful that Gen. Obregon would sign immediately the military agreement presented at El Paso by Gen. Scott and Funston, on behalf of the United States.

Despite the long delay of Obregon it was pointed out that Gen. Scott had made no report indicating the agreement might not be signed. Consequently officials were not inclined to believe that the negotiations would reach the point where a break would occur between Mexico and the United States.

FALLING IN LOVE IS DANGEROUS, HE SAYS.

Hartford City, Ind., May 11.—Falling in love is a dangerous thing, according to Rev. Lee Brown, of Connersville, who chose "A Batch of Biscuits" as the subject of his commencement address to the graduates of the Licking township school here. He advised against falling in love.

"Let love be mere common sense and not sentiment," said the preacher. "Too much sentimentality and not enough common sense cause domestic troubles. Do not marry for beauty and do not marry a sham. In these days it's hard to tell what you're getting with all the rats, fizzes, furbelows and switches."

FOURTEEN EXECUTED IN IRELAND, SAYS TENNANT.

London, May 11.—(3:30 p. m.)—Fourteen persons have been executed in Ireland, Harold J. Tennant, parliamentary undersecretary for war, told a questioner in the house of commons today. Seventy-three persons have received sentences of penal servitude and six of imprisonment at hard labor, the undersecretary added.

AWFUL PLUNGE INTO POTOMAC

Five Occupants Fall 100 Feet Into Stream With Wrecked Aircraft. THREE BADLY HURT; 2 OTHERS MISSING

Big Hydroaeroplane Comes to Grief After Making New Records.

Washington, May 11.—One of the large hydro-aeroplanes which has been flying between Newport News and Washington, fell into the Potomac river near Mount Vernon, Va., early today and was wrecked. Three of the occupants, badly injured, were rescued by a tug boat. Two are missing.

The machine fell about 100 feet. The tug boat, which went to the rescue, picked up three men, two of whom were rushed to Alexandria to a hospital. The tug boat then returned to search for the two missing men.

The machine on Monday completed a round trip from Newport News to Baltimore with five men aboard, establishing several records. Shortly after the return to Newport News it was decided to make a return trip to Washington the same day. On the trip engine trouble developed, causing the boat to alight near Mount Vernon and make the remainder of the trip on the surface of the water. Repairs were made and the return trip to Newport News was begun this morning. On board were Pilot McAuley, Mechanician Philip Uter and Louis Krant, and two passengers.

GYMNASTIC UNION FROWNS ON EFFORT

Refuses to Join Pennsylvania German Body in Political Move.

Indianapolis, May 11.—The North American Gymnastic Union, through its officers here, today announced that it had declined the invitation of the German-American Alliance of Pennsylvania to send representatives to a meeting to be held in Chicago May 28 and 29.

The purpose of the meeting as set forth in the invitation to the Gymnastic Union is to inform "unequivocally through accredited representatives, the political powers, before and at the time of their national conventions of the wishes of the German-Americans and to prove to them that they have to deal with a united German-American vote, which cannot be split in the separate states by political intrigue and trickery."

The union sent circulars today to its 200 branch organizations stating that the proposed meeting "appears to the national executive board as not commendable" and adding that "it must be left to the judgment of the individual to express his individual conviction at the polls."

The Gymnastic Union has a membership of about 30,000 in the United States. While the membership consists almost exclusively of either German born or of German descent, full citizenship is a requisite for membership.

HON. N. W. GILBERT HERE FOR FEW HOURS

Former Congressman on Way East Will Return for Longer Stay.

Hon. Newton W. Gilbert, former congressman from this district, later vice governor of the Philippines and now engaged in the practice of law in Manila, arrived in Fort Wayne Thursday for a few hours' stay before continuing his journey eastward.

Mr. Gilbert, who is a delegate from the Philippines to the republican national convention in Chicago, is planning to return to Fort Wayne shortly, and will spend the greater part of the summer in this city and at the Steuben county lakes. Mrs. Gilbert arrived in the United States a few weeks in advance of her husband and is now visiting in New York, where he will join her.

GREAT GAINS FOR W.C.T.U.

Work in Indiana Has Made Much Progress During Year Just Passed.

REPORTS MADE AT CONFERENCE HERE

Superintendents Gather in Fort Wayne to Discuss Work and Plans.

Reports of the year's work as submitted by the state superintendents of the Women's Christian Temperance Union at the opening session of the fourth annual conference held at Plymouth Congregational church Thursday afternoon showed that all departments have made great gains in their work.

Mrs. R. P. Cole, of Lafayette, superintendent of the work among railroad employees, policemen, firemen and postmen, stated that never before had such interest been taken in temperance work by these men as during the past year. She also stated that this department had succeeded in having the railroad companies pay more attention to the temperance question.

The superintendent on Sabbath observances, Mrs. Anna Wallace, of Muncie, reported that it was the aim of this department to do all in their power to do away with those things which influence people not to observe the Sabbath day properly. She said that Sunday baseball should be done away with and also that the moving picture houses should not run anything but sacred pictures or pictures of a religious nature on Sundays.

The church auditorium was beautifully and artistically decorated and many emblems, signs and banners were in evidence. The floral decorations.

CAPT. W. A. KELSEY HONORED BY G. A. R.

Fort Wayne Veteran Chosen Junior Vice Commander for Indiana.

Evansville, Ind., May 11.—Members of the G. A. R., Ladies of the G. A. R., Woman's Relief corps, Sons of Veterans and its auxiliary this morning met to conclude business sessions and elect officers. The encampments of the United Spanish war veterans and auxiliary were concluded yesterday. Indianapolis was the city favored by the vets to the next encampment.

The second night's episodes of the local celebration of Indiana's centenary were to be enacted tonight with the vets as special guests. The episodes begin with the outbreak of the civil war and review Indiana history to the present day. Ten thousand people last night witnessed the performance of the first episodes which took the audience from the days of the mound builders to the political campaign of 1840.

The G. A. R. unanimously chose Col.

COMMITTS SUICIDE IN FATHER'S BARN

Burns Turflinger, Ill and Despondent, Ends Life by Shooting.

Despondent over his continued ill health, Burns Turflinger, 25 years old, committed suicide Thursday morning in the barn on his father's farm, two miles south of the city on the Winchester road, by shooting himself through the head with a revolver. His body was found by his mother about noon, perhaps an hour after he had committed the act. He was a son of Thomas Turflinger, former superintendent of the county farm, and lived at the family home.

That he wanted to make sure of death certain, he tied a rope to a rafter and seemed a noose of the end which he fastened around his neck. Then standing on a beam he shot himself through the head and as he fell the noose tightened and there he hung until his mother found him.

The following note was found on his person: "Good-bye, mother. My only regret for quitting this life is leaving you." An investigation was conducted by Coroner J. E. McArdle Thursday afternoon. The bullet passed entirely through the young man's head and death is believed to have been instantaneous.

EXCESSIVE DRINKING ENDS IN SUICIDE

Body of Jeff Godfrey is Found With Two Bullet Holes in the Head.

Excessive drinking is believed to have caused Jeff Godfrey, 64 years old, who had been living with his brother, James P. Godfrey, Brooklyn avenue and the Miller road, to commit suicide by shooting himself through the head with a .32 calibre revolver. His body was found Wednesday afternoon by George Fiskey, 1916 Broadway, and John James, 1921 West Taylor street. He had been dead four or five days.

Once prosperous and well to do, Godfrey, through his constant drinking, had gone from bad to worse. Penniless and without friends, death to him was preferable than the misery he had brought upon himself through drink. Last Friday morning his brother had remonstrated with him. He pleaded with him to stop drinking and finally told him that unless he did straighten up he would have to leave his home.

It is believed that soon after this conversation that, in his despondency, he went to the Randall field, where he ended his life. He had not been seen around his brother's house since Friday morning. The revolver with which he committed the act belonged to his brother. It was found at the side of the body. Two bullet holes in Godfrey's head told the story.

NEW SHIFT AT VERDUN

Germans Now Launching Attack from East Side of the Meuse.

PARIS DECLARES IT UNSUCCESSFUL

Two French Assaults Also Break Down Under the German Fire.

Today's War News Given in Summary

Another shift in the line of attack upon Verdun is reported in this afternoon's war office announcement from Paris.

Holding in check their forces on the west bank of the Meuse, where they recently have scored important successes, the Germans have again taken the offensive on the easterly side of the stream, launching an attack near Vaux northeast of the fortress. The attack was unsuccessful, Paris declares.

Probable speedy resumption of infantry drives west of the fortress, however, is indicated by the report of heavy firing by the artillery in the region of the Avocourt wood southwest of Hill 304.

The French themselves are making vigorous attacks on the German lines in the Verdun region according to Berlin, which announces an assault near Deadman hill and another southeast of Hill 304. Both these attacks were broken up by German fire, it is reported.

The eastern front situation is growing more interesting with the advance of spring. All along the line the Russians are the objects of occasional sharp thrusts by the Teutonic allies. Just at present they seem to be contenting themselves with standing off these attacks and are attempting no offensive. In at least one instance they failed to hold their line, however, according to Berlin, which today reports the capture of 500 yards of a Russian position near Selburg.

Considerably increased activity is reported from the Balkans. There has been much firing by heavy artillery and some infantry clashes have occurred on the Macedonian frontier.

Paris, May 11.—(11:50 a. m.)—German troops made an attack last night on French positions near Vaux pond, on the Verdun front, east of the Meuse. The war office announces that this attack was repulsed.

West of the Meuse, the statement says, there was a vigorous artillery action in the region of Avocourt wood.

FRENCH ATTACKS FAIL.

Berlin, May 11.—(Via Sayville.)—Two French attacks on the Verdun front, one delivered near Dead Man's hill and the other southeast of hill 304, broke down.

NINE SECTIONS ARE ALL BUSILY AT WORK

Indianapolis, Ind., May 11.—The preliminary of the way, the 13rd annual meeting of the conference of charities and corrections began the work of its sessions here today. Meetings were held in each of the nine sections.

Before the section on feeble mindedness and insanity Dr. Edward H. Ochser, of Chicago, president of the Illinois state charities commission, urged the permanent segregation of the mental and moral defective.

"The chances of a mentally and morally defective person having a numerous progeny," Dr. Ochser said, "a large per cent of whom will attain maturity and will in turn have numerous offspring, is probably greater today than it ever has been in the world's history."

Tombstones for Graves That Cannot Be Located

Four tombstones furnished some years ago by the government for four deceased veterans of the civil war are in a Fort Wayne storage house where they have rested for these many years for the reason that the graves for whom they are intended could never be found. These tombstones are furnished free by the government and many of them are to be seen in practically every cemetery and graveyard in the north.

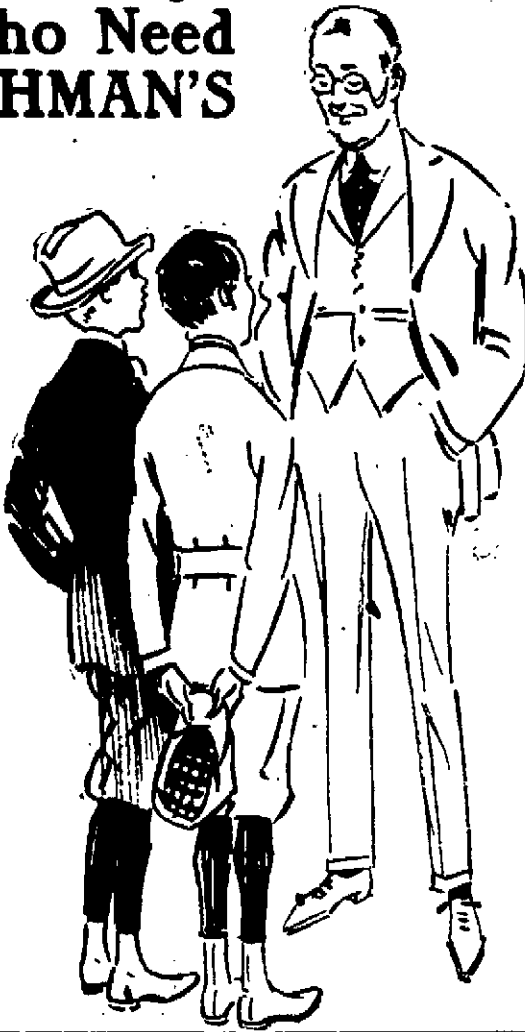

The tombstones are for the graves of the following deceased veterans who, it is pretty certain, are buried somewhere in Allen county: James Shuler, 122nd Indiana; Granville Powell, Company F, 88th Indiana; Richard D. Grange, 197th Ohio; and Capt. Martin Wagner, Company G, 25th Indiana.

If any person knows where these comrades are buried he is requested to communicate with Elias H. Rookwalter, 119 West Williams street, and he will see that they are properly placed as was originally intended.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

ROANOKE WOMAN WEDS FOURTH

Mrs. Marietta Keefe, 70, Married to Fort Wayne Man of 59.

Huntington, Ind., May 11.—Mrs. Marietta Keefe, 70 years old, a well known resident of Roanoke, has just made her fourth venture into matrimony. The groom is Charles M. Bledsoe, 59 years old, assistant manager of the Singer Sewing machine company in Fort Wayne. All of Mrs. Keefe's husbands are dead. Mr. Bledsoe was also married once before, his wife having died. The license was issued by the county clerk in Huntington, but it could not be learned where the couple were married. They could not be located at the bride's home in Roanoke. A marriage license was issued to Andrew Delaney, 51 years old, a blacksmith helper of Huntington, and Caroline Van Dolson, 49 years old, of Huntington. The bride was married once before, being divorced.

ARE LOOKING FOR DOLPH.

Richmond, Ind., May 11.—Commercial club officials are again at a loss to account for the delay on the part of Fred A. Dolph in not reporting to the committee the progress being made in the negotiations relative to the proposed traction line north. E. M. Haas, secretary of the Commercial club, said yesterday that no word has been heard from Dolph for over a week, when he promised to meet with the local committee the first part of last week. He did not show up at that time and no word has been heard since. Information was received yesterday that the Fort Wayne and Springfield traction traction line, which was a section of the proposed merger, has been sold to Henry C. Paul, of Fort Wayne.

RELICS FROM OLD COURT HOUSE

Portland, Ind., May 11.—The red glass in the windows of the court house, now being razed, has been presented to the four schools of the city and the public library by W. D. Yount. The few remaining panes of red glass is the only original glass left in the building, erected in 1870. It was transported here from France at the time the building was erected. The city has purchased the old town clock at $25, and the stone arch at the main entrance is offered to the hospital building committee or any other public institution that will accept it, to be used for an entrance to the grounds of a public place, the idea being

WANTS FIRE INVESTIGATED

Hartford City, May 11.—The city clerk has sent word to the state fire marshal asking that he or one of his assistants come to Hartford City, as soon as possible, to make a canvass of the city, in the hope of preventing many small fires which have caused considerable expense to the city. This action was taken upon request of the fire department. There have been several fires caused by defective flues in the past several months and these are considered preventable. It is expected that the fire marshal's office will take action soon. One instance where there have been a number of fires in the past few months is at the Arthur Crox home, in Mill street, owned by Mrs. Irene Kinsley.

AUBURN H. S. GRADUATES.

Auburn, Ind., May 11.—If every member of the senior class of the Auburn high school this year completes his or her work successfully there will be twenty-four graduates from the high school on the night of Wednesday, May 24. Members of the senior class this year are: Helen Baxter, Harry Altenburg, Eugenia Berry, Floyd Batdorf, Lucile Buchtel, Robert Brown, Cleota Carner, Wayne Clark, Ruth Chaney, Argeal Houser, Lillian Kratzer, Don Lechner, Bernice Lawhead, John McIntyre, Hilda Metcalf, Basil Rogers, Mamie Noirel, Van Showers, Hazel Nugen, Charles R. Thornburg, Lucile Shugers, Howard Wimer, Irene Swarts and Marion Thrush.

CHILD DRINKS RED SEAL LYE.

Columbia City, Ind., May 11.—Margaret McCoy, the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCoy, residing southeast of the Compton church in Union township, took a quantity of Red Seal lye while visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Albert Blue, of this city, and her condition was serious for a period of an hour. The child had been brought to this city by her parents in the morning and they were intending to return to the city in the evening and take her home. Mrs. Blue, who was doing some washing and was using Red Seal lye, paid no attention to the child as she played on the floor near the washing machine, and it was during this time that the child got hold of the lye.

WEDDED BLISS WAS BRIEF.

Auburn, Ind., May 11.—Mrs. Cora Darnell, who resides with her mother, Mrs. Baker, on South Main street, Auburn, filed a complaint with the clerk of the court Wednesday in which she asks for a divorce from her husband, Russell J. Darnell. The couple were married March 3, 1914, and a few days after the ceremony Darnell started for Akron, Ohio, to find employment, and from that time to the present he has not lived with her and has wholly failed to provide for her. On account of his desertion and failure to support her, she is asking the court to give her a legal separation.

Y. W. C. A. MOVEMENT STARTED

Huntington, Ind., May 11.—A meeting of young women of Huntington above high school age was held in the assembly room of the court house, Tuesday evening, for the purpose of effecting a permanent organization of the Y. W. C. A. The move was started by Mrs. McCoombe, who was in Huntington with the Honeywell evangelistic party, and she intended to remain in Huntington long enough to help form the organization. She was forced to leave, however, and others took charge of the meeting. The idea of forming the organization is to keep alive the spirit started by the Honeywell meetings, and keep up the work.

DEATH OF ALBION MERCHANT

Albion, Ind., May 11.—Funeral services will be held here this afternoon for Jackson D. Black, who at his death was the oldest surviving business man of this place. He was aged 75 years, was born here and had all his life resided here. He was a son of the late Owen Black, one of the county's earliest business men, who was widely known as a building contractor. J. D. Black engaged in the dry goods business with his father when but a mere youth and had been continuously in that trade since. He is survived by a widow and two sons—Albert and Harry. He had been ill for a long time with Bright's disease.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN.

Columbia City, Ind., May 11.—Ex-County Commissioner Hener Irwin, of Lima township, lost his big barn by fire and his loss will range from $1,500 to $2,500, partially covered with insurance. Everything that was in the barn was lost and the flames had made such headway before they were discovered that not so much as a set of harness could be saved from the burning building. The fire is supposed to have resulted from the burning of some cockle burrs. There was a small pile of them about a hundred and fifty feet or more from the barn, which Mr. Irwin lighted towards evening.

A NOTARY FOR 36 YEARS.

Bluffton, Ind., May 11.—John S. Krewson was in Bluffton from Ossian Wednesday and the purpose of his trip was to visit the office of County Clerk Herman Lesh to have his commission as a notary public renewed. The renewal extends his notarial commission four years, until May 10, 1920, and with the expiration of this commission Mr. Krewson will have been a notary continuously for a period of thirty-six years. His first commission was taken out in 1884 and since that time he has kept his commission continuously effective by successive renewals.

WOMAN INJURED BY A FALL.

Columbia City, Ind., May 11.—Mrs. John Heinbaugh, of Columbia township, took a fall that will confine her to her bed for several weeks to come. Three ribs were fractured, her arms and shoulders bruised and she was slightly injured other ways. Mrs. Heinbaugh heard the family dog barking and making a fuss in the yard. She arose from her bed to investigate and in the darkness stepped backward into the stairway, falling to the bottom.

LAGRANGE SETTLER PASSES

Lagrange, Ind., May 11.—Mrs. Reta Outfelt Wiggins died at the home of her son, Jud, on HawPatch avenue, after intense suffering from cancer on her throat. Mrs. Wiggins came from Ohio and Lagrange county has been her home for many years. Seven years ago she moved from the farm near Woodruff with her son and wife to Lagrange and won a large circle of friends who mourn her departure with the family. The funeral was held from the house, Wednesday afternoon, at 2:30.

WILL HAVE STATE EXHIBIT

Van Wert, Ohio, May 11.—That the exhibit of the Ohio State Agricultural Experiment station will be in Van Wert during the entire fair week, was the word received by Secretary Wallborn of the fair board. The exhibit is a large one and includes the results of a number of experiments carried on by the state experiment station. A large tent is used for the exhibit and two or three men travel with it to explain the many features to all who are interested.

SHEEP SLAIN BY LIGHTNING.

Warsaw, Ind., May 11.—Nicholas Leifer, a farmer residing east of this city, lost sixteen sheep and had several injured in the electrical storm which passed over this city. The sheep had taken shelter under a large tree, which was later struck by lightning. Mr. Leifer's loss is covered by insurance, carried in the Farmers' Mutual company.

CELEBRATE GIRL'S VICTORY.

Van Wert, Ohio, May 11.—The students of Van Wert high school, headed by the school band in gay costume, paraded the streets in the business district and held a great bonfire in honor of Miss Meriam Young, their representative, who won first honors at the Northwestern Ohio Oratorical association in Ada.

FORMER CITIZEN DEAD

Hartford City, Ind., May 11.—Word was received in this city of the death of George Graves, aged about 75 years, who formerly resided in this city. His death occurred at Fort Recovery, where Mr. Graves had been residing since leaving this city. The funeral was held Wednesday and a number of Hartford City relatives were in attendance.

KING'S DAUGHTERS OPEN CONVENTION

International Gathering at Burlington Will Be a Notable One.

Burlington, Ia., May 11.—Delegates and visitors from all sections of the United States and Canada assembled here today for the opening session of the third biennial convention of the International Order of Kings Daughters and Sons. The convention will continue through May 15.

Mrs. Anthony H. Evans, president of the organization, who was to preside at all meetings of the order declared that reports of officers would indicate utmost prosperity and successful endeavor on the part of the members since the close of the last convention two years ago.

Today's session of the convention was merely perfunctory. It included a meeting of members of the central council, made up of members from New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, California, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Missouri, Michigan, Mississippi, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Texas, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Montana, New Brunswick, Ontario, British Columbia and Prince Edward Island, and the registration of delegates.

Friday's session of the convention was to include the reports of officers and of the resolutions committee and the committee on announcements.

The formal ballot for the officers and central council for all the coming two years will be taken Saturday, but aside from this the convention session will be chiefly social.

The final reports of committees and action thereon will be taken Monday morning and the announcement of the ballot taken Saturday will be made. The convention will close Monday night.

Included in the list of speakers at the various sessions are the following:

ANTWERP NEWS.

Antwerp, Ohio, May 11.—The marriage of Miss Hazel Oswald is announced, the groom being Ed Dochterman, of Fort Wayne, Ind. The marriage took place at Paulding, and was solemnized by Rev. Lane, of the Presbyterian church of that place. The bride is a popular member of the younger set here.

The Senior class play has been postponed until Tuesday evening, May 10.

Word has been received here by relatives announcing that Mrs. Ralph Lacy, of Columbus, O., is an inmate of Grant hospital, that city, to which place she was taken Sunday, where she underwent a serious and painful operation. W. F. Fleck, father of Mrs. Lacy, received word from her husband Monday that she withstood the operation and was doing finely, and was expected to recover her normal health soon.

W. J. Graves has gone for a trip up into Michigan, his objective point being Adrian, at which place he will sojourn with friends.

A. A. Pointer, proprietor of the Antwerp Electric light plant, now a resident of Fort Wayne, was a visitor here several days this week attending to business matters in connection with the sale of some of his village property.

X. G. Osborn, former editor of the Antwerp Bee-Argus, we learn, has gone to Holgate, O., where he has assumed the management of a newspaper.

An edict has been rendered, so we are informed, whereby the pig is relegated to the background by our authorities. No one is to be allowed to keep a prospective "smoked bacon" within the limits of the village between the 1st of April and the 1st of November of each year.

The pupils of the rural schools will participate in a track meet at the Fair Grounds, at Paulding, Saturday, May 13. The athletes of the different schools will then have a chance to show their skill in a number of events. At the same time and place the high school athletes will present a program of events which will be participated in by all the high schools in the county, and Antwerp high expects to be in on a number of winning numbers.

Thos. Carr, wife and baby, Maxine, of Barborton, O., were visitors here a few days this week, the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Smith and family. He returned to Barborton Thursday, while wife and little daughter will remain for a couple of weeks' further visit.

Mrs. J. L. Johnson accompanied by her daughter, Flossie Johnson, were the guests of friends at Fort Wayne Tuesday.

Henry Bowie, of Findlay, O., was a visitor here a few days this week, looking after his farming interests south of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Putnam Hall were passengers to Woodburn, Wednesday, where they will visit, being the guests of the person, Frank Hall and family.

Several car loads of paving brick have been received here this week, and same are being placed along the proposed Main street improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Smith were among the passengers to Fort Wayne from this place Wednesday.

Mrs. John Hughes, of Emmett, O., visited at this place Wednesday, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Pearl Longberry and family.

B. A. Zeigler was a visitor at the Summit City Tuesday and Wednesday, being the guest of Mrs. W. S. Rodgers and family.

The Star theater, formerly managed by John Palmer, has been given into the management of his brother, C. C. Palmer.

DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

Isaiah 55:1-7.

1. Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat: yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price.

2. Wherefore do ye spend money for that which is not bread? and your labour for that which satisfieth not? hearken diligently unto me, and eat ye that which is good, and let your soul delight itself in fatness.

3. Incline your ear, and come unto me: hear, and your soul shall live; and I will make an everlasting covenant with you, even the sure mercies of David.

4. Behold, I have given him for a witness to the people, a leader and commander to the people.

5. Behold, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, and nations that knew not thee shall run unto thee, because of the Lord thy God, and for the Holy One of Israel; for he hath glorified thee.

6. Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near.

7. Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him: and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon.

Let us fall into their sin, let us sit believably before God and turn our closets into chapels for this great prophet-evangelist's message.

Recording Fort Wayne History.

The proposal of descendants of Henry Rudisill to place in the Rudisill school a bronze tablet bearing a portrait of Mr. Rudisill, whose death occurred something like seventy years ago, together with a brief sketch of his activities in pioneer Fort Wayne, is in happy keeping with the apparent determination to permanently record the important events and the doings of some of the conspicuous figures in Fort Wayne's history. There has been a notable awakening to this opportunity in recent years, as witnessed by the marker at Wayne trace, the monument to Johnny Appleseed, the designation of the site of Harmer's defeat and other movements of like character.

Mr. Rudisill was easily one of the strong characters who did much in the building of Fort Wayne. His memory is honored in the conferring of his name upon a boulevard and a school in this city, but such distinction is merely casual and it means little to those who have not taken occasion to inform themselves upon the details of early local history. Definite information that will fix the public mind upon these pioneer leaders—and there were scores of them—will be invaluable as information to all of us, and infinitely invaluable in developing the civic spirit in the newer generations. Fort Wayne is engaged in a very fine work when it takes steps to infallibly record the names of the pioneer giants who transmuted much of their rugged character, their sturdy integrity and their large visions of the future into the making of the great city which is our pride today. There is opportunity for much more of the same sort of useful tribute which the descendants of Mr. Rudisill are now paying to his memory. The Indiana centennial year, too, is a fine time in which to do it.

The prospect that President Wilson will find it possible to accept Fort Wayne's invitation to be its guest during the centennial celebration next month is not especially promising, though the invitation of the local committee has been supplemented by the personal efforts of Senator Kern, Senator Taggart and Congressman Cline. The president has expressed his appreciation of Fort Wayne's consideration and has indicated that if diplomatic conditions permit, he will be glad to accept, and has promised a definite answer soon. It is easy to understand that confronted by the particularly exacting burdens with which President Wilson is constantly beset, it is difficult for him to find time for the diversions which are permitted the ordinary man. It will be a very great pleasure for the people of Fort Wayne and of Northern Indiana to greet the president if he finds it possible to come to us in June.

Statistics filed by 325 American railroads with the bureau of railway news an dstatistics show the remarkable fact that during the fiscal year 1915 not a single fatality to a passenger resulted from train accident. The roads reporting operate a total of 161,948 miles of line, and it is declared that this record of safe operation has never been equalled either in America or abroad. There were roads not listed with the bureau which had fatal accidents to passengers, it is true, but the showing of the larger number is one to which the American railroad man may point with pride. He has gone far in making the life of passengers safe and in lowering the hazards to himself as well.

Members of the ways and means committee of the house of representatives are now confronted by the task of providing for next year a sum for the maintenance of the affairs of government which is estimated to be $250,000,000 in excess of the sum available during the fiscal year now nearing a close. Among other things for which you might be thankful is that you're not a member of the ways and means committee.

The finding of the body of an aged man lying in an open field near Fort Wayne where, four or five days before he had ended his life with a pistol because he had been completely ensnared by the drink habit, hardly needs emphasis as a temperance lecture. It should cry as from the housetops its warning to countless others who are headed in the same direction and traveling with shocking rapidity to a doom no less deplorable.

George W. Perkins, progressive chieftain, has contributed another interesting chapter to current politics by the statement that the progressives, while enthusiastically for Colonel Roosevelt, would, as a compromise, accept his equal if the republicans can produce the man. At the same time, the progressives are by no means certain that there is, anywhere or at any time, as good a man as the colonel.

Superintendents of various Indiana poor asylums who have been holding a convention at Indianapolis are advocating that their positions be taken out of politics, and wherever they are in it, they most certainly should be taken out. When we succeed in getting out of politics everything that shouldn't be there, politics will not have a great deal left.

Indians Celebrate Last Thanksgiving

Yakima Indian with his share of last tribal Thanksgiving feast.

North Yakima, Wash., May 11.—The last Thanksgiving day! The Yakima Indians here have just celebrated it.

It marked the passing of a long war between the red men and state officials, and a renunciation by the Indians of what they believed solemn treaty rights to fish anywhere their fathers fished.

The event was celebrated, by permission from the state fish commissioner, with a great salmon feast at Prosser dam, near here.

The Yakimas had sent word that they would pledge themselves hereafter to observe the white men's laws if for the last time they were permitted to catch all the salmon they wanted on their annual gala day. This request was granted by Commissioner Darwin.

The salmon soiree was attended by nearly 2,000 aborigines wielding dip-

nets, and broiling their succulent catch over open fires.

For years there had been contention between the Yakimas and the laws of officers regarding the Indians' fishing rights. The latter maintained they were given the privilege of catching salmon in the places their tribe had been accustomed to taking them, in return for the ceding of lands under old treaties.

Commissioner Darwin and his deputies held that the red men should enjoy no special fishing concessions over white men. Bitter legal warfare and arrests resulted, and actual trouble was narrowly averted.

Now all is serene along the Prosser. The taste of fish is still sweet in the mouths of the Yakimas.

Only the old men mourn, silently—the old men who have seen so many precious rights surrendered for a mess of pottage.

(Indianapolis Star).

The American Bankers' association, according to its executive committee now in session, is organizing a thrift campaign for the purpose of teaching the American people to save $8,000,000 that they waste annually. Presumably this effort is to be directed toward the prevention of wasteful spending and the encouragement of saving of pennies, dimes and dollars, millions of which go in small and needless expenditures.

It is a movement in the right direction, for Americans, as a class, are careless spenders and take little account of their small change. In large matters, too, they lack thrift and this lack is shown throughout their entire social fabric and extends to public affairs. Such a thing as real public economy, the close and careful management of the efficient man gives to his private business is practically unknown in this country.

Our financial history in city, state and nation is a record of enormous waste and extravagance, not always a result of dishonesty by any means, but often of the careless and loose administration that necessarily grows out of the characteristic American disregard for economy. Ours is a country of plenty; we have had the great prosperity and it has been easy to spend, but thrift is none the less desirable and necessary and if the bankers can conduct an effective campaign in this direction, they will serve the public well.

GERMAN STATEMENT WILL BE ACCEPTED

Offer of Apology in Sussex
Case to Be Followed
by Indemnities.

Washington, May 11.—Germany's admission that the English channel steamer Sussex was torpedoed by one of her submarines which mistook it for a warship, the apology and the offer to make suitable financial reparation to Americans who suffered injuries when the attack was made will probably be accepted by the state department.

The German note, addressed to Ambassador Gerard, is as follows:

"Supplementing his note of the fourth instant, concerning the conduct of the German submarine warfare, the undersigned has the honor to inform his excellency, the American ambassador, Mr. James W. Gerard, that the further investigation made by the German authorities concerned in regard to the French steamship Sussex, on the basis of the American material, has been concluded in the meantime. In conformity with the result of this investigation the assumption expressed in the note of the undersigned of the tenth ultimo, that the damage of the Sussex was to be traced back to a cause other than the attack of a German submarine cannot be maintained.

"Such an assumption had to be arrived at with certainty from the material in the possession of the German government, for itself, and without further knowledge of the circumstances connected with the torpedoing of the Sussex, the more so as apart from the points enumerated in the note of the tenth ultimo, the following facts had come to the attention of admiralty staff of the navy through reliable information: March twenty-four, nineteen sixteen, approximately at the same time as the Sussex, an auxiliary warship left the port of Folkestone with a large transport of British infantry on board; on the same day a transport steamer was torpedoed in the channel, a few minutes preceding the Sussex, the submarine had passed through a mass of ship wreckage, which created the impression that a ship had been sunk at that spot shortly before. All these facts justified the conclusion that the only cause of torpedoing which could be considered under the circumstances had struck the British war vessel whereas the Sussex had met with an accident in some other way.

"However, on the basis of the American material, the German government cannot withhold its conviction that the ship torpedoed by the German submarine is in fact identical with the Sussex, for in accordance with this material the place, the time, and the effect of the explosion by which the Sussex was damaged, agree in the essential details with the statements of the German commander, so that there can no longer be any question of the possibility of two independent occurrences. An additional reason is constituted by the fact that officers of the American navy found fragments of an explosive in the hold of the Sussex which are described by them upon firm grounds as parts of a German torpedo.

"Finally the counter evidence which was deduced in the note of the tenth ultimo from the difference in appearance of the vessel and the only reproduction of the Sussex then available has proven to be untenable, inasmuch as according to a photograph of the damaged Sussex now to hand, the characteristic distinctions no longer existed at the time of the accident; while the Sussex in the photograph of the Daily Graphic in closed in the note only carried one mast and also showed the white gangway customary on passenger vessels on the level with the portholes O. W. S., the reproduction of the damaged Sussex shows a second mast and a uniform dark color, and thus approaches in her outer appearance the description of the vessel as furnished by the submarine commander.

"In view of the general impression of all the facts at hand, the German government considers it beyond doubt that the commander of the submarine acted in the bona fide belief that he was facing an enemy warship. On the other hand, it cannot be denied that, misled by the appearance of the vessel, under the pressure of the circumstances, he formed his judgment too hurriedly in establishing her character and did not therefore act fully in accordance with the strict instruction which called upon him to exercise particular care.

"In view of these circumstances the German government frankly admits that the assurance given to the American government in accordance with which passenger vessels were not to be attacked without warning has not been adhered to in the present case. As was intimated by the undersigned in the note of the fourth instant, the German government does not hesitate to draw from this resultant consequences. It therefore expresses to the American government its sincere regret regarding the deplorable incident and declares its readiness to pay an adequate indemnity to the injured American citizens. It also disapproved of the conduct of the commander, who has been appropriately punished.

"Expressing the hope that the American government will consider the case of the Sussex as settled by these statements, the undersigned avails himself of this occasion to renew to the ambassador the assurance of his highest consideration.

SILKEN MOOSE, OR PARLIAMENT, WHICH?

Either May Await Casement in Picturesque, Much-Bewigged Trial.

London, England, May 9.—Sir Roger Casement, Irish revolutionist, may be hanged to death with a silken moose—or elected to parliament.

LORD READING

(In wig he will wear at trial of Sir Roger Casement.)

There is ample precedent for either fate.

When he faces trial on a charge of treason it will be before a tribunal headed by the world's foremost Jew!

Lord Reading, lord chief justice of England, who was Sir Rufus Isaacs, will preside at the trial, assisted by two "pious justices" selected from the 14 other members of the king's bench of the high court of justice. Westminster hall probably will be the scene of the trial, and, in accordance with British legal custom, it will all be over quickly.

Lord Reading and his two assistants will appear in wigs and robes, those of the chief justice being trimmed with ermine. The chief attorneys on either side also will wear wigs and silken robes.

In the event of a death penalty for Casement, Lord Reading will remove his wig, and, during the reading of the sentence, will wear a small black cap. This is custom.

Death sentence is read briefly. At least two Sundays elapse between sentence and execution. The prisoner is told in advance, however, the date of his death. Because of his rank, a silken cord would be used in the case of Casement in place of the plain hemp that throttles plain persons.

There is, however, a large possibility that Casement will not die!

The last famous treason trial in England was that of Arthur Lynch, an Irish-Australian, who commanded a regiment of Boers in the South African war. Lynch was sentenced to death, but the decree was commuted to imprisonment and after a year's incarceration Lynch was pardoned.

Lynch afterward announced his loyalty to Great Britain and is now a member of parliament (nationalist) from County Clare, Ireland.

One reason leniency may be extended Casement is the general belief that he is mentally unbalanced because of privations endured while acting as consul and consul-general in the Congo and Amazon valleys.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once.

Graying hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold. Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing at any time.—Advertisement.

Mrs. Oren Smith and babe, of Indianapolis, will arrive about the middle of May for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. Anne Buhler, of Indianapolis, who visited here, left for Fort Wayne to visit with her sister, Mrs. L. L. Syphers, before returning home.

Mrs. J. C. Evans and daughter, Betty, returned to Hoagland, after a visit here with Mrs. Rachel Mallonee.

Mr. Dehl and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frank Dehl, returned to Fort Wayne, after attending to business here, at the Wemhoff monumental works.

George Berg, superintendent of the Tri-State Fish Hatcheries at Columbus City, was here and brought 200,000 wild eyed pike which he placed in the St. Mary's river to stock the same. More will be brought in a month or so, including other varieties. They were brought on application of O. H. Odell, Erie agent.

John Lewis, aged six, son of Hubert DeVoss, was given a surprise for his sixth birthday anniversary. Six little boy friends were the guests.

George Krick, of the Krick, Tyndall company, is in Indianapolis, attending the claymakers' convention.

TRoubled AT NIGHT.

Painful, annoying bladder weakness usually indicates kidney trouble and kidney trouble never should be neglected. Backache, rheumatism, sore, swollen or stiff muscles or joints—all these have been relieved by Foley Kidney Pills. They act promptly and efficiently and help to heal. Henry Rudolph, Carmi, Ill., writes: "I was bothered with burning in back and was troubled at night and had to get up several times. Since taking Foley Kidney Pills I sleep all night without getting up." Drier Drug Co.—Advertisement.

The Kre-Mo Girl

Says:

Have you tried my recipe for Kre-Mo Custard? Oh, then, you must do it now, because it's just too delicious for anything! This is the way:

Kre-Mo Sterilized Rice Custard

One cup of boiled Kre-Mo Sterilized Rice, two eggs, two cups of milk, one-half cup of sugar, a teaspoon of butter; vanilla or nutmeg to taste. Beat eggs and sugar and butter together. Add to the beaten eggs, sugar and butter; then add hot milk and stir thoroughly. Sprinkle with nutmeg or add vanilla, and bake in a pan of water until brown. I really wish you would try this recipe just once. You'll thank me for it.

Kre-Mo Sterilized Rice

is excellent prepared as a breakfast food. One fifteen-cent package makes seven pounds of prepared food. Kre-Mo Pancakes, Waffles, Muffins, Gems, Croquettes and Custards are splendid.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

Guy Bates Post in "Omar, the Tentmaker." This Evening.

The most spectacular attraction that has graced our stage in several seasons is coming to the Majestic theater for one performance Thursday evening, May 11th, when Guy Bates Post will appear in the title role of Richard Walton Tully's sensational Persian romance, "Omar, the Tentmaker," which played an entire season in New York. Mr. Tully, who is a native of California, is universally recognized as one of the foremost dramatists in America and in his latest work he has surpassed his previous successes. "The Bird of Paradise" and "The Rose of the Rancho," both of which are pleasurable recollections of all theatergoers. For a number of seasons Mr. Post has been regarded as one of the foremost dramatic artists of our stage, but it has remained for his splendid impersonation of the beloved Persian poet to entrench him definitely as the most interesting figure in romantic roles since the passing of the late Richard Mansfield.

Scenically, the equipment of "Omar, the Tentmaker," is so massive and elaborate that only the largest stages in America will accommodate the succession of huge settings which are a conspicuous feature of the attraction.

Society

Honoring her daughter, Mrs. Albert Mitchell, of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. John A. Shoff invited fifteen young women friends to play auction bridge at her home in Spy Run avenue this afternoon. The gathering was informal, but very delightful. Miss Helen Kelly, of Las Vegas, N. M., who is visiting Mrs. Robert Fox, was a visiting guest.

A lovely afternoon party of Wednesday was Miss Irma Henderson's entertainment of fifteen girlhood friends of her cousin, Mrs. Jerry Strayer, of Los Angeles, Cal. Sewing was the order of the afternoon with tempting refreshments as the afternoon drew to a close.

An aluminum gift shower in honor of Miss Bernadette Mohl was given Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Myrtle Sackman, of South Wayne avenue. Progressive rump was played and prizes were won by Miss Bernadette, Dittor, Loretta Christen and Mrs. Raymond Lee, which were presented to the bride-elect. Other present were Misses Lillian Grosh, Josephine Ertle, Sophie Gruber, Irene Martin, Clara Sackman, Marcella Royhans, Rose Sackman, Leona Kleinrichert, Madeline Bicketta, Marie Jehl, Freda Bauerle, Mrs. and Mrs. J. Sackman and Master Leonard. During the time a delicious supper was served on a beautifully decorated table, the colors being in white and yellow ribbons and in the center a large bouquet of yellow and white daisies. At each plate was placed a tiny candy basket and the only light in the dining room was furnished by candles which were put at each plate.

The Shakespeare club members held a banquet at the Y. W. C. A. on Wednesday evening and after the feast served in the private diningroom formed a party to go to the Empress and see two amateur plays given under the auspices of St. Ann's Guild of the Episcopal church. The particular attraction to the club was one of the plays, a parody on several Shakespearean women. The dinner at the association was very prettily appointed with violets, the club flower, which formed nosegays for the company, and many lovely roses that made the table decoration. Covers were laid for sixteen. Miss Mary E. Dick presided as toastmaster and responses were made by Miss Alice Haberker, Mrs. John Abercrombie, Miss Carrie Snively, Miss Ellen McKee, Mrs. Charles Cherry and Miss Mabel Crosby. Other members of the club are Miss Elizabeth Freeman, Mrs. W. W. Mackney, Miss Agnes McKee, Miss Annette and Maudie Gaskins, Miss Katharine Williams, Mrs. Sam Taylor, Mrs. Fisher, Miss Margaret Smith, Miss Bertha Medsker, Miss Beatrice Kell, Miss Mabel Hutch.

Mrs. Fred Bondell, of Oliver street, is visiting friends at Daisy, Ohio. Mrs. John Cowan is visiting friends in Columbia City.

Dr. and Mrs. Gaylord M. Leslie are in Indianapolis for a few days' stay. Mrs. Myron Downing left on Thursday for West Baden, for a ten days' stay.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Puckett have as their guest, their daughter, Mrs. Gordon Eby, of Elkhart.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Schoe are to start on Friday for a motor trip to Louisville, Ky.

Mrs. Rachael Payne has returned from a visit in Whiting, accompanied by her son, William Payne, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. James Moxey left on Thursday for Rome City for a fortnight's stay at their cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Jones have returned from Millville, Fla., where they spent the entire winter.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Lutheran hospital will meet at the nurses' home on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. May Frisby, of Columbia avenue, left on Wednesday for North Yakima, Wash., to live.

Mr. and Mrs. George Randall and Mr. and Mrs. Austin Stults spent Wednesday in Warsaw, making the trip by motor.

Miss Margaret Shultz entertained the Opportunity circle of King's Daughters, at her home on the Decatur road, on Tuesday evening.

The wedding of Miss Hannah Wambagans and Paul W. Hitzemann will be celebrated at the home of the bride on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Martin Dodd, of Toledo, O., who was the guest of Miss Alice Knight, of Spy Run avenue, for several days, returned home on Wednesday.

C. M. Nizer will be the speaker at the meeting of the Bloomingdale school parent-teacher club instead of Judge Eggeman, who has been called out of town.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lapp, of Maple avenue, had a family gathering at their home at dinner on Wednesday evening in celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Mrs. B. P. Mossman, Mrs. B. J. Griswold and Mrs. George Jacobs are to combine efforts as hostesses Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Mossman, to entertain the South Side Tennis-Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Jones have returned from their wedding trip and are now at home at 129 East Leith street. Mrs. Jones was Miss Ray Sien, of New York city, and her wedding to Mr. Jones took place on April 25. Mr. Jones is the well known painter and decorator.

At the meeting of the Morning Musical on Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock in Elks' hall the new centennial hymn, music by Mr. Goodrich, will be sung by a mixed quartet. The music is very pretty and every member of the society is anxious to get familiar with its melody and to hear its splendid harmonic construction.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Kinder, of Arch, Ind., announce the coming marriage of their daughter, Geneva Martha, to Frank Howell Rockhill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Rockhill, on Tuesday, May 10, at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's church. The coming marriage is somewhat of a surprise to the many friends of the bride, who has been a frequent visitor in this city.

Miss Edith Ruppe entertained the Chi-Rho girls at her home on East Creighton avenue, Tuesday evening. Progressive bunco formed the chief amusement of the evening. Prizes were won by Misses Helen Kiol and Mathilda Klungenberger. At a late hour the girls were invited to the dining room where Miss Ruppe served a buffet luncheon. Other members present were Misses Helen Lindeman, Agnes Sites, Laura Wickliff, Ruth Center, Myrtle Mertens, Helen Jones, Lillian Hoppe, Betha Perkins and Elsie Schmidt.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Flowers, who moved Monday to Hillsdale, Mich., were given a supper party on Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Koehler, of Hick street. Only relatives were invited to the supper, but later the bride and groom were much surprised by a company of young people who included the Elks' club, of which the groom is a member, and a number of other friends of both bride and groom. The merriest kind of a time resulted. The Alberts mandolin club, Elmer Stoll and Mr. Storm, pianists, and the Donsill quartet, furnished a lot of good music. The Alberts club took a hand-some Morris chair along as a gift to the groom and the bride was fairly showered with useful and handsome gifts from relatives and friends. It was a late hour when the young people decided to go to their respective homes. In the meantime, Mrs. Koehler, assisted by her daughters and other relatives, served light refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Flowers will soon be at home in their new residence in Buchanan street. The company was a merry one and the entire time was a happy one for everyone present.

Mrs. Margaret Knapp, of 2828 Weiser Park avenue, reached the seventieth anniversary of her birth on Monday, May 8, and in her honor her daughters celebrated on Sunday and Monday. On Sunday the gathering was at the home of Mrs. L. A. Dilling, of 2810 Weiser Park avenue, with a fine dinner, all of which was a surprise to Mrs. Knapp. Thirteen sat down to the dinner and shared the pleasure of the day and the family gathering, with but one absent member, a daughter, who could not leave her Nebraska home to be here just at this time. All but one of Mrs. Knapp's six daughters are married, but Miss Elsie Knapp makes her home with her mother. The absent daughter, Mrs. J. C. Peck, of Kanesaw, Neb., could not come east at this time. That made present at the dinner with their families, Mrs. Knapp and her children, Mrs. J. A. Kline, of Tama, Wash.; Mrs. Harry Zeimann, of Gracill; Mrs. F. L. Dehl, Mrs. L. A. Dilling and their families, and Miss Elsie Knapp. The table decorations were in blue and white and the room was decorated with apple blossoms with "mother's chair" in blue and white trimmings and a big bunch of apple blossoms at her plate. Apple blossoms were favors for all the company. There was a big angel cake with seventy blue and white tapers on it and everything told of the birthday party and honor to the birthday anniversary lady. On Monday there was another family gathering at the home of Mrs. Knapp, when her children all came to dine, and read the one-hundredth postal cards that were showered upon her along with many beautiful gifts.

Dochterman-Oswald. Many Fort Wayne friends are interested in the wedding of Mr. Edward Neal Dochterman, a son of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Dochterman, of Lake avenue, to Miss Hazel Dell Oswald, which took place in Pandling, O., on May 8. The bride is a granddaughter of Mr. R. B. Champion, of Antwerp, O., and she is a finely educated and brilliant young woman. The bride was graduated from the University of Michigan. The marriage ceremony was read by Rev. Lincoln Long. After the marriage the bride and groom came to this city and were entertained at the home of the groom's parents. The groom is very well known in Fort Wayne and is exceedingly popular in athletic circles and in railroad circles. Mr. Dochterman has been assistant ticket agent for the New York Central and St. Louis road in this city for some time. The bride and groom left later in the day for a trip to the Pacific coast and on their return will make their home in this city.

Rebber-Moeller. Miss Clara Moeller and Mr. Herman Rebber were married on Sunday afternoon in St. Paul's Lutheran church at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. Jacob Miller officiating. The attendants were Miss Adeline Moeller, a sister to the bride; Miss Emma Meyer, Miss Leah Peoples and Messrs. Herman Moeller, Fred and Arthur Rebber, also relatives of either the bride or the groom. The bride was dressed in white and she wore a veil held in place with lilacs of the valley and the bridal bouquet was of bride roses and lilacs. The bridesmaids were dressed similarly in pink and carried pink roses. A reception and supper was Munro-Stoll.

A pretty wedding took place at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the parsonage of Emmaus church when Rev. Philip Wambagans united in marriage Miss Florence C. Stoll, daughter of Mrs. Anna Stoll, and Mr. Raymond B. Munro, formerly from Fostoria, O. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Lee Munro. The bride wore a beautiful gown of gray messaline combined with georgette crepe of the same color, and her hat, gloves and shoes were the same color. The wedding supper was served at the bride's home and a little later the bride and groom left over the Pennsylvania for an eastern trip, and after their return they will live with the bride's mother until their own home is ready for occupancy. The bride held a position for several years as cashier at the Lehman shoe store. Mr. Munro is a boilermaker in the Pennsy shops.

HARMAR SCHOOL P-T. CLUB.

The Parent-Teacher club of the Harmar public school will hold the closing meeting of the season on Friday afternoon at the school and at that time will elect officers for the coming year. The ladies of the club have planned to have a home-bake and candy sale and an interesting program for the afternoon has been prepared. At 2:30 in the afternoon there will be an exhibition of gymnastics exercises by the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades under the supervision of Miss Irma Dochterman, to be followed by an address by Dr. J. H. Gilpin, secretary of the board of health. The election of officers will conclude the session. The officers of the club urge a large attendance of members and extend an invitation to all patrons of the school.

AMATEUR PLAYS A SUCCESS.

The young women of Trinity Episcopal church, who compose St. Ann's guild, felt well repaid for their efforts to get up an entertainment and dispose of tickets to it when the amateur plays, given at the Empress theater on Wednesday evening, went off so well with a large audience to witness them. The two plays were of the kind that are full of talk and have but comparatively little action, so that the efforts of the young women giving them was all the more appreciated. In the short playlet, "Petitioned Perfidy," Misses Alta Lane and Margery Kilgore had the bulk of the conversation, but Miss Virginia Randall had the catchy part of the act. Each did very well indeed and shared honors about equally, though Miss Kilgore's lines were the most distinct, owing to a stronger carrying quality of her voice. The second play was a parody on Juliet, Ophelia and Lady Macbeth. Miss Virginia Cary looked and acted Juliet charmingly and as she wore a costume that once belonged to Miss Julia Marlowe and is besides a very attractive looking young girl, it was easy to imagine a balcony and a hidden Romeo, except for the comedy lines and the net Juliet was when Romeo does call her from behind the scenes. Miss Helen O'Rourke, as Portia, had a chance to show her lovely speaking quality of voice and she was dignified and recognized her own importance, as her part demanded. Miss Phyllis Randall was groomed and flower-bedecked as Ophelia in proper fashion and she had much of the comedy to say as she was continually quoting Hamlet's most familiar lines and had a drawl in saying, "Ham says," that tickled the audience immensely. Miss Bessie Baldwin.

AT THE TEMPLE.

MISS HAMERICK REMAINS A WEEK

Fort Wayne players will be pleased to learn that Miss Ethel Hamerick, leading lady with the Temple stock company, who was to have severed her connection with the troupe Saturday night, has consented to remain for another week, and will play the leading part in two splendid offerings which have been booked for the Temple next week.

Beginning tonight Miss Hamerick will play the part of Lottie, the poor saleslady, in the comedy of that name, which opens a three-day engagement at the Temple at popular prices, with Saturday matinee.

The characters are intensely human and of a type to be seen in every city. Lottie, a glove counter girl, tires of her humdrum life in the store. Her opportunity to escape comes in the form of a substantial sum of money which she inherits. She determines to have her fling in the so-called society from which she has been barred by reason of her lowly surroundings and environment. She has many strange experiences, some laughable, others pathetic, and her ideas of life undergo a change. The hall-room boys, portrayed by Walter Poulter and Maurice Jenkins, and the scenes in a boarding house are screams.

OSSIAN NEWS.

Ossian, Ind., May 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Minor Hoover proved themselves delightful entertainers when on Tuesday evening they had as their guests the members of the Pleasant Word Circle and the young men of Frank M. Rector's Sunday school class. The guests all met at Rector Bros. store and were taken in autos to the country home of the Hoovers. The house was very nicely decorated with dog wood blossoms. The devotional exercises were led by Mrs. Floyd H. Henline. Favorite hymns of Helen Keller were given at roll call. Interesting and appropriate talks were given by Rev. J. Orr Powell, E. H. Roe and Frank M. Rector. A social hour, with games and contests, followed. Delicious refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served. Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames M. S. Henline, Carl Wilson, Floyd Henline, Walker Roe, Homer Goshorn, Homer Finner, Harold Mahensmith, E. H. Roe, Dallas Richey, Ernest Vananda, Albert Melchior, Fred Vananda, Lester Henline, Evan Hoover, Robert Hall, Roe Hunter, Rank Hall, J. O. Powell, Frank M. Rector, James Crabill, Emmett Rector and Mesdames Mande Swihart, David Hall and Orin McMillen and Mr. Anson Buck.

Messrs. Strait and Dalle, field examiners for the state board of accounts, were in Ossian Tuesday and went over the records of Jefferson Township Trustee W. W. Fryback. They also examined the records of the town clerk, Ernest Vananda.

J. S. Krewson, who has been ill the past week with grip, is again able to be out. He made a business trip to Bluffton Wednesday.

The N. M. G. club was most delightfully entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. M. E. Spencer. The ladies responded to roll call with questions from Whittier. Mrs. E. T. Hawley read a biography of Whittier. The ladies spent the evening visiting with their crocheting and the hostess conducted a punny contest. A splendid two course supper was served by Mrs. Spencer. Those present were Mesdames C. A. Bowman, George M. Way, John Hanna, John Woodward, Josephus Caston, E. T. Hawley, Frank McDowell, John V. Goshorn and Frank Quackenbush. The next club meeting will be Tuesday evening, May 23, with Mrs. J. V. Goshorn.

Miss May Weaver will be hostess for the Philathea Girls on Friday evening. Mrs. Ethel Kemper and sons, Leroy and Robert, of Fremont, came to Ossian Tuesday evening for a few days' visit with Mrs. Kemper's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Green.

The local W. C. T. U. will meet Friday afternoon with Miss Lida Allen.

Mrs. Marion Hoover went to Muncie Tuesday to the home of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Shepherd. Mrs. Hoover's father has been quite ill for some time, and she went to be with him during an operation which he was to undergo Wednesday.

F. M. Shanklin, a representative of the United States department of agriculture from Lafayette, will be in Ossian Tuesday evening, May 16th, to give a free picture show at the Correll picture theater. Mr. Shanklin is a state club organizer, organizing clubs for boys and girls, to instruct the boys in the raising of pigs and the girls in sewing. Harry Gray, the county agricultural agent will also be present and bring with him his slides, giving a talk on the feeding of hogs. All the boys and girls of the vicinity are urged to see these pictures. Later on they expect to form a pig club and a sewing club and prizes will be offered for efficiency in each.

Mrs. J. S. Burnett has been on the sick list since Sunday suffering from gall stones.

Mrs. T. V. Rector will be hostess for the Needlecraft club Friday evening.

Mrs. W. W. Fryback has completed taking the annual enumeration for Jefferson township and the result is unique, in that it is the same number of males and females—400 each—making a total of 800 for Jefferson township. This is one less than last year's enumeration, which was 801. The count includes all children between the ages of six and twenty-one.

Miss Phoebe Summers entertained very nicely the E. T. C. club on Monday evening. After an hour devoted to fancy work the girls gave their attention to domestic science, making Welsh rarebit and the accompanying bits, which all enjoyed. Those present were Misses Ruth Bailey, Marjory Hill, Erma Bowman, Mary Roe and Marie Hunter.

The Standard Bearers were entertained Tuesday evening by Misses Gay Bunn and Marjory Hunter at the home of Miss Bunn. The young ladies spent the evening sewing garments for the missionary box, which the M. E. church ladies are preparing to send to India. While the others were busy with their needles Misses How Elzey and Martha Way read selections from the missionary paper. Later nice cups of sandwhiches and lemonade were served to all. Those present were Misses Mary and

FURS BRING PROFIT—ESKIMOS ARE NOW REJOICING.

Eskimo belles, ready to let suitors spend some of the fur money in making them happy.

Nome, Alaska, May 11.—The annual sale of Eskimo trappers' furs in Seattle has brought jubilation to the natives up northward.

Shipped to Seattle by parcel post and sold under bid at prevailing market prices, the marten, mink, otter and fox pelts brought returns to the trappers far in excess of the sums they used to get here from local traders.

Father Eskimo can now lay in a new supply of tobacco.

Mother Eskimo can make her neighbor envious with treasured personal adornments.

The young village blade is "flush."

And the kids can buy all-day suckers and candies and know the delights of chewing gum brought from the nearest trading post.

The fur sale brings in ready cash. It is an event awaited eagerly all year. Coming at a time when spring fever is just beginning to make even the staid Eskimo coltish, and when the "love moon" is bright in northern skies, it is all the more welcome because of the purchases it permits.

More pelts were sold this year than ever before. They are handed for the natives by the United States bureau of education for Alaska at Seattle.

Thrift, industry and education have been greatly stimulated through this channel and prosperity substituted for want in many regions of the Arctic.

School Tennis Tourney Is Under Way --- Defiance Gets Toledo Players

DEFIANCE LOADS FOR GAME WITH CLEARY'S FORT WAYNE CROWD

Owner Weber, of the Defiance Independents, went to Toledo yesterday to pick up some likely stock for his baseball team. Weber realizes that he is running into a pretty hard proposition on the local lot, and is strengthening his forces to meet it.

Capt. Aggie Grant, manager of the Defiance team, is working out his men every evening, and the visitors will have a lot more experience and team work than the local boys, but with the shifts in the line-up in his crows, Bill Hillinger, Mart Cleary's field boss, feels that he will be able to hold out against the invaders.

POOR RELIEF PLANS OF STATES COMPARED

Public Charity Service of Illinois and Indiana Contrasted.

Indianapolis, May 11.—A copy of "The Institution Quarterly," the official organ of the public charity service of Illinois, just received by the Indiana state board of charities, contains an interesting comparison of poor relief plans of the two states. The cost of outdoor relief in Indiana for 1915 for $393,000, compared with $1,500,000 expended by Illinois.

Under the present Indiana poor law, which was enacted in 1895, the quarterly states, that the cost has been decreased from 25 cents per capita to 14½ cents per capita, while the Illinois rate was 25 cents per capita in 1915. In 1895, the total cost in Indiana was $630,000 and in 1915 it was $393,000.

In explaining the Indiana law, the quarterly quotes from a report by Amos W. Butler, secretary of the Indiana state board of charities, as follows: "The law provides for immediate help in emergency cases; for full investigation before anything more than emergency aid can be given; for a permanent record of facts; for co-operation with relatives of the applicant; and finally for oversight of the poor so long as they remain in charge. It places no limit upon the amount that may be spent to enable children to go to school or for medical aid or burial. It provides that the trustees can give any other aid up to $15 at his discretion, provided that when he has given relief up to $15 he shall obtain the approval of the county commissioners before giving more." The law also provides that each township trustee shall send to the state board duplicates for all orders for aid.

Mr. Butler, according to the quarterly, asserts that the reduction and supervision of the outdoor relief has reduced the population of the poor asylums and orphan's homes, instead of increasing it as was first contended.

"Under the present system—or lack of system," states the quarterly, returning to the Illinois situation, "of expending the public outdoor relief funds, the expense will grow steadily greater and the results will not justify the cost."

FORTUNE IS LEFT TO MAN FOR POLITENESS

For Befriending a Woman, Frank Channing is to Get $200,000.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 11.—As a result of a bit of gallantry to a woman more than three years ago, Frank L. Channing, formerly of this city, and later of Clarksboro, N. J., is to receive $200,000 as soon as he can be found. Channing is supposed to be working in a powder mill somewhere in the east and detectives are conducting an extensive search for him.

More like a moving picture than a romance of city life is the story of how the young man became heir to $200,000. His benefactor was Mrs. J. T. Elkins, of Detroit, Mich., widow of a wealthy ranch owner. She died several weeks ago in her suburban mansion, leaving an estate of $400,000. Half of the money goes to Channing, the remainder to a charitable institution in Detroit.

Mrs. Elkins was formerly a Philadelphia. She married in 1913, a few months after the accident had occurred which resulted in her bequest. She was then Miss Irene Chadley. Miss Chadley was returning to her home on a trolley car late one night. She was the only woman on the car, the remainder of the passengers consisting of half a dozen intoxicated men and young Channing. Suddenly the men became involved in an argument and a fight started. Before the conductor could interfere, the rowdies brushed up against Miss Chadley and threatened for a moment in their fury to knock her from her feet. It was then that Channing took the first step which events have proved will make him independent for life.

On the farm that his great-great-grandfather bought in 1740 or 1741, north of Manheim, Pa., and which has been held by his descendants for 175 years, Peter M. Herly has settled down for life, or until a Herny of the seventh generation shall take it.

HAL STEWART AND MASON TO DAYTON

George Biemer and his two fighters, Hal Stewart and Frankie Mason, leave this evening for Dayton, where Friday evening both the local boys will appear on a fight card. Both are running into stiff propositions. Stewart and Mason fought at Dayton several weeks ago and after cleaning their men became so popular with the fans that arrangements were started immediately to give them return fights. Mason fights Joey Nelson, of Indianapolis, and Stewart meets Willie Beecher, of New York, both fights going over the fifteen round rope.

COAST PRODUCES A RIVAL TO PING BODIE.

Ping Bodie's fence-busting exploits have been forgotten since First Baseman Louis Guisto donned Portland (Coast league) spangles. Guisto graduated last June from St. Mary's college. In Portland's first twelve games this spring he combed seven homers. One of the circuit swats was made in a Sunday morning contest and two were added in the afternoon tilt.

HIS OLDEST CHILD IS 54 AND HIS YOUNGEST IS BUT 3 YEARS

"Uncle Bob" Bates, Nation's Champion Father at 91, Gives Some Rules for Raising Children.

Whitesburg, Ky., May 11.—People in the neighborhood of Rockhouse Creek, near here, claim the acquaintance of the champion father of the country! "Uncle Bob" Bates is 91 years of age and the father of 24 children! The oldest is 54, the youngest 3.

"Uncle Bob's" descendants number well over 100. Some say there are many great-grandchildren alone, not counting the grandchildren or the great-grand-grandchildren, of whom there are at least 10.

"Uncle Bob" confesses he can't count his flock, outside his children. "Lor, man, ask me something easy!" he pleaded when the subject came up. Thirteen children still live at home. The other 11 are married and their families are scattered. "Uncle Bob" has been married twice.

At home this venerable Kentucky father is still the unquestioned master. His policies are the household's. He lives by rule and by rule he governs. Gives Rules for Raising Children.

Here are some of his rules and policies about rearing children: "It don't pay to pamper young-uns. 'Bring children up to respect you and they'll respect themselves. 'Children have got to be taught to save."

"I'm partial to girls. They stay at home. Boys get out. They got too, I reckon."

"A good wife is th' best of all. A man can't get ahead without her. My wife helps me a heap. That's th' way it ought to be."

"Don't Worry! Don't Hurry!" He Says "Uncle Bob's" children are seldom sick. When they are, he says, a dose of castor oil is medicine enough. "Uncle Bob" has not been sick a day in his life. He is 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 180 pounds. He stands straight and walks with a spring. He has the shoulders and chest of perfect build.

"Looky here, you all!" he said, as he jumped into the air and clicked his heels together twice before coming down.

He does not smoke or drink. He doesn't worry and he doesn't hurry. He loves life, but he doesn't fear death.

"Uncle Bob" and his family live in a house that is 75 years old. The house has bare floors and newspapers are pasted on the walls. But "Uncle Bob" owns most of the mountain around Rockhouse Creek. He is a bank director. He is said to be worth $100,000.

PARK DIAMONDS IN GOOD SHAPE

Superintendent Carl J. Getz, of the park board, has gone over the baseball diamonds in Weissler, Lawton and Foster parks and they are in splendid condition for the games of the shop league Saturday. The heavy storms did little damage to the grounds over the last week-end, and park workmen have fixed them up in such shape that they will be as speedy as professional diamonds by Saturday.

America, heads the list with 66,662 postolice, Germany is second, with 49,848; then follows England, with 33,738; Russia, with 18,000; France, with 13,000, and Italy and Austria, each with 9,500.

LEG AMPUTATED.

As the result of an old injury in which gangrene had set in, Cornelius Rude-macher, proprietor of a saloon at 613 Calhoun street, submitted to an operation Wednesday at St. Joseph's hospital for the amputation of his right leg just above the knee. A week ago it was amputated above the ankle. Mr. M. L. Rosenthal performed the operation. Five years ago Mr. Rude-macher bruised his leg in a bicycle accident and although he thought the injury was only a minor one gangrene recently developed.

TRAINING WITH TRACK STARS—HINTS FOR YOUNG ATHLETES ON BROAD JUMP.

M. Worthington, Boston A. A., All-American Broad Jumper.

(By Harold Johnson.) To be successful at broad jumping you must master four things. It is essential that you develop speed, get the take-off with assurance, make a good rise and use your body to advantage while in the air. You must learn to govern your speed so as to leave the take-off in good form. The take-off board not only holds the spikes well, but offers a certain amount of spring. Remember always that the jump is measured from the side of the take-off board nearest the jumping pit. One of the simplest methods in perfecting your take-off is to start with the foot from which you are to jump and run ten strides. Put a mark there, then return to the take-off and run fifteen yards, placing another mark. Try a jump. Place the foot from which you do not leap on the fifteen-stride mark, then speed up and run the ten-stride mark with the other foot. The chances are you will not arrive at the take-off on your first trial, for you will feel unnatural in the changed stride. Plug away at the two marks, however, and by shifting them either backward or forward you will soon get your bearings so in case you run past you won't miss the take-off. Confidence in your ability to hit the take-off is more than half the battle. Once you have mastered this problem learn to get good elevation. Don't skim the ground, but jump up and forward, throwing the arms and body up and outward. Just before landing throw the legs forward lest you lose distance. Guard against falling back. Make your last stride previous to the take-off a short one, as this will enable you to gather yourself together, get the jumping leg well under you and get a powerful leg drive. Practice about four times a week and apply yourself after the fashion of a sprinter.

"Uncle Bob" Bates, who is 91 years of age, father of 24 children, and worth $100,000 and the 75-year-old house in which he lives.

He has his rules and ideas about saving money, too. "Save Money, Don't Spend It." "Save money, don't spend it, is the best way," he says. "The trouble with most folks is they make money too easy. It goes easy. 'I've gone hungry to save a quarter many a time. And I ain't never been sorry.' One would expect a man who owns most of the mountains in his section and who is worth $100,000 to live in a fine house, but "Uncle Bob" prefers the old house and the bare floors. "Ain't it what I was brought up to?" he asks. "Then, I'm askin' you, why should I change?" "I wouldn't be comfortable walkin' around on carpets and drinkin' out of china cups. Folks that live like that die too quick."

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION BUILDING AT HARTFORD, CONN.

The above is a reproduction of the magnificent Young Men's Christian Association building at Hartford, Conn., a city of 115,000 population. The new part of the building shown in the background represents an expenditure of $309,000, which was raised in a nine days' campaign. The total investment is $493,000. The Hartford association has a total membership of 2,972.

CAN YOU TAKE A CENTENNIAL VISITOR?

Committee Wants to Know if You Have Rooms to Rent.

CHANGE IN REHEARSAL NOTICE.

Members of the pageant cast will kindly give attention to the following announcements:
On Saturday evening, May 13, at 8 o'clock, all "extras" for scene 4 will respond for rehearsal. At 9 o'clock, all principals of scene 4 will report for rehearsal. This is a change from the published schedule.
Also: All men holding cards marked "Continental" and who are not high school cadets, and all those who hold cards marked "Kentucky Volunteers," should report for rehearsal at 8 o'clock Friday evening, May 12.

Have you any rooms for rent to the home-comers who will be here for the Centennial?

If so, send a card or letter to the Centennial Association, Commercial Club, Fort Wayne, Ind., giving (1) your name, (2) address, (3) rate per day, and (4) any further information which will help the home-coming committee to provide accommodations for the hundreds of former citizens who will accept the invitation to "come home" for the celebration.

MY TIRED FEET ACHED FOR "TIZ"

Let your sore, swollen, aching feet spread out in a bath of "Tiz."

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pested, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "Tiz" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "Tiz" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "Tiz." It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "Tiz." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.
Get a 25 cent box of "Tiz" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire. Advertisement.

HIGH SCHOOL CADETS.

Two Companies to Participate in the Pageant.

And now the high school boys have jumped into the pageant with both feet. As soldiers representing the periods of 1812 and 1819, this latter phrase is an essential one for the requirements of the marching scenes.

Yesterday Assistant Director William Owen and Secretary Muller, of the pageant committee, witnessed the work of the high school cadets, with the result that Company A of fifty members has been cast to serve in the great production as the soldiers of 1812 who arrive on the scene under command of Gen. William Henry Harrison and save the fort from destruction at the hands of the besieging savages.

Company B of fifty members will begin rehearsals at once for their part in scene 5 when the troops evacuate the fort and return to the east.

Both of these companies, as well as those composed of the younger boys of the high school, have been doing splendid work under the instruction of Captain Byroode, and every one is glad they are willing to take up the important work in connection with the pageant at a time when their school work is extra heavy. The spirit of the boys reflects the general desire for co-operation to make this the greatest pageant in the history of the state.

Last evening's rehearsal was the most finished of all that have been held to the present time. The "extras" caught the spirit of their parts in the story, and the combined good acting of principals and "extras" shows that the next two weeks will bring the entire production of a pleasing state of finish.

CONCERNING THE TICKET SALES.

Explanation of the Manner and Place of Buying Seats.

And now the questions concerning pageant tickets are beginning to pour in. A few words of explanation may make matters clear:
The pageant will be given at Reservoir park on the evenings of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, June 6, 7 and 8. If rain should prevent the presentation of the production, then it will be given on a postponed night. It cannot be given in the daytime; it is essentially a night production. It will be given complete each night—that is, the whole story will be told in one presentation. (In this respect it differs, for example, from the Evansville pageant, which requires two evenings for its presentation.)

There are three kinds of tickets. One admits to the box seats. These are two dollars for each seat. Each box contains six seats. Many of the boxes will be reserved by pageant parties of six. Other box seats will sell in pairs or fours. These tickets can be purchased within a few days at various business houses which have expressed their pleasure in thus increasing the early seat sale. These box seat tickets are exchangeable for reservations without extra cost on and after next Monday at the ticket office in the Wolf & Dessauer store.

The second kind of ticket is the general reserved seat admission for which a price of one dollar per seat will be the price. This price applies to everyone who will occupy the great central area of the amphitheater. These tickets are not only to be purchased at the same business houses which will sell the box seat tickets, but they are already in the hands of scores of women in the churches from whom they may be purchased today. These tickets must also be taken to the ticket booth on or after May 15 to be reserved without extra cost.

"The third kind of seat is the general admission for unreserved seats at the rear of the dollar seats at fifty cents. Answering a Question.
This question has been asked: Why should parents be required to pay full price for the children?
The inquiry is a reasonable one, and the answer is quite as reasonable: The entire plan of the Centennial celebration has been to provide the greatest means to cultivate the community spirit—to make Fort Wayne people love their city more than ever before. Therefore, this great pageant has been prepared. It is a production for which every man and woman of means should be glad to pay many times the price which has been asked. In truth, every adult is being admitted to the pageant at a very low price—indeed, the price of a ticket is a children's price, and their elders are allowed to take advantage of it.

Said one parent yesterday: "I would prefer to pay several times the price of a ticket rather than have my boy miss this pageant. It is worth ten times as much to him as it is to me. It will make such an impression on his mind that he will never forget it down through the years. Indeed, it is a blessing to be able to bring this before our children and I, for one, am glad to do everything I can to show my appreciation of the great good which is to come to my boy through this pageant."

MORE LADIES AT WORK.

Church Women Boost the Sale of Tickets for the Pageant.

Still they come! Many willing workers in the churches—the women, of course—are busy selling tickets for the great Fort Wayne pageant, and all because they are glad to help to make a success of the stupendous public enterprise.

Here are the latest churches to enroll in the good work, together with the chairmen of the working committees:

- First Presbyterian—Mrs. Fred H. McCulloch, East Berry street.
- Emanuel Evangelical Lutheran—Mrs. Sutmeyer, 1205 Jones street.
- Grace Reformed—Miss Ruth Gumpfer, 1209 West Wayne street.
- Church of the Precious Blood, (Catholic)—Mrs. Strebig, 1418 Wells street.
- Trinity German Lutheran—Mrs. Koch, High and Oaklaid streets.
- Bowser Free Methodist—Mrs. S. F. Bowser, East Creighton avenue.
- Zion's Evangelical Lutheran—Mrs. Otto Scheinmann, 241 West Sutherland avenue.
- Third Presbyterian—Mrs. Clint R. Evans, 2426 Hoagland avenue.
- Church of God—Mrs. M. L. Dull, 3102 Webster street.
- Westminster Presbyterian—Mrs. John M. Evans, 823 West Washington street.

The following women of the First Evangelical church, acting under the direction of their chairman, Mrs. J. O. Coff, are doing good work:

- Mrs. Charles Carrol, H. P. Paulish, S. Eichensehr, Anna Stau, Tom Hazlett, R. Humble, Henry Gable, John Grodrian, W. H. Boucher, C. E. Howard, Fred Sellers, E. M. Osborne, J. Harrod, W. N. Roeterman, C. Stahl, Goldie Stopher, William Stahl, Emma Ohnick, N. J. Bacheelder, Edgar Stapleton, E. S. Johnson, G. P. Brouwer, B. F. Bennett, F. M. Cuthall, H. J. Bley, E. L. Mertz and O. B. Moore, and the Misses Mary Stecher and Cora Currie.

Ladies of the Synagogue.
Mrs. Ben Levy, chairman of the ladies' committee of Achduth Veshalom synagogue, announces the following members of her committee to sell tickets for the pageant: Miss Tramerman, Miss Levy, Miss Kama, Mrs. S. T. Latz, Mrs. Ralph Clark, Mrs. J. M. Rosenthal and Mrs. Louis Heilbronner.

ABOUT OUR 100,000 MILES OF SHORE LINE

Coast and Geodetic Survey Head Gives Some Little Known Facts.

Superintendent Coast and Geodetic Survey.

Washington, D. C., May 11.—To all nations whose territories touch the sea or who have any interests in the commerce of the sea, a full and complete knowledge of the coast, its nature and form, the character of the sea bottom near it, the location of reefs, shoals and other dangers to navigation, the rise and fall of the tides, the direction and strength of the currents, and the character and amount of magnetic disturbance is of the greatest practical value.

To supply this knowledge the governments of the principal maritime nations have in modern times made surveys of their coasts by the most exact methods, and it was for this purpose that the United States coast survey was organized 100 years ago.

In 1871 the scope of the survey's work was enlarged and in 1878 its designation was changed to "The Coast and Geodetic Survey."

The word "geodetic" refers to the various operations and investigations in which the curvature of the earth's surface is taken into account, instead of treating the surface as a plane as is the case in ordinary surveying.

Today the work of charting the 100,000 miles of detailed shore line and adjacent waters of the United States and its possessions is being carried on by the 10 steamers operated by the survey and by various land and shore parties.

The depths of water so determined are afterwards shown on a nautical chart in their proper relation to the shore line and to the parallels and meridians marked on the chart, with light-houses, buoys and all topographic features which may aid the mariner, indicated by symbols in their proper location.

As a basis for the determination of geographic positions to be furnished to state surveys, and to serve in the accurate location of national, state and county boundaries, and as a foundation for other government surveys and for map makers and surveyors, the latitude and longitude of a network of points over the entire country must be determined, together with the distances and directions between them. This the coast and geodetic survey does. Connected with this are star observations for latitude, longitude and azimuth, and the swinging of pendulums to measure the force of gravity. The survey has several fixed observatories.

But the engineer and surveyor is not content to know simply the latitude and longitude of a place, he needs to know its elevation above sea level as well. The precise leveling of the coast and geodetic survey extends along many of the principal railway lines of the country.

Both the navigator at sea and the surveyor ashore need to know the amount the compass north varies from the true north. For instance, in the northeastern part of Maine the magnetic needle points 22 degrees west of north, while in the northwestern part of the state of Washington it points 25 degrees east of north, a difference of 47 degrees within the limits of the United States.

Moreover, the angle between the compass and the true meridian is constantly changing. To determine the amount and rate of the error of the compass, as well as the inclination and intensity of the magnetic force, a great number of observations are made annually.

The principal publications of the survey consist of 645 different charts, covering all the coasts of the United States and its outlying insular possessions; annual tide tables for all the principal and many of the minor parts of the world, the most comprehensive volumes of this class issued by any country; coast pilots, containing sailing directions for all navigable waters along our coast; special publications in a form suitable for use by surveyors and engineers; the annual report of the superintendent on the conduct of the work; and special reports upon the various technical and scientific operations of the service.

NOTED LUTHERAN IS DEAD.

Rev. Irwin B. Ritter Succumbs to Paralysis at Allentown, Pa.

Allentown, Pa., May 11.—Rev. Irwin B. Ritter, 47, president of the Allentown conference of the Lutheran church and widely known in that denomination, died today as the result of a stroke of paralysis suffered last Sunday morning while cranking his automobile.

The Rev. Mr. Ritter's brother-in-law, the Rev. O. E. Penninger, dropped dead several years ago while cranking an automobile and his father, D. Nathaniel Ritter, was killed several months ago in an automobile accident.

SAYS COSTA RICA BIRDS NEVER FORGOT

Columbus' Men Raided Them Long Ago, Declares Roger Babson.

By Roger Babson.
Costa Rica, May 11.—Are you fond of birds? If so, you would enjoy Costa Rica. Scientists say there are 500 different kinds in Costa Rica.
There are black, white, blue and red birds, and birds of every other color. You hear parrots talking and canaries singing all the time.
There are beautiful tiny hummingbirds which dart back and forth like bullets, and great eagles fly from one mountain top to another.
Butterflies are also numerous. They are beautiful and are sold by natives to great Parisian dressmakers as suggestions for designs and colors.
Perhaps you have seen "butterfly" jewelry. The butterfly mounted therein probably came from South or Central America.

A pretty little story is told about these birds of Costa Rica. It is said the Indians were always very good to all birds and that some birds, the Indians would allow no one to harm under any circumstances. As a result, the birds were very tame.

So when Columbus and his men landed upon the shores of Costa Rica the birds came down to give them a cheerful welcome. But the Spaniards with stones and arrows killed many birds. The rest flew away and told the other birds throughout the island what wicked things had been done to them.

Of course the little birds could not tell a Spaniard from an Indian, and so they soon began to fly away whenever they saw any man.

It made the Indians feel badly to have the birds afraid of them. The Indians therefore felt very bitter toward the Spaniards for their ill-treatment of the birds. Hence the Indians determined to drive Columbus and his men away from Costa Rica. This was the beginning of the fight between the Spaniards and the natives. Finally the Spaniards won.

This experience with the birds—if the story is true—must have been a lesson to the people of Costa Rica, during these succeeding centuries, in many ways. For today Costa Rica is one of the healthiest countries in the tropics. The rich people of San Jose recognize that their children's lives can be safe only as the lives of all the children in the city are protected. Hence the streets of San Jose are kept clean and even the poorest people are taught how to keep well.

Iron Is Greatest of All Strength Builders, Says Doctor

Ordinary Nuxated Iron Will Make Delicate, Nervous, Run-down People 200 Per Cent. Stronger in Two Weeks' Time in Many Cases.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Most people foolishly seem to think they are going to get renewed health and strength from some stimulating medicine, secret nostrum or narcotic drug, said Dr. Sauer, a well known specialist who has studied widely in this country and Europe. When as a matter of fact, real and true strength can only come from the food you eat. But people often fail to get the strength out of their food because they haven't enough iron in their blood to enable it to change food into living matter. From this weakened, nervous condition they know something is wrong but they can't tell what, so they generally commence doctoring for stomach, liver or kidney trouble or symptoms of some other ailment caused by the lack of iron in the blood. This thing may go on for years, while the patient suffers untold agony. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test. See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while, double their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old form of red-ox iron, iron acetate or ferrous sulphate. These are a few cents. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated like nuxated iron. If you want it to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless. Many an athlete or prize fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance and filled his blood with iron before he went into the arena, while many another has gone down to inglorious defeat simply for the lack of iron.

NOTE.—Nuxated Iron, recommended above by Dr. Sauer, is not a patent medicine nor secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists and whose iron constituents is widely prescribed by eminent physicians everywhere. Unlike the older iron preparations, it is easily assimilated, does not irritate the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is the most potent remedy in nearly all forms of indigestion, as well as for nervous, run-down conditions. The manufacturers have such great confidence in Nuxated Iron that they offer to forfeit $100 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 60 who lacks iron and increase their strength 200 per cent or over in four weeks' time provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by Devere Drug Co., Meyer Bros. Co. and all other druggists.—Ad-vertisement.

NEARLY 300 AT BANQUET.

B. R. T. Entertainment Attracts Big Crowd.

Beneath American flags and surrounded by patriotically decorated walls at Unity hall last night, Fort Wayne Lodge, No. 136, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, and the members of the two ladies' auxiliaries, Nos. 85 and 424, enjoyed a 6 o'clock dinner and later a dance and card program which ranked among the most brilliant of the many events of a social character given in that hall. The affair was the annual blow-out of Fort Wayne lodge, No. 136, and it was conducted under the management of an entertainment committee consisting of W. E. Ferguson, chairman; Frank E. Broadwing and R. E. McNally. Supper was served at 5:30 o'clock by a committee of which Mrs. L. DeWitt was chairman, and 251 covers were laid. The excellent music for the dance program was furnished by Mrs. Deatrick and Miss Cadell.

CONDITIONS IMPROVING.

Wabash Crop Report Carries Encouraging News.

Weather conditions for farming in Indiana, Michigan and Ohio are improving and prospects for a crop in all crops, except wheat, are good, according to the weekly Wabash crop report, just received by Commercial Agent A. L. Gilbert. Wheat will yield a 50 per cent crop, many fields having been plowed and planted in other crops, but the conditions are no worse than reported last week. The oats, of which there is a large acreage, is all sown and prospects for an excellent crop are good. Soil is in splendid condition for corn planting and this work is now in progress, though retarded in places by wet weather. All pastures are in excellent shape and the hay promises a big crop.

CLEANED OUT ROBBER GANG.

Information, the news pamphlet issued by the Pennsylvania publication department, was devoted this week to an illustrated account of a fight between two desperate yeggmen and two Pennsylvania patrolmen at Rogers station, on the Green Springs branch of the system, eleven miles from Baltimore. One of the yeggmen, George Hardy, was killed and his pal, Edward Carney, was captured and one of the patrolmen was severely wounded. These yeggmen had committed many crimes in and about Baltimore and the civil authorities were unable to break up the gang. Then the Pennsylvania police department took up the hunt and the fight was the result. Patrolman Ira W. Truitt and Patrolman Mell F. Scott came across the desperadoes at Rogers station and a running light resulted. Patrolman Scott was wounded, but Patrolman Truitt escaped injury. The story as told by "Information" is thrilling and shows that the patrolmen were possessed of remarkable courage.

ASSEMBLING CARS FOR TROOPS.

The Nickel Plate sent thirty tourist cars east yesterday to be used in transporting the Thirtieth regiment from the barracks at Pittsburgh, N. Y., to the Mexican border. The regiment will commence to move next Tuesday. The Nickel Plate is also receiving a good deal of passenger business from the sugar beet workers from the east to the Michigan fields. It is expected to handle over 400 people and of the number 250 will come from Cleveland, Canton, Barberton and Akron. There will be many women and children among these people.

SUPT. O'BRIEN BADLY HURT.

J. W. O'Brien, superintendent of the L. E. & W., sustained a fracture of the bones of one of his legs and some body bruises and lacerations at B. Richards and Agent Daniel Somers, of New Castle, were scratched and bruised when the motor speeder they were riding jumped the tracks and threw them down an embankment. The accident happened a short distance out from Rushville and Supt. O'Brien was taken to the hospital at New Castle, where the broken bone was set and his other injuries attended to.

SECTION MAN INJURED.

Donald McKenzie, a young man employed as a section hand by the G. R. & I., is in the hospital at Kalamazoo in a serious condition. Last Tuesday the lumber on which he and other section men were riding was thrown from the tracks when a shovel got mixed up with the gear, and McKenzie had his back crushed so badly that he has been unable to walk since. Dr. Rossman, of Kalamazoo, is attending the injured man. The section foreman was also injured, though not severely, in the same accident.

PREPARING FOR SPRING WORK.

Some of the maintenance of way officials of the Wabash were in the city today, looking over the field with a view of getting an idea of the work that will be necessary to put the property in first-class order for the summer. Among the officials present today were W. S. Dames, superintendent of maintenance of way; J. Gillis, division engineer; J. C. Lewis, master painter, and I. Wert, foreman of carpenters; A. F. King, assistant trainmaster.

MEAT CUTTERS TO ENTERTAIN.

O. L. Marks, a boilermakers' helper, resigned his position at the Pennsylvania shops this morning, to take employment elsewhere.

E. Wilkens, formerly employed by the Ohio and Pennsylvania Coal company, took a position at the Pennsylvania boiler shop this morning.

Karl Buhlinger, machinist in Foreman F. C. Meyer's department of the Pennsylvania shops, is off duty on account of sickness.

W. A. Zimmerman, a riveter in the Bass boiler shop, had an eye badly burned yesterday by a hot scale of iron. The sight will not be permanently injured.

Nathaniel L. Bendure, an electrical worker, residing at 216 East Leith street, is quite sick at his home. Mr. Bendure is a member of the Electrical Workers' union.

The Electrical Workers held a meeting last night and took in five members and took action on the applications of nine more seeking admission.

This evening C. E. Szink will resume his duties in the night gang at the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop. He was sick a month.

Dr. F. J. Schulz, surgeon for the General Electric works, was called upon yesterday to dress a wounded finger for William Fry and a wounded hand for Fred Fenster. The finger was crushed by iron falling upon it and Mr. Fenster's hand was punctured by a file. Two employees of Wells Brothers, the contractors engaged in putting up the factory buildings on Wall street, were also attended by Dr. Schulz yesterday.

W. W. Williams, the electric welder at the Pennsylvania shops, showed up for work this morning. He was married early in the week.

The Gymnast club, composed of young lady employees at the Wayne knitting mills, met last night and had their final gymnasium workout for the season. Following the exhibition drill and entertainment at the club house Friday night, the club will suspend active physical work until fall.

C. F. Horstmann resigned a position in the Pennsylvania machine shop this morning and took employment with the City Trucking company. Others who resigned positions in that shop this morning were F. M. Ankeny and George Gile.

After a few days off duty on account of an automobile accident, on State street, in which his sister was injured, W. Kallenbeck reported for work at the Pennsylvania tin shop this morning.

Accompanied by cigars and the information that he was the papa of one of the prettiest baby girls in the world, Machinist A. J. Steinbacher appeared at the Pennsylvania shops and resumed work this morning. The little one is the first child in the family.

No Lack of Candidates for Advisory Member of Relief Department.

Bulletins were issued this morning, announcing the names of the candidates for advisory committee of electoral division No. 7, Pennsylvania Voluntary Relief association, which covers the Grand Rapids and Indiana road. Arthur L. Beers, the present member, seeks re-election and new candidates are Winton J. Bennett, a conductor, and Frank M. Dolan, an extra agent. The last two named reside in Fort Wayne and Mr. Beers, who is a stock clerk, resides in Grand Rapids. The election is to take place Monday, May 22.

EXHIBITION DRILL.

Gymnast Club Will Give Entertainment Friday Night.

The Gymnast club, composed of ladies employed at the Wayne Knitting mills, will give an exhibition drill and one act comedy at the club house at the works tomorrow night, which will end the gymnasium work for the season. This feature at the Knitting mills has been of great physical benefit to those who have taken part in it and also entertainment to others who have witnessed the performance from time to time. Friday night the club will give the following program:

- Music—Mrs. Stella Link, piano; Oliver Schroeder, trap drummer.
- Drill—Gymnast club, (a) march; (b) free hand drill; (c) jubilee schottische.
- Whistling—Miss Martha Pierce.
- Indian club drill—Miss Ruth E. Melin.
- Russian Cossack—Members Gymnast club.

The one-act comedy to be presented is entitled "Mrs. Piddling's Nieces" or "Domestic Accomplishments," with the following cast of characters:

- Mrs. Manhatta Carrie Schroeder

Wabash Crop Report Carries Encouraging News.

Weather conditions for farming in Indiana, Michigan and Ohio are improving and prospects for a crop in all crops, except wheat, are good, according to the weekly Wabash crop report, just received by Commercial Agent A. L. Gilbert. Wheat will yield a 50 per cent crop, many fields having been plowed and planted in other crops, but the conditions are no worse than reported last week. The oats, of which there is a large acreage, is all sown and prospects for an excellent crop are good. Soil is in splendid condition for corn planting and this work is now in progress, though retarded in places by wet weather. All pastures are in excellent shape and the hay promises a big crop.

SECTION MAN INJURED.

Donald McKenzie, a young man employed as a section hand by the G. R. & I., is in the hospital at Kalamazoo in a serious condition. Last Tuesday the lumber on which he and other section men were riding was thrown from the tracks when a shovel got mixed up with the gear, and McKenzie had his back crushed so badly that he has been unable to walk since. Dr. Rossman, of Kalamazoo, is attending the injured man. The section foreman was also injured, though not severely, in the same accident.

URGES SUBWAY AT SHERMAN STREET

Board Presents Matter to Engineers of the New York Central.

The presence at the city hall of L. B. Holt, assistant engineer of the New York Central lines, and W. H. Haley, resident engineer at Toledo for the same company, gave the board of works an opportunity, Thursday afternoon, to urge upon the railroad men the city's desire to construct a temporary subway at Sherman street and the Lake Shore tracks in Fort Wayne. The board is anxious to get an opening of the street across the tracks and a subway is favored. Messrs. Holt and Haley, in company with James B. Chize, Fort Wayne agent for the New York Central lines, called on the board to ask for the abandonment of an old drive across the company's yards on the north side and the opening of a new thoroughfare that shall be an extension of Elizabeth street. The company wishes to put its new roundhouse where the old drive cuts through the shop and roundhouse grounds. This drive was never established as a thoroughfare, but the city has had possession of it for almost half a century.

HOME FOLKS HAVE FIRST CALL.

Board of Works Do Not Think Well of Cleveland Men's Garbage Plan.

If the disposal of Fort Wayne's garbage is to be contracted to private concerns, Fort Wayne concerns that submit proposals will be given first call by the board of works. The board does not think much of the formal proposal submitted by J. H. Johnson and H. A. Brothers, the Cleveland men, who want to take over the garbage, the city to pay them 30 cents a ton to dispose of it. The Cleveland men want undrained and unwrapped garbage, which the board figures would so vastly increase the tonnage as to more than wipe out any gain there might be from the fact that the city would have only to collect the waste. It is held by the board that the proposition, as it stands, would not effect any distinct economy over burning the garbage in a municipal incinerator, especially since the contract with the DeCarie company provides that the cost of burning shall not exceed 50 cents a ton. Fort Wayne interests that are figuring on a disposal contract have stated that they will accept garbage that is drained and wrapped, a condition that the board will probably insist upon if a contract should be made.

BOARD OF WORKS PROGRAM.

The board of works, Thursday evening, will have up for confirmation a resolution to vacate old Canal street, from Monroe street to Clay street. This never had legal status as a thoroughfare, but the vacation will be made to clear the title to property that recently changed hands. The board will have up for consideration declaratory resolutions for opening Oberger avenue, from Piqua avenue to the first alley west and for the opening of Meridian street, from Hoffman street to the first alley north.

FIVE MEN AUTHORIZED TO END CAR STRIKE

Officials is Held Thursday Afternoon.

Settlement of the strike of the street car men that has been on since September 27 of last year is believed to be a matter of a very few hours as a result of a conference which started at 2:30 o'clock, Thursday afternoon, between officials of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company and a committee of five appointed at a meeting Thursday morning representing the labor interests of the city. The conference was in progress at the time of going to press.

Representatives of the various labor interests at a meeting Thursday morning the following committee was appointed to confer with traction officials: Joseph D. Shaw, A. C. Boerger, John C. Werkman, Julian J. Perrey and Frank E. Schwanz. This committee has been given complete authority by the Federation of Labor and the local union of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees to act as it sees fit. It can abandon the strike, compromise or enter into any sort of an agreement, the carmen having agreed to abide by whatever it does. The conference will have the traction officials will determine what future action is to be taken, but those familiar with the situation are of the opinion that a settlement of the differences is close at hand.

SPEED RULES IN FOG CALLED INDEFINITE

Commission Returns Finding on Wreck Which
Cost Lives of 27.

Washington, May 11.—The wreck on the New York Central lines near Cleveland, O., March 22, in which twenty-seven persons were killed and forty-seven injured, was due, the interstate commerce commission held today, to the failure of Engineer Hess to see the signals or to read them properly on account of the dense fog in which his train was running. "The record of this accident," the report states, "together with a careful consideration of a record of accidents where in employees have failed to obey fixed signal indications since July 12, 1911, brings forcibly to mind the fact that the rules relative to speed permitted during foggy weather are in many instances indefinite and vague."

SPEAKERS ANNOUNCED FOR NEXT SUNDAY

Y. M. C. A. Field Day Exercises Will Be Held in Many Churches.

Twenty speakers from distant cities, many of them of national reputation, will participate in the Young Men's Christian Association field day exercises to be held Sunday in the churches of the city. Among the speakers will be men prominent in the business world, attorneys, politicians, educators—all of them vitally interested in promoting the work of the Young Men's Christian Association.

The list of speakers is as follows: C. O. Holmes, president of the South Side Trust & Savings company, Gary; Mayor James O. Batchelor, Marion; Dr. J. R. Morgan, president of Johnson Abstract company, Kokomo; Samuel Pettengill, attorney, South Bend; Judge James A. Collins, of the Marion county criminal court, Indianapolis; Arthur Desmar, superintendent of the Lajoye schools; John C. Haswell, of the malleable iron works, Dayton; Warren R. Vorhis, attorney, Kokomo; E. B. Vawter, of the waterworks company, Kokomo; Ralph E. Richmann, deputy state fire marshal, Indianapolis; Edgar Webb, Indianapolis; E. E. Stacy, state secretary of Y. M. C. A.; A. W. Hanson, assistant state secretary; Dean Trowbridge, Michigan City; L. R. Potts, Huntington; Hervey S. McGowan, well known author, Dallas, Tex.; E. L. Mogge, campaign director. The assignments will be announced Friday.

DECATUR LINE MAY BE EXTENDED SOUTH

Petition is Filed Asking
Public Service Commission to Approve Sale.

That the Decatur line may be extended southward may be the result of the recent sale of the property to a new corporation financed by Henry C. Paul. Through Attorneys Vesey & Vesey a petition was filed with the Indiana public service commission, Wednesday, in which it is asked to approve the purchase of the road. James Haberly is president of the new company, Dr. M. Vesey, secretary, and Dr. Gaylord M. Leslie, treasurer.

Officials of the new company contend that in order to make the road realize much on the investment it will have to be extended. The line is only twenty-two miles long and the only two towns connected are Fort Wayne and Decatur. According to the report received by General Manager Sam W. Greenland, of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company from James J. Brennan, superintendent of transportation, on the trainmen's examination, the general average was 99 per cent.

Extra cars will be run to Robison park next Sunday. Members of Fort Wayne commandery, No. 4, Knights Templar, went to Indianapolis to attend the state commandery meeting Wednesday in a special car provided by the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company.

GREAT GAINS FOR W. C. T. U.

which were donated by a Calhoun street florist, were the subject of much comment. Some of the work which attracted a great deal of attention was the posters which were displayed by the New Haven Union. This union held a contest for school children last Tuesday and awarded prizes for the three best posters. A large map of Indiana, with all the county lines drawn in white on a piece of black cloth, was one of the winners. The counties which are now dry territory were colored white, while those which still retained the saloons were in black.

The evening session will convene at 7:45 o'clock and the feature of the program will be the practical demonstration of the thirty-seven departments of the Frances Willard Union of this city. Mrs. W. J. McCarthy, of Fort Wayne, will sing the W. C. T. U. song, "Victory." A large attendance is anticipated and the Associated Christian Workers will attend in a body.

The conference will again convene Friday morning at 10 o'clock. A franchise banquet under the direction of Mrs. W. J. Maxwell, superintendent of franchise work in Allen county, will be given at the Y. W. C. A. Friday evening at 6 o'clock. Miss Elizabeth Saylor, president of the Franchise League of Fort Wayne, will preside as toastmistress. Those who will give toasts are Mesdames Martha Ridenour, Olaf Guldin, Ella Kraft and Florence Richards, president of the Ohio W. C. T. U. The main speaker will be Mrs. Culla J. Vaynhir, of the Indiana W. C. T. U. The annual session closes Friday evening.

The Ladies' Division. Campaign Director Mogge met with the ladies' division for the big campaign, Wednesday afternoon, and discussed at length the part that is to be taken by the women. Mrs. George P. Evans is general of the division and Mrs. J. S. House lieutenant general. The division will consist of fifty ladies, divided into five teams of ten workers, captioned as follows: Co. 21, Mrs. M. S. Wilson; Co. 22, Mrs. Clem J. Vesey; Co. 23, Mrs. Christian Metz; Co. 24, Mrs. J. R. Meriwether; Co. 25, Mrs. John P. Evans. The ladies' division will be fully reorganized by Saturday and will take part in the campaign from May 19 to the close, on Friday, May 26.

Many Acceptances. Acceptances to the business men's dinner limited to three hundred are coming in rapidly and there is little doubt but that the number for which preparations are being made will be present. The principal speakers of the evening will be Governor Samuel M. Ralston, Frank C. Ball, of Muncie, and E. E. Stacy, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Tickets may be secured at the Commercial club or the Y. W. C. A. S. F. Bower will act as toastmaster.

The temporary headquarters of the campaign in the basement of the Y. W. C. A. building is perhaps the busiest place in the city at the present time. For the next two or three days fifty to sixty young women who have volunteered their services are assisting in the addressing of envelopes for the 12,000 pamphlets, giving in detail the Y. M. C. A. campaign, its purpose, the kind of such an organization in Fort Wayne and much other information.

J. R. Morgan, of Kokomo, who will fill one of the local pulpits Sunday morning at the field day exercises will speak at the Y. W. C. A. vesper service at 4:30 o'clock, Sunday afternoon.

A meeting of the campaign executive committee will be held at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Commercial club.

Chamberlain, Lafayette, chaplain; J. R. Fesler, Indianapolis, assistant adjutant general and quartermaster.

Mrs. Harriett Pope, Williamsport, was chosen department president of the Ladies of the G. A. R.

Mrs. Claudia Erther, Indianapolis, was re-elected president of the Auxiliary to the Sons of Veterans.

Spanish War Veterans Elect. Henry J. Draheim, of Evansville, was chosen commander of the Indiana department of the United Spanish War veterans. Other officers are: Henry C. Cron, Indianapolis, senior vice commander; Newton A. Jeffries, Crawfordsville, junior vice commander; C. W. Morrison, Terre Haute, chaplain; W. Loughly Berridge, Evansville, department inspector, and Samuel Evans, Greensburg, department guard.

The selection of the next meeting place was left to the administrative council, although Culver put in a bid for the encampment.

In a meeting late yesterday the Woman's Relief corps elected the following officers: Genevieve Frantz, South Bend, president; Mary Roberts, Evansville, senior vice president; Minnie Hevran, Elwood, junior vice president; Ida K. Snyder, South Bend, treasurer.

Mrs. L. P. Huburd, 841 Columbia avenue, left Thursday for Cleveland, O., to bring home her son Fred, who is seriously ill with articular rheumatism.

TRY DAWSON FOR CRIMINAL ASSAULT

Indictment of Serious
Character.

After spending nearly two hours in the circuit court Thursday forenoon a jury was finally secured to try the case of the state against Robert J. Dawson for criminal assault under an indictment returned by the grand jury three weeks ago. The state's chief witness is Elsie Harker, the 15-year-old daughter of Joseph Harker, of Monroeville. Dawson is a former soldier of the regular army, and styles himself a pugilist. He had been paying attention to the Harker girl, according to whose own story he had planned to elope. To this end the two stole $50 from a bureau in the girl's home, the money belonging to her father. Dawson then brought 15-year-old Ethel Taylor, of Monroeville, to Fort Wayne and the two were married. His arrest on a charge of grand larceny for stealing the money soon followed and he has been bound over to the circuit court on that charge for several weeks. The grand jury investigated his relations with the Harker girl and returned a true bill against him for criminal assault. The hearing before the jury will consume most of the day and may extend into Friday.

Wants Divorce and Alimony. Edith Burcher has begun suit in the superior court against Floyd B. Burcher for divorce, alleging cruelty and inhuman treatment, desertion and abandonment. They were married Aug. 10, 1910, and separated March 25, this year. She says he was constantly intoxicated, struck and beat her, called her vile and abusive names, and finally deserted her, refusing to give her support, forcing her to take employment for a livelihood, and told her to go to a divorce; that he no longer would live with her. The plaintiff asks for $1,000 alimony. She has procured an order to restrain the defendant from molesting her and from drawing his wages from the Brown Trucking company. Ira M. Snouffer appears for the plaintiff.

Trade Name to Be Protected. Hon. Edward O'Rourke, sitting as special judge in the superior court, in the case of the Fairfield Trucking company vs. Jesse T. Peck and the Home Telephone company, has granted a temporary injunction restraining the defendants from designating in the city telephone directory the business of the defendant Peck as the "Fairfield Alleged Trucking barn." The plaintiff alleged in his complaint that his business was suffering in profit and in repute by the use of a name similar to its own in the directory. Peck and Edward C. Fairfield, the latter of whom is the Fairfield Trucking company, were formerly in business together, Peck retiring.

Notes of the Courts. In the suit of Ernest Kaiser vs. Simon W. Sommers for an injunction to restrain the defendant from blockading a lane between the farms owned by the parties, the superior court has sustained a motion by the defendant to dissolve the temporary restraining order and the plaintiff has taken an exception.

The superior court has granted a divorce to Katherine Bauss from Conrad Bauss. The suit of Well Bros. & Co. vs. Elsie Burger to collect on a note has been set for trial June 23 in the superior court. The suit of Nick John vs. the New York, Chicago & St. Louis railroad for damages, has been dismissed from the superior court.

The circuit court has sent to Adams county for trial on a charge of venue the suit of Elizabeth and Frederick Keilerman vs. George Dager for $1,500 damages.

LUNATIC FIRES JAIL. R. W. Grasbeck, an insane man arrested Tuesday by the police and later sent over from the city court to await an inquiry into his mental condition, caused some excitement about 9 o'clock Wednesday night by setting fire to the mattress in his bed at the county jail. The blaze was extinguished by the attaches of the jail before the fire department arrived and there was no damage to speak of. The report that there was a fire at the jail caused a great deal of gathering about the building and there was much excitement for a few minutes.

WAS NOT ASSAULTED. That John Rogers, a tramp, slashed his throat and wrists with a razor in an effort to commit suicide or a purpose to arouse sympathy, and was not murderously assaulted by another tramp as he claimed, is the belief of Sheriff A. C. Gladieux and his deputies after an investigation. Rogers was found near Monroeville and told a harrowing story of having been set upon by a tramp with whom he was walking, badly cut, robbed of $10 and thrown into a pool of water. He said he had been wandering in the woods for a day or two since he was hurt. He was brought to the poor farm, where he is now receiving attention.

WILL ATTEND CHARITIES MEET. County Auditor Will Johnson and County Commissioners W. C. Schwler, A. J. Black and H. A. Wetzel will leave Friday evening for Indianapolis to attend Saturday's session of the national conference of charities and corrections. The Allen County officials desire to be present at a discussion of city and county penal farms in which W. H. Whitaker, formerly superintendent of the Jeffersonville reformatory, and now superintendent of the District of Columbia's penal farm, will present the leading address. The commissioners hope to obtain enlightenment that will be of use to them in planning Allen county's penal farm.

LICENSED TO WED. Howard F. Metcalf, teamster, and Virginia M. Stewart. Paul W. Hitzemann, bookkeeper, and Hannah Wambagans. Robert A. Fritz, farmer, and Esther E. Nitzsche.

AWFUL PLUNGE INTO POTOMAC

of Cleveland, Ohio, bruised and badly shaken up, were taken to the Alexandria hospital. The third rescued man received only slight bruises. The two missing men are Louis Krant, a mechanic from the Newport News aviation camp, and Charles Good, of Ohio, a student aviator from the camp. The machine left the Washington navy yard about 7 o'clock this morning for the flight to the Atlantic coast; a nautical station at Newport News. When about a mile from Mount Vernon, opposite Bryan's Point, one of the propellers, which had worked loose, was thrown off its axle and the machine plunged into the river.

The navy tug Triton made a thorough search of the wrecked aeroplane, but no trace of the two missing men was found. The Triton towed the wrecked machine to Wexford. The army tug Wetherill went out to search for the two missing men and a couple of private tugs joined in the hunt.

HINGES ON OBREGON. Parley Will Be Futile Unless Mexican Acts Favorably.

El Paso, Texas, May 11.—Upon General Obregon depends today the outcome of the negotiations begun between him and Generals Scott and Funston some days ago. Unless he signs the agreement entered into by him and Gen. Scott, or is prepared to make radical concessions, it appeared probable that the American representatives would indicate to Washington the uselessness of further parleys.

Mexican officers in Juarez did not believe, however, that a failure to arrive at an understanding here would mean more than a transfer to diplomatic channels. The meeting of the conference was arranged with the idea of giving Carranza's minister of war an opportunity to make his next, and what was generally believed, would be his last move. Just what move General Obregon had planned was unknown to the American representatives, although he had told them in the last conference that his government would favor a joint border patrol. This suggestion, it was expected, would be included in the written memorandum Gen. Obregon agreed to present.

Lorain high school boys have gone to the assistance of Master Mechanic Anderson, of the Baltimore & Ohio shops at that point, who has appealed for laborers to assist in car repair work. Last Saturday night high school boys worked at the shops. Twenty others will join the gang next Saturday.

41 MEN ADRIFT IN LIFEBOATS SOUGHT

San Luis Obispo, Cal., May 11.—Forty-one members of the crew of the steamship Roanoke, operated by the California South Seas Navigation company, which turned turtle and sank when its cargo shifted during a gale 100 miles south of San Francisco, Tuesday afternoon, are missing today and the Union Oil company's tanker, Lansing, is cruising in the sea searching for four of the life boats in which the ship's company took refuge when the steamer went down. The fifth boat drifted ashore at Port San Luis yesterday, carrying three famished sailors and the bodies of five of their mates who had died from exposure.

Captain Richard Dickson and his wife are believed lost, according to the tale of the disaster told from their hospital cots by the three survivors. When the ship lurched before plunging downward, Mrs. Dickson was thrown into the sea and Captain Dickson jumped overboard to rescue her. They were not seen again.

The Roanoke left San Francisco Monday with explosives for South American ports. The arrival of the life boat at Port San Luis brought the first news of the tragedy. The three men were too exhausted to relate details. They did not know how far off shore the Roanoke sank or what had become of the other four boats. The Roanoke carried no passengers.

AGED RESIDENT OF CITY PASSES AWAY

Henry F. C. Baade, Retired
Car Inspector, Dies at
Age of 82 Years.

Henry F. C. Baade, a retired car inspector of the Wabash railroad, died at 11:15 o'clock Wednesday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Fred W. Tielker, 1306 Taylor street, at the advanced age of eight-two years and four months. Death was due to infirmities of old age and followed an illness of one year, although he had been bedfast only the past two weeks.

Mr. Baade was born in Kries Minden, Germany, but came to Fort Wayne when he was sixteen years of age and had resided here ever since. After retiring as a car inspector eight years ago he became the caretaker of Concordia cemetery. He was a charter member of Trinity German Lutheran church, but recently had his membership transferred to Eumans church.

His wife preceded him in death sixteen years ago, but he is survived by one son, Henry F. Baade, of this city, one daughter, Mrs. Fred W. Tielker; two grandsons and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the late residence and at 2:30 o'clock at Trinity German Lutheran church, Rev. P. Wambagans and Rev. G. W. F. Doeg officiating. Interment at Concordia.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Brouwer.—Funeral services for George Brouwer will be held Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the residence in Madison township, Rev. Lonberry, of Jonesboro, and Rev. Ziener, of Monroeville, officiating. Interment at the I. O. O. F. cemetery at New Haven.

Keef.—Funeral services for Mrs. Catherine Keef will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Miller, 2010 South Harrison street, and at 10 o'clock at St. Aloysius Catholic church near Sheldon.

An official Turkish communication dated May 10, stated that two Turkish aeroplanes dropped bombs successfully on April 25 on the dry dock and oil tanks at Port Said.

A Cairo dispatch yesterday said eight bombs were dropped on Port Said on May 8, causing no property damage, but wounding three civilians.

The bill providing for compensation to property owners in Alsace, Lorraine and East Prussia for war damages, came before the Reichstag yesterday on first reading. Joseph Emmet, socialist member for Muelhausen Alsace, asked that reconstruction of destroyed villages be undertaken immediately, so far as may be practicable. Herr Sieher, people's party member for Gumbinnen, said:

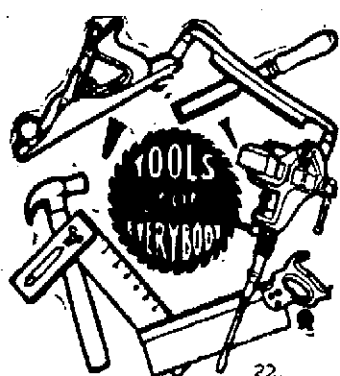

NEW UNIFORMS NEXT MONDAY. The garments have arrived and are being distributed for the change from winter to summer uniforms by the passenger men on the G. R. & I. The change will be made Monday, May 15, at which time the Pennsylvania employees who wear uniforms will also don their summer suits.

Play Will Be Repeated. The play, "Halfback Shorty," given Wednesday evening at Concordia Lutheran church school hall by members of the Walther league, will be repeated Thursday evening. The play is a college comedy full of life.

SENTINEL WANT ADS ALWAYS GET RESULTS

IN FIVE WEEKS CAN WIN AUTOMOBILE

Still Plenty of Time for New Candidates to Enter and Forge to the Front and Seal the Lively Campaign for Possession of the Four Machines Offered by "The Sentinel."

The special offer of 100,000 extra votes on a combination of $25 worth of new subscription payments closed at 9 o'clock last night. The special ballots are being made out and will be mailed to all candidates entitled to them next Saturday. The ballots may be returned and voted, if desired, or they may be held until any future time during the campaign. Candidates are advised to check up their new subscriptions and, when their ballots arrive, ascertain if the figures are correct. In case of error, notify the campaign department at once.

With a little more than five weeks in which candidates participating in the Sentinel's wonderful automobile and prize campaign may decide for themselves whether they will win one of the four cars, and with new candidates entering daily to claim the honors, present indications give no inkling of which way the wind will blow at the finish.

The coming week is expected to exceed all others in the number of new nominations received. This is accounted for by the fact that the remaining period of the campaign is about the right length for a quick, spirited race. No long-drawn-out affairs confronts those who enter now, and the ease with which new starters can amass votes places them in relatively the same position as the earlier entrants.

An announcement will be made within two or three days that will make an especially attractive appeal for both old and new candidates. Watch for it. But in the meantime, you can be getting ready for your spurt to victory by sending in your nomination today.

Though this new offer will not open for several days, candidates need not fear of losing anything by turning in their new subscriptions now. All new subscriptions will be credited on the offer, even though they are turned in before the offer starts. Four things are essential when a candidate secures a subscription to the Sentinel: The name of the subscriber, the address, the city or town, and ascertaining whether the subscriber is old or new. These four things candidates can easily observe, if ordinary precaution is taken, and are very necessary in order to enable the Sentinel to deliver the papers promptly and regularly, and also to allow the candidates to serve the proper number of votes to which she is entitled.

Assuming that a candidate is about to secure a subscription from one of her acquaintances, she no doubt knows the name of the prospect. The best way is to make sure by asking what the initials are, and how the name is spelled. Write it down on the receipt book at once; trusting to memory is apt to cause mistakes.

Then ask to what address the paper is to be delivered. This, of course, means the street and number. If it is an apartment house or hotel, do not be content with writing down the name of the establishment.

Even that isn't all. The city or town must not be forgotten. Too frequently the candidates leave that to the judgment of the campaign manager. Never send in or bring a stub with this important information omitted.

To find out whether a subscriber is new or old seems to be the difficultly some candidates encounter. As a matter of fact, it is very easy to ascertain. Every person who was receiving the Sentinel when this campaign opened is an old subscriber. It matters not whether they have since discontinued and again renewed—they are old subscribers nevertheless.

One practice has come to light of candidates to stop the paper, renewing it, and then inducing the member of some again under the name of some other member of the family at the same address. This does not make the subscription new, and it will not gain extra votes. All such switching of subscriptions will cause the candidates to forfeit her votes thereon.

Every subscription verified by the campaign department is received at the auditing department. If candidates will pay attention to these four rules they will eliminate much trouble on all sides; it will save the candidate the time of rectifying the mistake. It will give the subscribers the very best service the Sentinel can give, and it will remove a wonderful amount of detail work and bother in the campaign office.

The vote standings of contestants will appear again in Saturday's publication, the count closing Friday, 6 p. m. An excellent opening still exists for new starters to enter now and claim one of the automobiles at the end of the campaign. Many young women are doing so, and their vote credits are equally as good as the earlier candidates. Time is largely what you make it. Temporarily, and you will never gain anything. Proper hustle on your part may accomplish as much in two or three days as others could do in as many weeks. It's up to you.

The New Roosevelt--What Is the Colonel Like Now?

Gilson Gardner: Hobnobs at Oyster Bay With the Ex-President—Finds Him Fat, Fatter, Fattest and Working Harder Than Ever.

The Roosevelt of today is not the Roosevelt of the presidency—the Roosevelt America knew eight years ago. He is a different man, mentally and physically.

How has he changed?
How does he look today?
How does he think today?
How does he act today?

These are some of the questions we all want to have answered—we want to see the new Roosevelt just as though we were sitting face to face with him.

So the editor of this newspaper asked our Washington correspondent, Gilson Gardner, to go to Oyster Bay and talk to the new Teddy and set him down as he is.

Gardner, who has been a close friend of T. R. for many years, has done so; and we present here this illuminating study of Teddy as he has progressed. It is a fine contribution of contemporary political treatises.—Editor.

By Gilson Gardner.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., May 11.—The only thing that ever "got" Roosevelt was that South American trip. Keeping alive for weeks on small quantities of monkey meat and being shaken almost to death with tropical swamp fever made a difference to even his powerful physique. There were days when it was doubtful whether he would survive, and it has been a long fight to get back the vigor he had before he embarked on that unfortunate expedition. For months the fever hung on, and even last fall when I saw him at Oyster Bay I found he was still subject to mild attacks.

Now he seems quite his old self, in some things. The last meal I saw him eat reminded me of a breakfast on the Kronprinzessin Louise from London to New York in June, 1910. It was a case of "Yes, Karl, I guess I could eat another portion of that excellent steak." It was a pleasant contrast. Thick steaks, hard rides, long walks and strenuous opinions strenuously expressed are the very make-up of the man.

Physically, Roosevelt is pretty hard now. He is not as hard as he was seven years ago after the journey afoot from the terminal of the East African railway to Gondokoro (which is 1,000 miles south of Khartoum). That was a wonderful physical experience—eight months in the open, camping, marching and hunting—and its result told when T. R. stood up before that Milwaukee audience with Schrank's bullet in his chest and delivered the half-hour speech he had intended to deliver.

That bullet, by the way, is today the least of Roosevelt's troubles. The thick hard chest muscles stayed what force it had after it had gone through his coat, the spectacle case and the manuscript of his speech, and it embedded itself about two inches deep in front of a rib. To a man in Roosevelt's physical trim a wound like that is a "mere scratch."

The colonel is a little heavier than he would like to be. His fighting weight would be about 190. Nowadays he finds himself creeping up toward the 200 mark, despite the hardest kind of work. And he does work.

Exercise is just as important a part of Roosevelt's daily life as meals. When four o'clock comes, no matter what the weather or who the visitor, he is off. It may be horseback, but it is more likely to be afoot. At Sagamore his attire generally is the loose gray homespun coat and knickerbockers, heavy woolen stockings, thick-soled, hobnailed tan walking shoes, unstarched white negligee shirt with collar attached, a loose four-in-hand tie, and the old rough rider hat. And this is his attire rain or shine on the long walks and rides. If there are trees to be chopped he chops them, but there is a limit to the timber

FORT WAYNE MAN IS ELECTED PRESIDENT

O. L. Rogers Heads National Body of Penmanship Supervisors.

In recognition of the interest he has taken in the association and the splendid handling of the arrangements for the present convention, O. L. Rogers, supervisor of writing in the Fort Wayne schools, was elected president at the Thursday afternoon session of the National Association of Penmanship Supervisors. Cleveland, Ohio, was selected as the next meeting place.

Miss Cornelia Koch, of Evansville, was elected vice president, and G. G. Gulminson, of Boone, Iowa, was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

The entire morning was devoted to a visit to the Jefferson and Washington schools. Besides the election of officers, Thursday afternoon, the delegates listened to the following addresses: "The Correlation of Penmanship," Rose Rosenthal, Columbia, Mo.; "From the Primary Supervisor's Viewpoint," Miss Gail Culbertson, supervisor primary work, Fort Wayne; "Blackboard Writing," C. P. Zoner, president of Zanerian college, Columbus, Ohio, and "Bural School Supervision," Miss Lillian Noonan, supervisor St. Louis county, Duluth, Minn.

A theater party will be given for the visitors at the Majestic theater Thursday evening. The closing session will be held Friday afternoon. The program is as follows: "Penmanship and Office Efficiency," by a business man; "Training Teachers," A. S. Gregg, supervisor of writing and drawing, Loraine, Ohio; "Habit Formation," H. H. Healer, Business Journal, New York; question box

Floss Siples, 16, Doesn't Wed Greek She Ran Off to Hillsdale With.

Flossie Siples, a 16-year-old miss residing at 3211 Broadway, was intercepted at Hillsdale, Mich., by the sheriff there just in time Thursday afternoon to prevent her marriage to a Greek restaurant keeper, known in Fort Wayne as "Little George," whose true name no one appears able to find out.

Miss Siples and the Greek eloped from Fort Wayne shortly before noon, arriving in the Michigan Gretna Green at 1:50. Police Matron Fannie M. Winch and Deputy Sheriff Henry Branning, learning of the girl's departure, telephoned the sheriff at Hillsdale to prevent the marriage, if not too late.

The Hillsdale official late in the afternoon reported by telephone that he had the girl, having apprehended her just as the marriage was about to take place.

The Siples girl was taken from the Greek's Fort Wayne restaurant a day or two ago by Matron Winch and returned to her home. She is under arrest and will be returned here on a warrant. There is no charge against "Little George."

186 SIOUX INDIANS BECOME CITIZENS

Secretary Lane Has Part in Unique Ceremony at Yankton, S. D.

Washington, May 11.—The United States will gain 186 new citizens Saturday. They are Sioux Indians of Yankton, S. D.

Secretary Lane was on his way there today as the personal representative of the Great White Father—the president of the United States—to conduct the ceremonies. Incidentally he will present the Indians with patents to their allotted lands. The action will mark the first real step in Secretary Lane's policy of giving all competent Indians full control of their individual affairs, and placing them upon the same legal standing as all other American citizens. A feature of the ceremonies will be the presentation by Secretary Lane to each Indian of a leather purse, a small American flag and golden colored badge bearing the inscription, "A Citizen of the United States." He will then greet each Indian by his "white" name and the ceremonies will be ended.

GENTLE RUBBING ALWAYS HELPS VARICOSE VEINS

Says Swollen Veins are Dangerous and Ofttimes Burst Which Causes Much Suffering.

Rubbing the swollen veins nightly for about two minutes with a gentle upward stroke brings benefit to sufferers and is mighty good advice, says an authority.

After the rubbing, which should always be toward the heart, because the blood in the veins flows that way, apply Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) with brush or hand.

Try this simple home treatment for a few days and improvement will be noticed, then continue until veins are reduced to normal. It is very concentrated and penetrating and can be obtained at any modern drug store. It is so powerful that it also cures Gout and Wens. Meyer Drug Co. has Emerald Oil in the original bottle for 50 cents, and the demand is astonishing.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

by Dr. Lewis Baker

Miss O. M. asks: "I have pimples, dry skin, and suffer from constipation, headache, and never feel strong and well. Please prescribe for me."

Answer: You should overcome constipation and cleanse the system of accumulated poisons by taking three-grain sulphur tablets (not sulphur) for several weeks or more. These tablets are very beneficial, especially in hot weather, as they have a tendency to cool the blood and improve its quality.

"Poorly" writes: "Being past middle age and observing that my nervous system is in bad shape, I write for a prescription. I do not gain strength from my food, am weak, listless, forgetful, sleepless, at times, tired, and unable to act the part of a strong man of health, such as I was at one time."

Answer: Get from a well-stocked pharmacy a scaled tube of three-grain cod-liver oil tablets, which are especially made for those needing a strong, harmless, restorative tonic. Astonishing and pleasing results follow and life and hope are renewed.

"A Fat Woman" asks: "Would you please prescribe a safe reducing remedy for too much fat?"

Answer: At this season many fat people suffer greatly as you do, and to all I recommend that they reduce with five-grain arbutone tablets, the most successful and convenient prescription I know of. Druggists supply in sealed tubes, with full directions.

"John" writes: "I suffer with rheumatism all the time and I shall be very glad if you can tell me something to relieve me."

Answer: I can give you a prescription which will not only relieve, but should oblate your rheumatism. This is my favorite remedy, and from the number of letters received from people who have used it proves its value in rheumatism. The following is made by mixing well, taking a teaspoonful at meal times and again before retiring: Comp. cod-liver oil, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; syrup sarsaparilla comp., 5 oz.; iodine of potassium, 2 drams; wine of colchicum, one-half ounce; sodium salicylate, 4 drams.

Miss C. W. R. asks: "I have tried for two years to diet so as to increase my weight and improve the quality of my blood, but in vain. Please prescribe for me!"

Answer: Thin, scrawny, bloodless people need assistance in absorbing nutrition from the food eaten, and for this particular purpose I always prescribe three-grain bypoc-nucle tablets, a most effective preparation if regularly and persistently used, as it seems to increase the red and white corpuscles of the blood, thus affording health, strength and increased weight.

J. J. B. asks: "My hair is too oily and my scalp itches with dandruff, and of late it is coming out too much. What is a good treatment?"

Answer: Obtain plain yellow minyol from your druggist in 4-oz. jars and apply as per directions. This cleans, purifies, cools and invigorates the hair and scalp, thus stopping the death of the hair. Dandruff and itching are at once relieved. Men and women all over the country now use it regularly.

"Essex" writes: "What should I do to relieve a severe case of kidney and bladder disease? Urine is dark, foul of odor and passage is irregular, painful, etc. Have depressing fever, chills, pains like rheumatism, and soreness in region of bladder."

Answer: For such symptoms as yet describe I prescribe my favorite formula under the name of balmwort tablets. This is a splendidly efficacious remedy for such abnormal conditions. Begin their use as per directions on each sealed tube.

RELIGION, TEMPERANCE AND HEALTH

POOR OLD RUBE

The indefatigable S. H. Hadley told the following true story sometime before his death. Most men who come to the Mealey Mission have nothing so when they come there except a few rags. They are the most dreadful looking men you ever saw in your life. A man came there a little while ago; his name was old Rube Johnson. He worked well until he was fifty years old; then he quit work, and went to drinking whisky for a living. I never saw such a drunkard in my life. He was sent to me by Stephen Merritt. I took care of him, and he was the kind of a man that would make you think you had a bishop of the Methodist church in your house—a most venerable old hypocrite, and the biggest liar on earth. He would come in every night when we were about ready to kneel down. He was always drunk. He was one of the men that wear a linen duster in the winter, and an ulster in the summer. I never saw his match. Hair as white as snow; seventy years old. He would say "You had better not kneel down until I come." He would kneel down and would make the men and women, and keep the boys laughing. That man worried the life out of me. One night I took him by the scruff of the neck and the seat of his pants and carried him out on the sidewalk, but he was back as quick as I was. One night he came in—the hottest kind of a night—and he had on an old overcoat fastened with a nail. He never went away without having jackedled everybody there for five cents. A stranger was at the mission that night—a beautiful lady from up town. She pitied this white-haired, forlorn old man, sleeping out the coldest nights in winter, and she said, "Mr. Hadley, why don't you take that old man to his overcoat?" I said, "Go and ask him." She stepped up to him graciously, and said to him, "My dear sir, why don't you remove your overcoat?" He said, "I prefer not to." "Why?" "I am afraid it will walk off." She came back and said, "I guess I won't ask any more questions in Water street."

That man worried me for years. One night he came in very drunk, almost in delirium tremens, a common beggar of the street. I said to one of the workers, "Go and speak to that old man." He went down and took him by the arm and brought him up, and he knelt down, and, do you know, instantly all this disappeared. Here was a penitent, dying soul. We gathered around him. He cried to God for help and Jesus saved him right then and there on his knees. In all his rags, and fifth, and drunkenness. That was ten years ago, and he is now in his eightieth year, but he doesn't look as old as he did then. From that day to this he has been one of the most circumpect, conscientious, sweet Christian men I have known.

HOW DO YOU LIKE HIS COMPANIONS?

The Drunkard is not particular in his choice of companions.—From the Los Angeles Herald.

BLESSED REMEMBRANCES

Rev. J. R. Miller, D. D.

Once you were in great perplexity. You seemed hopelessly shut in. You could see nothing but danger and loss. Then in a marvelous way God led you out into a large place. In your present gloom and fear, whatever it is, remember this former deliverance. Yesterday's mercy ought to be a guarantee for today's hardness. "I will remember the years of the right hand of the Most High." Those were glorious years. They were full of sunshine. They were full of love. There were no troubles then. Everything was bright. The air was full of bird songs. The paths were strewn with flowers. All was prosperous. Now all is changed. The birds have faded. The friends are gone. Prosperity has given way to adversity.

But have you forgotten the past? Ought not the memory of the goodness of other blessed days to shine through the clouds of today and to touch them with glory? "I will remember the beautiful years that are gone, and remembering them will bring them back again." "Thank God for friends your life has known."

For every dear departed day; The blessed past is safe alone—God gives, but does not take away. He only safely keeps above. For us the treasures that we love."

Why are we so fickle in our faith and gladness? We are on the mountain top one hour and next hour we are away down in the dim valley. We have all the great and essential elements of happiness on a dark rainy day that we had on the bright day a week ago. We have God, we have hope, we have love. Why should we let a little drizzle, a gust of wind, and a flurry of sleet darken our mood and make all things seem hopeless for us? Why should our dreary day make us forget whole weeks of bright sunshine and fragrant air? Ought not the "remembrances" to save us from such gloomy feelings?—From the Beauty of Every Day.

OUR MISTAKES.

One of the experiences that is probably common to most of us is to look back over a period of five or ten years, and wonder how we could have been so foolish as to do things and say things on certain occasions which we too keenly remember. Today, as we recall the circumstances, we bitterly reproach ourselves that we could have been so fatuous and short-sighted. But probably five or ten years hence we shall look back upon these periods with much the same feeling. We are going to continue to do foolish things to the end of the chapter. By divine grace one may largely overcome sinful tendencies, but there seems to be no help for unwisdom and poor judgment and inability to adjust one's self to circumstances but the bitter discipline of experience. There is one ray of light, however, upon this course of reflection, and it is the fact that we recognize our mistakes in the past as the best sort of reason for believing that we are improving. We have got our eyes opened to some things; and though we shall probably make mistakes in the future just as in the past, they will not be the same ones. And then too we should not blame ourselves too severely for these errors. In the nature of the case there were things, when we made these mistakes that we could not know as we do now. The man who is standing on the mountain top and sees the path winding up should be charitable to the man down in the valley who is losing his way in the thickets. We need to cultivate charity for our own mistakes.—The Watchman.

Laying Up Treasures.

David Lipscomb.

Opportunities used to do good bring blessings to both parties; opportunities neglected and slighted bring curses to him who neglects them. Means used to do good bring blessings to both giver and receiver; means hoarded or used for selfish ends bring curses instead of blessings to the possessor. Let each apply these truths to himself and ask himself: What good have I done with the means and opportunities which God entrusted to my keeping? Have I faithfully used them as a trust committed to me by God to be used for the good of my fellow-men? If not, will God not hold me accountable for the misuse of those which he entrusted to my care? Better not have goods than to have them and misuse them. To hoard them is to misuse them. Mr. Carnegie said: "It is a disgrace for a man to die rich." A greater than Carnegie said: "Rich to now, ye rich, weep and howl for your miseries that are coming upon you. Your riches are corrupted, and your garments are moth-eaten. Your gold and your silver are rusted; and your rust shall be for a testimony against you, and shall eat your flesh as fire. Ye have laid up your treasure in the last days." (James 5:1-3.) Wealth unused for good will be a witness of our untrustworthiness at the last day, and the rust of earthly wealth will eat our souls as a cancer eats our flesh. It is dangerous to meet God with wealth unused for good. The possession of wealth at death means that we have buried our talent, and it will be testimony against us.

LONGING.

By Frank Hartman.

It is a common truth that in every man there is a longing for the best. His conduct may not always show this. The drunkard may seem to have no higher aspirations than the cup. But in his sober moments he longs for something better and often feels the grip of his slavery.

This longing for the best is what makes people grow. Every attainment opens new visions. There may come a time in a man's life when he will be comparatively satisfied with his outward circumstances, but to be contented with himself and with his own achievements is a calamity. "Dreadful will be the day when the world becomes contented, when a universal satisfaction spreads itself over the world. Sad will be the day to every man when he becomes absolutely contented with the life that he is living, with the thoughts that he is thinking, with the deeds that he is doing, when there is no longer beating at the doors of his soul some great desire to do something larger which he knows that he is made and meant to do because he is the child of God."

Longing is the secret of growth in every realm of life. Some men concentrate all their energy on making money. In doing this they are exposed to the temptations of the world.

Heart hunger gave us the Psalms, and those gems of devotional literature have been the meat and drink of Christians for centuries.

Longing for God is the highest expression of man's need. When the heart hungers after God, we keep in fellowship with His Spirit, we read His Word, we keep in touch with the church, and without these things the heart of man can find no abiding satisfaction.

Morals and Materialism

A matter of morals never suffers by being considered upon a lower plane. License is wrong; prohibition is right. But it is also true that prohibition pays and license costs heavily.

Forget for a moment that the preachers advocate prohibition. Dwell upon the fact that it is wanted by Big Business—and little business—by physicians, school teachers, judges of criminal courts, scientists. Think again and deeply upon the determined demand of Business for abstinence and no-license. Why do bankers, shopkeepers, grocers, large employers of labor hate alcohol and the liquor trade?

Drink doesn't pay; license doesn't pay. For the state to accept money in return for the privilege of inducing men to drink by advertising and displaying, furnishing tables, chairs, music, gambling, furnished rooms, games and the maintaining of a place for sale of liquors is a wrong and offense to every man engaged in legitimate trade.

THE CHEER OF A COMPLIMENT.

Most people work better if every now and then they are judiciously praised. Appreciation is craved by all workers. The Bible recognizes this fact, as is shown by the not infrequent references it makes to systems of reward.

NECESSITY OF HOLINESS

NOT FEELING WELL? TRY THESE AWHILE.

Don't you feel quite up to par? Try medicinal foods for a few days. If you are nervous or have a tendency to rheumatism or neuralgia, partake of raw or creamed celery every day for a week.

If your kidneys need a tonic, eat spinach once a day for 10 days. If you are bilious and have those annoying "black spots before your eyes," eat tomatoes twice a day for ten days.

Do you wonder what will "taste good today" or you feel "you do not care for a thing to eat," begin at once on a beet diet—eat them once a day for 10 days—they are fine for the appetite.

Lettuce and cucumbers have a cooling effect upon the system. Onions, garlic, leeks and chives stimulate the circulatory system and consequently increase the saliva and gastric juices. This aids digestion.

Raw onions, especially the white ones, are recommended for insomnia.

A man who has been redeemed by the blood of the Son of God should be pure. He who is an heir of life should be holy. He who is attended by celestial beings, and is soon to be translated to heaven, should be holy. Are angels my attendants? Then I should walk worthy of my companions. Am I soon to go and dwell with angels? Then I should be pure. Are these feet soon to tread the courts of heaven? Is this tongue soon to unite with beings in praising God? Are these eyes soon to look on the throne of eternal glory and the ascended Redeemer? Then these feet, and eyes, and lips should be pure and holy, and I should be dead to the world and live for heaven.—Albert Barnes.

The gate of heaven is no wider than it was seventeen hundred years ago. The law of God extends as far as it did when the apostles lived. We are bound to the same strictness and purity, to the same zeal and steadfastness which distinguished the primitive Christians. They were all men of like passions with ourselves; they had the same corrupt nature to strive against, the same temptations to resist, the same enemies to overcome. Their advantages for performing their duty were not greater than ours; on the contrary, besides all that they possessed, we have the benefit of their example and experience. God's hand is not shortened, the blood of Christ hath lost none of its virtue, his intercession is no less prevalent nor is the power of his spirit in the least impaired by time and constant exercise. So that we are entirely without excuse, if we do not both aim at and actually attain the same degree of holiness and purity with any of those that have gone before us.—Robert Walker.

A good deed is never lost. He who sows courtesy reaps friendship, and he who plants kindness gathers love; pleasure bestowed upon a grateful mind was never sterile, but generally graciously begets reward.—Basil.

Learn to say no, and it will be of more use to you than to be able to read Latin.

When we are alone we have our thoughts to watch; in family, our tempers; and in society, our tongues.—Hannah More.

A holy act strengthens the inward holiness. It is a seed of life growing into more life.—F. W. Robertson.

of his Son, or the deformation of sin will eternally continue.

One can always say: "It has been a day of pleasant bread," for even bitter morsels may be accounted for eventual pleasure. A diet for future health has a kind of passing pleasure as well as pleasure in anticipation.

How great are human limitations! How dependent we are upon God! How humble should we be! How humble Jesus is to be willing, through the Spirit, to dwell in a heart not yet so fully his as is his right!

GREATEST NEED OF CHURCH

Charles Cross says: The great need of the church in the present day is the "fire of the Lord," the power of the Holy Ghost. We shall do more good in an hour of Pentecostal baptism than in ten years of church reform, theological strife, doctrinal discussion. God has promised the fire: "I will pour out My Spirit upon all flesh." Joel 2:28. "We shall receive power." Acts 1:8. Promises never cancelled; Spirit given and never recalled. We need the fire for the same reason as Elijah, combating error and sin. If we have physical or mental work to do we require physical or mental strength and vigor; spiritual work requires spiritual power.

HE MUST WORK, BUT HOW?

Man must work—that is inevitable. He may work grudgingly, or he may work gratefully; he may work as a man, or he may work as a slave. He cannot always choose his work, but he can go about it in a cheerful, generous temper and with an unobedient heart. There is no work, no rule that he may not exalt it; there is no work so dull that he may not enliven it. But—he must work.

THINK OF THOSE WHO MAY FOLLOW IN YOUR FOOTSTEPS.—Batchelor, in N. Y. Journal.

W ITH quivering lips and flushed face a mother in a revival meeting related the touching incident:

One evening while endeavoring to keep a whist club engagement, no one being at home to stay with the three year old little one, the mother prepared her for the night, placed her in the cradle and rocked her to sleep.

The mother went to the club and was soon lost in the excitement of the game and the cut glass dish which was up as the prize. An hour or more passed so quickly and the child was forgotten until the Saint Bernard dog, which was quite watchman of the house and a playmate of the child, came bounding up against the door of the house where the card party was in progress.

By furious barking it succeeded in getting one of the players to open the door. The dog ran to the mother of the child and kept up his barking and biting at her chair. "I wonder what ails the dog," said one of the number. The owner said nothing of having left the little one alone, but excused herself by saying: "Perhaps there is someone at the house." The dog ran on before to tell his playmate that help was coming, and back again barking as if to say: "Hurry up! There is danger!" As the mother neared the house she saw flames in the house and smoke coming from the open window. The child had awakened, and, finding itself alone, called and cried for the mother. It climbed out of the cradle and in so doing knocked the lamp over. The drapery of the window caught afire, and the little one, unable to get out, called to the dog for help.

The mother arrived just in time to save the child from a horrible death. Neighbors came and the fire was extinguished. The next evening the mother held the child in her arms and crooned it to sleep, singing, "Abide with me, fast falls the even-tide."

The darkness deepens. Lord, with me abide," and repeating the words of the little one the night before, "It is so lonely here alone, Mama, please stay with me."

The incident led to the conversion of the mother, and to an entire consecration to God.

THE TOMATO AS A COMMERCIAL CROP

Since the Prejudice Regarding the Poisonous Qualities of the Tomato Has Been Overcome, This Has Become An Important Crop.

By L. C. CORBETT.

The tomato is one of the few garden vegetables of American origin holding high rank as a commercial crop which has come into general cultivation within the last century. This plant, because of its relation to the nightshade family, was for a long time held in disrepute by gardeners and people generally. For at least a century after the tomato was more or less familiar to botanists and gardeners it was very sparingly cultivated, and when grown at all was used chiefly as an ornamental plant. Its cultivation was, therefore, markedly delayed, and it was not until after the strong prejudice that the tomato was poisonous was broken down that its cultivation began to attract attention and its use became general.

The cultivation of the tomato in England and the United States came much later than it did in the countries bordering on the Mediterranean. Climatic conditions undoubtedly had much to do with this. Because of the warm climate and otherwise congenial conditions existing in the Mediterranean countries the tomato flourished there. In England, however, because of the comparatively short season and small amount of heat during the growing period, the cultivation of this plant gained slowly. Even now the cultivation of the tomato in Great Britain is chiefly confined to house and protected walls. In the United States, after the plant was once introduced and its poisonous effects were discredited, its cultivation grew rapidly.

and now we find it, among the most generally cultivated of our garden vegetables.

The exact location from which the plants first carried to Europe were secured is not definitely known, but historical evidence indicates that these plants were taken from Peru. Because of the tropical origin of the tomato it requires a long season for its growth and development, and on this account it is necessary in the Northern States, in order to secure paying crops, to resort to methods which lengthen the growing season.

Training Plants by the Use of Frames.

It is much easier for the gardener to accomplish this while the plant is small than when it is large, and because early fruits are as a rule more valuable than late ones it is of advantage to the gardener to secure his crop as early in the season as possible. The season is therefore, lengthened at the beginning rather than at the end. This is accomplished by sowing seeds in hotbeds or greenhouses several weeks in advance of the time when they could be safely planted in the open.

In the latitude of New York City it is the common practice to sow the seeds of the tomato in hotbeds about March 15, while farther south it is customary to sow them somewhat earlier, from the 10th to the 15th of February, and as the more southern latitudes are approached even earlier dates of planting are resorted to. In Florida and southern Texas plantings are made in November, so that the fruits come into the market several weeks in advance of the earliest northern-grown fruits. It is evident from what has been said that the tomato has no fixed period of growth. In fact, in climates where its growth is not interrupted by frosts it becomes a perennial plant, but in temperate regions where seasons are markedly distinct it is forced to acquire an annual habit and to be treated as an annual plant.

Since the prejudice in regard to the poisonous qualities of the fruit has been broken down and improved canning processes have come into use the tomato has become a very important commercial field and garden crop. It is a fruit which, as before stated, has no definite season. It is relished at all periods of the year in a fresh state, and is equally welcome upon the table, when properly cooked or prepared, whether it has been freshly taken from the vines or has been preserved in cans. As a result of the extensive use of the tomato it is now cultivated both as a field and as a forced crop.

East of the Mississippi River and north of the latitude of Washington, D. C. the tomato is handled as an annual, the seeds being sown in hotbeds about the middle of March. The young plants, as soon as they have developed their first true leaves, are transplanted to stand about 2 inches apart each way and are allowed to develop in these quarters until they have attained a height of from 4 to 6 inches and the leaves begin to crowd considerably.

Commercial tomato growing in the Southern States is almost exclusively confined to the production of tomatoes at a season when they can not be grown at the North except in greenhouses. On this account the commercial production of this crop is restricted to areas where there is very little, if any, freezing during the winter months. Florida and Texas lead in the production of this crop.

Where tomatoes are extensively grown for shipment to the North, convenience, care, and judgment should enter into the preparation of the product for the market. It is always advisable and usually necessary to sort and grade the fruits as they come from the field before placing them in the shipping boxes. If this work can be done in a shed located on the railway over which the fruits are to be transported, so much the better, but if it is necessary to haul the tomatoes some distance for shipment then the packing shed should be located at the most convenient and accessible point for both harvesting and shipping. The same precautions in handling the fruits should be observed at the South as at the North.

The fruits as they come from the vines should pass the scrutiny of experienced sorters and graders so that tomatoes of a certain size and degree of ripeness will reach the same shipping case. All leaky fruits should be excluded, and the stems, if any are found attached to the fruits, should be removed. Experience has shown that fruits are less likely to be broken and leaky upon arrival at their destination if all stems are removed than when this feature is neglected.

The individual fruits are wrapped in a soft brown or white tissue paper and packed in two-layer boxes or in a six-basket peach carrier. Fruits packed in this way and shipped by express are successfully carried from Miami, Fla., to New York, and from Corpus Christi, Tex., to Chicago.

For the long shipments which are necessary in order to place the Florida and Texas grown tomatoes in the markets, the fruits are picked as soon as they have reached full development and show the slightest change in color. The stage of ripeness at which fruits should be picked and shipped should be regulated by the season as well as by the demands of the market for which they are intended. During cool weather the fruit should be ripe when gathered than during the warm season. The most distant shipments should be filled from the least advanced fruits. These features would appear to be self-evident, but they are worthy of enumeration, for they are important factors in gaining the highest success.

The Meadow Lark Helps to Destroy the Alfalfa Weevil

Investigations by Experts Have Developed the Fact That Birds Are Important Factors in Checking the Increase of the Alfalfa Weevil in the Western States.

By E. R. KALMBACH.

The western meadow lark is a familiar bird of the Great Basin, and judging from early records is becoming more numerous. In this section, as time goes on. Being a resident bird year around, it is a common visitor to alfalfa fields as soon as snow leaves and is more frequently met, during April and May than later in the year. During a series of careful tests 27 of these birds were collected in April, and the weevil, which was found to comprise one-sixth of their food, was present in all but seven. One bird had taken 75 adults, another 80, and three others 51, 48, and 33, respectively. Other animal food is important, as the largest single item was caterpillars, amounting to nearly 22 per cent. Ground beetles amounted to about one-eighth of the food.

During May an increased consumption of caterpillars appears to explain a decrease in the percentage of weevils. A male bird had destroyed 81 of the weevils, another had made away with over 70 larvae and 32 adults, while a third ate 40 larvae and 10 adults, but the whole comprised only about 11 per cent of the total food. Caterpillars occurred in nearly all of the stomachs, and frequently composed the major portion of the food. Ground beetles were found in all but two stomachs.

In June the meadow lark maintained the same relation to the weevil as during the preceding month. By July the abundance of other insect food caused the meadow lark to greatly reduce the proportion of weevils taken. Grasshoppers and ground beetles were the most important of the other food items.

After weighing all of the evidence for and against the meadow lark the results are highly in favor of the bird. As a weevil destroyer the western meadow lark renders most valuable service during the early days of spring, when many breeding adults fall prey to its diligent search. Its fondness for ground beetles and caterpillars, especially cut worms, has a tendency to reduce the percentage of weevils eaten during the following months. The good it does in the destruction of caterpillars more than offsets the harm arising from the eating of ground beetles. As the latter are usually quite abundant throughout alfalfa fields, and as many are of species of doubtful economic value, the meadow lark should not be severely judged on this score. Examinations show that, at least from April to July, this bird is not a menace to grain. In the districts where the experiments were made. On the other hand, its being a resident year around makes it a valuable asset as a destroyer of hibernating insects, especially the alfalfa weevil. Without doubt, the meadow lark should receive the fullest protection.

HOW TO AID INJURED PERSONS.

The patient should be made as comfortable as possible in a safe place. He should be insured plenty of fresh air.

Do not try to do too much; keep cool.

Do not let the injured person know it, if his condition is serious.

Hot coffee or hot tea, or even hot water, is a better stimulant than whisky. In summer a glass of cold water may be best. Remember there is some shock with even the slightest injury.

If the patient vomits, turn him to one side; keep the head low.

Supply external heat if the patient is cold and clammy.

Clothing should be cut away. Do not tear or pull it off.

Do not touch an open wound with the fingers or with anything not surgically clean.

Never wash away blood clots; bind them up. Open and bleeding wounds should be covered with a piece of sterile gauze or freshly laundered linen.

KEEP THE BOY ON THE FARM.

The best way to keep the boy on the farm is to prove to him there is money in it. Put him on the job in the orchard and let him share responsibility and see the color of some real money. This will make a fruit grower of him. You will obtain an interested assistant—the boy will acquire business habits—a mutually beneficial arrangement.

THERE'S USE AND BEAUTY IN VINES

The Writer Who Said, "When in Doubt as to What to Plant, Plant Vines and Shrubs," Gave Very Sound Advice.

BY JOSEPHINE DEMARR.

Vines beautify; they are useful; they are easy to grow. They shade from the hot sun; they hide old, or obnoxious features; they encourage the birds to nest about the house; they are the drapery nature throws over and about with a lavish hand to soften and embellish.

Boston Ivy and Prairie Queen Rose.

When preparing to plant vines, be sure to spade deeply, manure heavily, and prepare the soil carefully. After perennial or hardy vines are established it is difficult to cultivate them, therefore, do all you can before planting.

There are so many beautiful vines among annuals, perennials and hardy vines that it is hard to decide, if the choice is at all restricted. If you wish to blot out an old building, cover it with vines. If you dislike the necessary fence, turn it into a thing of beauty by planting vines along its length. Let vines shade the porch and thus make it a cool and leafy retreat from the summer's sun. Curtain the shutterless south window with vines and let them grow about the home wherever possible.

The grape is one of the most useful vines. It is hardy; early in spring its leaves are ready to cast a shadow. Its blossoms are delicately fragrant and its fruit is delicious. Attention must be given it in the way of fertility, pruning and tying.

Among wild vines the trumpet-vine, Tecoma radicans, wild clematis (virginiana), and bitter-sweet are popular. In transplanting the latter from the woods, be sure that you procure one that is fertile, for some of them do not bloom. The Dutchman's pipe is another desirable wild vine, but it is not as common as those mentioned above.

The wild climbing rose has an exquisite flower; and, once started, grows shoots ten to fifteen feet high in one season.

The climbing roses are led by the comparatively new rose, the rambler, and its hybrids. However, its foliage gets shabby and spoils its beauty as a porch plant. It makes a brave show when blooming. The good old prairie queen still continues to be the standard climbing rose. All the Ayrshire roses are hardy, also the Cherokee roses. The sweet briar, Rosa Penzance, is a way a climbing rose. The wisterias take a long time to become established, but repay by the beauty and the profusion of their blooms.

The Madeira vine, Mignonea, has tuberous roots, which are not hardy, grows fast and forms a fine screen with its thick, fleshy leaves. The matrimony-vine, although its blooms are small and inconspicuous, grows quickly, throwing out long, graceful sprays that droop to the earth.

The moon-vine wants rich earth, plenty of sun and water. It makes astonishing growth in a season. However, for the best results it must be started in the house.

Those who want a curious and beautiful flower should plant the passion-flower. The hardy varieties need mulching during the winter until well established. The tender passion-flowers are extremely beautiful, but are rather shy bloomers.

The honeysuckles are desirable and popular on account of their many good qualities. They grow quickly, forming dense shade and are iron-clad as regards insects and disease. Hall's Evergreen blooms all summer, and its flowers are delightfully Jasminescent. It holds its leaves until spring almost, and therefore should not be allowed to shade windows which need the winter light.

The various clematis are all beautiful and desirable climbers. It is not generally known that if Clematis paniculata is severely cut back after flowering it will form new wood which will bear fine flowers and many of them the next season.

Ideal plants for covering brick, stone and rough surfaces are the ampelopsis and hedera helix—the true European ivy. The latter prefers a northern exposure, as the alternating thawing and freezing of late winter is

An Old Tree Trunk May Be Transformed Into a Thing of Beauty by Vines. All Sheds and Out-buildings on the Farm Should Be Screened from View by Vines.

NO WORK MORE IMPORTANT THAN SEED TESTING

By C. VROOMAN.

It is easy to test seed of all kinds, both for germination and for purity. For the germination test you need only a box that you can make in an hour. For the purity test you need only a 50-cent microscope that will enable you to count the weed seeds in a given number of clover or alfalfa seeds.

One ear of seed corn will produce about 5 bushels—if all the grains grow. If none of the grains grow—and corn is 60 cents a bushel—that dead ear is a dead loss of $3. If you catch but one bad ear in testing, you have a good day's wages—if you find the average number of bad ones you can save a week's wages in an afternoon. Still there are farmers who think testing seed is just a foolish scientific frill.

Testing takes only odd hours and it may make the difference between a big crop and a crop that does not pay for the labor of cultivation. When you have tested your seed you know that your crop will grow if conditions are right—that if you have to replant or reseed it will not be your fault.

Just before planting time, germination tests should be made of each ear. Six kernels are usually tested in making single-ear tests for germination, taking two kernels from opposite sides of the ear near the tip, two from the middle, and two from the butt. Many forms of germinating boxes are used which are satisfactory. The seed should be kept moist and at about room temperature, not above 90 degrees F. or below 50 degrees F.

A simple tester may be made as follows: Take a shallow wooden tray about 1½ inches deep inside. This tray is divided into small squares by a checkerboard lattice of twine across the top. These squares should be about 1½ inches on each side. The tray should be filled level full of loose sand, and in each square is planted the seeds to be tested from an individual ear. The sand should be well moistened when the seeds are first put in the tester, and the tester kept in a warm room. Sprinkle on enough water from day to day to keep the sand moist, and after six or seven days examine the sprouting seeds, and save for planting only those ears from which all the kernels gave strong sprouts.

If seed corn is taken care of in this way, and every ear tested for germination, the result will be the best stand it is possible to obtain under weather and soil conditions at the time of planting. Before testing germination, the farmer should examine each ear and throw out all the ears which do not look right or which have several withered or damaged kernels. He should strive to make up his seed from ears which in size and appearance seem to be normal for his variety of corn. Seed corn should be shelled by hand to avoid the risk of damage by mechanical shelling. Before shelling, the owner should pick out peculiar looking kernels and separate the seed into sizes so as to make certain that the corn drill will plant regularly.

Under ordinary circumstances, it may not be absolutely necessary to test every individual ear. If a large number of typical ears show germinating tests as high as 97 per cent, the seed in general may be considered good. Under conditions at all unusual, especially in sections where the last year's crop did not ripen normally, it will well repay a corn grower to test every ear that he intends to use for seed.

A Valuable Discovery

The Jubilee tree, which bears a heavy crop of a brownish fruit, which is delicious when fresh and when dried offers a confection very similar in taste to the Persian date, is probably the most important discovery made during the third expedition into China by the Agricultural Department's plant explorer. This tree is of particular interest to the department because it can withstand cold and drought and neglect. The section in which it is productive in China is a semi-arid belt where winter temperatures do not go much below zero Fahrenheit. This indicates that it would be of particular value to Texas, California, New Mexico, Arizona, southern Utah, and perhaps even farther north. Already, several thousand seedlings have been grown at the Plant Introduction Garden at Chico, Cal., from the specimens sent to this country, and some of these have borne desirable fruit, which confirms the expert's opinion in their belief that this tree may contribute a new fruit industry to the sections indicated.

NOVEL WAY TO WARM HOG FEED.

A resourceful Minnesota farmer reports that he has solved the problem of warming the slop-feed for his hogs. Two barrels are placed near the feeding troughs and a day's supply of feed is placed in each. The barrels are heavily banked with fresh manure from the horse barn. The heating of the pile warms the feed in the barrels, as each day's supply stands for twenty-four hours before using. Whenever necessary, the banking is hauled away and a new supply packed about the barrels.

Opinions differ as to the relative efficiency of slop-feeding and dry-feeding, but disregarding the matter of efficiency, some hog-raisers prefer slop-feeding for brood sows in winter for another reason. In winter, hogs do not drink enough water unless the water is warm or supplied at frequent intervals. By mixing water with the grain the feeder controls the amount of water consumed by his hogs.—R. C. Ashby.

BARREL-SPRAY PUMPS USEFUL.

Use your spray outfit to improve the looks of things around the farm. A few barrels of whitewash put on with a spray pump will work wonders in the appearance of old buildings, fences, etc., which you would never consider painting at all. When put on with a spray it reaches so many crevices that it does not wash off nearly so soon as when the work is done with a brush, and it is done so quickly and easily too. Even old log buildings look well when sprayed with whitewash.

IMPORTED POTATOES MUST BE FREE FROM DISEASE

The Secretary of Agriculture has authorized the granting of permits to import potatoes from Canada, subject to the new regulations, which became effective January 1st and the Canadian government has officially accepted the conditions and issued an order that potatoes offered for export to the United States must be free from injurious diseases and insect pests.

With this understanding the Canadian potatoes will be exempted from the requirement of inspection and certification before shipment, which still applies to European potatoes.

The potatoes from Canada will, however, be inspected on arrival in the United States, and entry will be refused to any shipment of potatoes badly infested with disease, even though the disease is one which may already occur in the United States, such as common scab, dry rot, powdery scab, Fusarium wilt, and black leg. A negligible percentage of these common diseases will not bar admission, as it is recognized that the shipment of potatoes absolutely free from some of them is not commercially practicable.

Under this arrangement those desiring to import potatoes from Canada must apply to the Federal Horticultural Board, at Washington, for a permit, stating in the application the name and address of the exporter, the locality where grown, the port of departure (or port of consular invoice), the proposed port of entry, and the name and address of the importer in the United States to whom the permit should be sent.

Potatoes will be inspected by the U. S. Department of Agriculture on arrival, and should it prove that Canadian shippers are not complying with the regulation of the Dominion Government, that "Potatoes offered for export to the United States must be free from injurious diseases and insect pests," the permit of the offending shipper may be revoked.

In view of the order issued by the Canadian government and since we reserve the right to refuse entry to any shipment of potatoes badly infested with disease, it is regarded as only fair that American potatoes offered for export to Canada, the entry of which is unrestricted except from the State of California, should be equally free from disease, and American shippers are urged to see to it, therefore, that only clean potatoes are offered for export.

DIVERSITY ON THE FARM PAYS.

Farm records show, and good farmers agree in general, that diversified farming is most profitable. Diversified farming means raising live stock and various kinds of crops. Diversified farming gives opportunity for crop rotation, for distribution of man and horse labor, and for the maintenance of soil fertility. All of these are essential to good farming. Crop rotation aids in maintaining crop yields and soil fertility; the distribution of labor reduces the cost of operation; the maintenance of soil fertility is the basis of all successful agriculture.

HELPFUL HINTS.

Don't let your pig get too full when you are milking a young cow. Don't crack the seat of your stool on the cow's back if her tail goes in your eye. Don't strap a heifer if you can help it. She is generally restive because the milking hurts her. Don't fodder the cows until the milking is finished, or you will have a lot of dust in the milk.

QUANTITY OF SEED TO SOW.

The quantity of spring wheat seed sown varies with the amount of moisture present in the soil, the size of the kernel of the variety used, the condition of the seed bed, and the date of seeding. Under ordinary conditions, 4 pecks to the acre is best. In the eastern part of the area, where rainfall is high and the soil heavy, rich, warm, and well drained, 5 to 6 pecks give better results. In the drier soils of the western portions, 2 pecks to the acre are sufficient. Where durum wheat is sown, as a rule the seeding is 1 peck heavier than common wheat under the same conditions.

Gooseberries may be grown very successfully in the northern parts of Wisconsin and Minnesota, if hardy varieties are selected.

That the United States harvested more than a billion bushels of grain last year should be cause for rejoicing to the dairymen who do not produce grain.

REASONS FOR KEEPING SHEEP.

As time passes and our soils are changing, and seed pests multiply, new reasons are found why sheep should be kept on the farm wherever it is possible. Prof. Thomas Shaw, an expert on the subject of stockman, refers to these things when writing: When weeds are young and sappy the sheep are, in a sense, insatiable devourers of the same. There are but few kinds of weeds that they will not trim down and consume into good mutton if they have access to the same at a comparatively early stage in the growth of the weeds.

Concrete foundations extending two and a half feet below the ground and two feet above, will make buildings rat proof.

Red raspberries should not be given fertilizers or manures containing much nitrogen.

No better feed in the world for the chicks than nice plump oats and wheat.

SOWING OATS.

Oats should be sown as early in the spring as it is possible to make a good seed bed. The exact date, of course, varies with the season and with the locality. This does not mean that the preparation of the land should be neglected in order to sow early. Better yields will be produced from seed sown in a good seed bed than from seed sown a few days earlier in ground too cold and wet for the seed to germinate.

CABBAGE FOR POULTRY.

All the green stuff they get you will have to furnish them. Cabbage is one of the most easily provided foods in this line. You can, if you are handy, make a little place for growing cabbages, and these are fine for regular sprouting racks, but they are not necessary if you once have one you can rig up a rack that will grow any purpose.

ESTIMATED MILK YIELD.

The average yield of milk per cow for the year is estimated, for the North Atlantic States 534 gallons; South Atlantic States 463 gallons; North Central States 560 gallons; South Central States 431 gallons; and the far Western States 615 gallons. At an average price of 20 cents per gallon, the year's production of milk is valued at about $2,320,000,000 to producers.

HONEY VINEGAR.

Vinegar made from honey has an exceptionally fine flavor and is not expensive. A small amount of honey furnishes a large amount of vinegar. Follow these directions: Dissolve thoroughly in two gallons of warm, soft water one quart jar of extracted honey. Give it air and keep it in a warm place where it will ferment and make excellent vinegar.

PREVENT THIS LOSS.

The annual loss of fertilizing materials is enormous in this country through careless handling of manure. This loss can be easily prevented in a large measure by proper methods of handling. While many farmers are getting the most from the manure produced on their farms, yet many could well exemplify the European farmer in this matter, who saves carefully and utilizes every pound of manure available.

TRIMMING OLD SHRUBS.

All the shrubs need to be cut back or trimmed out before the sap begins to run. The old, dead stems of the spiraea and deutzias must be cut out; and the hydrangeas, altheas, ribes, weigelas, and syringas should be cut back. If any of the last named are overgrown bushes, cut them down almost to a stalk, in order to give them a new start.

TRIAL SHOWS TWO OTHERS RIGHT ROAD

Husband and Sister Take Tanlac When Fort Wayne Woman Gains Relief.

"I can't praise Tanlac enough," said Mrs. Mary Gaby, 60 years old, wife of George C. Gaby, janitor at the St. James apartments a few days ago.

Through her use of Tanlac Mrs. Gaby, who is a very well known Fort Wayne woman, not only gained big benefits herself, but paved the way for the relief of two other persons as well. Mrs. Gaby's husband, George C. Gaby, and a sister of Mrs. Gaby, convinced now that Tanlac is what it is claimed to be, both in "My trouble dates back for six years," Mrs. Gaby said, speaking of her case, "I had stomach trouble in the form of indigestion. The last few months it has been extremely severe. Everything I ate caused pain. Accumulations of gas formed on my stomach. I bloated easily and had severe pains in the pit of my stomach. Headaches bothered me and I was subject to dizzy spells. I was very nervous and slept very poorly. I'd awaken in the morning as tired as when I went to bed."

"After taking Tanlac only a few days the pains gradually began to disappear. The bloating is entirely gone now and I do not have the severe pains in my stomach any more. I am able to eat anything I care for without bad after effects. The nervousness also is practically gone now and I sleep well at night. In the mornings I get up feeling rested and refreshed."

"I had about given up hope of finding anything that would correct my trouble and so it is not unusual that I consider Tanlac's work really wonderful."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, loss of appetite and the like and is a fine spring tonic, purifying the blood and strengthening the entire system.

Tanlac is now being introduced in Fort Wayne at the Wayne and Calhoun streets store of the Meyer Drug Co., where the Tanlac Man is explaining the new remedy. It also may be obtained at the other Meyer stores, Calhoun and Columbia, 1420 Calhoun and Broadway and Taylor.—Advertisement.

TO AWARD PRIZES MONDAY AFTERNOON

Edward Averill First in Contest of Clean-Up Compositions.

Prizes in the backyard composition contest among pupils of the grades in the public schools will be distributed at the offices of the city health department in the city hall next Monday afternoon. Mrs. Josephine L. Nesbitt, who offered $5 to be divided among the writers of the seven best essays on the subject, "Why Clean Up and Beautify?" requests that all these pupils who submitted compositions for the contest meet her at 4 o'clock at that place.

The first prize was awarded to Edward Averill, an 11-year-old pupil of the 7B grade in the Jefferson school, who submitted an excellently prepared discussion of the subject. The winner of first honors in the contest is a son of Rev. Edward W. Averill, rector of Trinity Episcopal church.

The winners of the six other prizes were as follows:

Second—George Massey, 5-A grade, South Wayne school.

Third—William O. Master, 6-A grade, Washington school.

Fourth—Frank J. Travers, 212 Douglass avenue.

Fifth—Mabel Fell, 3-A, 3215 Dinnen avenue.

Sixth—Thelma E. Elliott.

Seventh—Lewis Wilson, 6-A, Lakeside Normal.

The prizes are as follows: Second, $1; third, 75 cents; fourth, 50 cents; fifth, sixth and seventh, 25 cents each.

There were submitted in all more than two hundred compositions. All of them showed grasp of the subject and taken together presented a great mass of reasons why Fort Wayne should clean up and beautify. Some of the compositions written by pupils from 8 to 10 years old were highly creditable and in not a few cases the older, as well as the younger essayists, offered original and striking arguments for domestic sanitation and beautification.

The judges of the contest were Paul C. Guild, of the Journal-Gazette; Frank C. Hamilton, of the News; and Harry M. Williams, of The Sentinel. Several days were devoted to a reading of the essays and at a meeting of the judges Wednesday night the prize-winners were selected, the merits of the compositions being the sole test.

The five women counselors-at-large in the backyards campaign held a meeting Wednesday and took up the work of selecting the judges for award of the prizes in that contest. The work was not completed and another meeting will be held this week. These judges will be charged with the duty of inspecting the yards entered in the contest and scoring them.

CLOSING BOOK OF RULES SCHOOL

The examinations of trainmen, engineers, signalmen, telegraph operators and others in any way connected with the movement of trains over the Southern division of the G. R. & L., which have been in progress for some time, will end tomorrow with a class called for 9 o'clock Sunday morning in the committee room of the Pennsylvania passenger station. About 350 men will have passed the examinations when the class closes Sunday morning.

MANY EASTER BELLS SILENT THIS YEAR

War Stilled Chimes in 300 Belfries in France and Belgium.

Paris, April 30.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—No Easter bells were heard this year from three hundred or more cathedral and church belfries in regions of France and Belgium, where bells and chimes have been in great honor since the 15th century.

The "Bourdon," the great eleven and a half ton bell of the Rheims cathedral, was silent last year, as well as the big bells of Albert, Soissons and Senlis and the lesser bells and chimes of two hundred more churches. The cathedral of Verdun joined them this year with several score of belfries in the zone of the French armies that have succumbed during the second year of war. How many more have been silenced in the zone of the German armies in France and Belgium is unknown here; it is known, however, that in preparation for the battle of Verdun, the Germans demolished every steeple, spire or tower that might have served as bearings for the French artillery in that region.

The invaded regions of France may be properly termed the paradise of bells. There were no less than 40 fine ancient specimens of the most renowned founders' work in the canton of Rethel, in the department of the Ardennes, alone. In the same department, the canton of Asfeld had 38 and the canton of Chateau-Porcien 37. Other rare specimens were scattered all over French Flanders, Artois and the departments of the Nord and the Aisne.

The most skillful bell founders were born and trained in the north of France, including the celebrated Cavillier family whose founder, Robert, established himself at Novon, where he cast the great bell of that town in 1610. There has been no news from this masterpiece for more than eighteen months, nor of those of Laon, cast by his son Philippe, probably still intact.

Nearly all the ancient bells of the departments of the Aisne and the Somme were cast by the Cavilliers, while those of Champagne and Lorraine, of lesser importance but in many cases of equal workmanship, were mostly the work of itinerant bell founders who set out each spring to exercise their art. They dug ditches beside churches in which to do the casting and the operation was the occasion of interesting and picturesque ceremonies during which the faithful sang the Te Deum.

Not all the old bell masterpieces that swung in belfries now collapsed were damaged or destroyed. Some were cracked, some melted in conflagrations while others had semi-miraculous escapes like a celebrated carved bell in the little chapel of Reuve. The building was leveled by shell fire but the bell landed at the bottom of the belfry without even a scratch.

A bell that was famous in Belgium and that will never toll again was that of Ramscapelle, melted in the fire that destroyed the church and now lying in a shapeless mass beside the entrance. The bells of Louvain are all said to have melted also. As for those of Peruyse, Lou, Elverdinghe, Reninghe and Ypres, asphyxiating gas that permeated the ruins where they lie has covered them with a yellow coating.

The chimes of Alost, also lost, had the honor of being the oldest in existence before the war, dating from 1487. The chimes of Mecklin that inspired some celebrated lines of Victor Hugo and the most famous in Belgium after those of Bruges, are said to exist no more.
